C. A. Machon's new billiard parlors on B street opened Saturday evening with an exhibition of fancy work by a professional pool player. The new place is nicely fitted up and is a cozy resort. The location is one of the best in town, and as Mr. Machon thoroughly understands the business of catering to the public, he will have a good trade.

The court has disposed of all the criminal cases except the trial of Nevy Hatcher in whose case the jury disagreed, and who will be tried again later in the month.

There are quite a large number of civil cases to be heard that will likely hold the court for two or three more weeks.

Glen Shores who was indicted by the grand jury for a little gun-play that he pulled off a couple of weeks ago was acquitted last week by the jury from the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Mrs. Ruby (Simpson) Nosler who swore falsely in the Bandon Recorder court and was convicted of perjury, was sentenced last week to serve from three to ten years in the penitentiary, but was paroled during good behavior.

Carl Enslee, who was to be sentenced yesterday for contributing to the delinquency of a minor had his sentence postponed until the 21st of the month.

Sam Logan, one of the Austrians convicted of forgery, was sentenced yesterday to serve from 2 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

He Fell Off

At Fish, of the Fat Elk neighborhood, was in town Friday noon and had Dr. Culin fix him up again.

He had been thrown from a horse while trying to carry a sack of barley with him, and not being as skilled in such performances as some of the movie actors, he came out with a skinned nose and a badly bruised right arm.

Cooking Demonstration

The members of the Women's Study Club desire to call the attention of the women of Coquille to the free public demonstration of domestic science to be held here May 17 and 18.

H. O. Anderson has kindly consented to place a range in his store for the use of the demonstrator and assistants, and it is to be hoped the women will take advantage of this opportunity to get the views of a specialist on any matter pertaining to domestic science in which they are interested.

Miss Anna M. Turley of the Oregon Agricultural College will have charge of the demonstrations and will be assisted by various members of the local Study Club. Miss Turley is now at the head of the extension department of domestic Science at O. A. C. and is authoritative on such matters. She sends the following program to be followed by her but states that some slight changes may be made, if necessary, to meet conditions here.

1st day—First session

Vegetable cookery—demonstration

Food as a factor in health—lecture

2nd session

Meat substitutes—demonstration

Bread and bread making—demonstration and lecture

2nd session

Salads and salad dressings

Milk and egg cookery

The ladies are invited to come prepared with note book and pencils so they may copy the recipes demonstrated by Miss Turley or take advantage of any information which she may be able to give

The Coming Singer

In a manner most charming Miss Sofie Hammer, a dainty Norwegian girl, sang her way straight into the hearts and memory of all her hearers when she appeared last evening at the Normal auditorium before an especially large and enthusiastic audience. Displaying a remarkable control through a wide range and with feeling and expression seldom heard in recital work, Miss Hammer ran and trilled her way—very like a bird from her first to last notes.—Bellingham (Wash.) Herald, Feb. 27, 1912

Miss Sofie Hammer carolled and trilled through her program last night in a way that won the heart of every one of the audience that came to her concert in St. Patrick's hall. Completely mistress of her voice, this dainty little Norwegian sang grave songs and gay songs, classical and nursery music with the same facility. Expression was thrown into every word and was the dominant characteristic of her singing. The personality of the singer aided her in winning the audience, and enthusiastic applause greeted every number.—The World, New Westminster, B. C. Jan. 14, 1912.

Circuit Court Notes

The court has disposed of all the criminal cases except the trial of Nevy Hatcher in whose case the jury disagreed, and who will be tried again later in the month.

There are quite a large number of civil cases to be heard that will likely hold the court for two or three more weeks.

Annual City Election Gives Expected Results

J. S. Lawrence, recorder; N. C. Medley, S. M. Nosler and O. C. Sanford, councilmen for two years; John Hickam, councilman for one year; Bonds, carried.

Above is the result of yesterday's city election, which passed off quietly and the results of which were known before bed-time.

Lawrence's victory was decisive, a majority for him of 74 over the combined votes of the three opposing candidates, and clearly indicating that the people know a good public servant when they have him.

The vote on councilmen for two years was no surprise, the only element of uncertainty being introduced by Mr. Medley's declaration that he would not serve if elected, as he had been nominated without his knowledge or consent and he did not want the office. This prevented many from voting for him who otherwise would have done so.

Mr. Sanford's vote was extremely flattering, as four-fifths of the voters expressed their preference for him, and Mr. Nosler also polled a big vote.

When seen this morning by the Herald, Mr. Medley still protested that he did not want the office a little bit, and he wanted the people to decide on some one for appointment in his place. So the Herald will suggest that if he continues recalcitrant the people appoint a good husky committee to go and beat him up until he will consent to serve. We believe that, like Mr. Sanford, he will consent to put aside his own inclinations and interests for the good of the city if the large vote he received is supplemented by some personal work.

The number of ballots cast was 451. Half a dozen of these were "partially defective" through failure of the voters to properly mark them. The party who was smarter than any one else and marked his ballot in ink, then folded it and blotted it quite extensively is advised to follow the custom of common people next time and mark his ballot with the pencil provided for that purpose.

The bonding proposition carried by an overwhelming vote, clearly indicating the sentiment of the community in the matter of getting our finances on a more satisfactory basis.

Including a couple of scattering votes the count in detail was as follows:

FOR RECORDER

A. T. Bolden..... 2

Lee Goodman..... 150

J. S. Lawrence..... 261

Mary A. Pierce..... 35

FOR COUNCILMEN, TWO YEARS

Lecture Saturday Evening

Rev. C. Mayne Knight, of Bandon, will lecture at the Methodist Church on Saturday evening at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Epworth League. The subject of the lecture is "Love, Courtship and Marriage." Those who have heard the lecture say that it is intensely interesting and very instructive. This lecture will be the fourth of a series given here under the auspices of the Epworth League. No admission will be charged.

Rev. Knight will also preach at the Methodist church Sunday, both morning and evening.

Mr. Wheeler to Return

Geo. Gilman is preparing to start for Southern California, this week, to return with Wm. Wheeler, who left here last year for the South to try and regain his health. Mr. Wheeler is failing and wishes to return home, but is unable to make the trip alone.

Marriage Licenses

William F. Ferbrache and Jane Smith.

Raymond B. Lowe and Flossie Nelson.

Walfrid E. Erickson and Stella Broff.

East Fork Items

W. Sibley, of Gellico, Ky., went out over the Coos Bay wagon road last week. He came in last October and returns to Hood River where he has been for a year or more; his Uncle, C. W. Veldum who has ten acres in orchard and strawberries there, is one of the men who have made some money raising fruit instead of unloading prospects at long prices.

Nick Johnson was up last week looking over fruit trees on the East Fork. He is a man who will make friends, not make the fruit inspecting business stink.

There is a big passenger travel over the Coos Bay and Roseburg wagon road.

A stranger looking over the Herald would form an opinion that Coquille ought to be a good place for a man to open a store with a stock of goods to sell instead of keep. A man who, if he could not keep his name and business in the paper any other way, would cut out one meal a day, and carry as much as a fifteen cent weekly ad. That would look more like business than having it appear that the man and the business were both wearing box overcoats.

An Aged Watch

Yesterday E. A. Beckett was relating the tale of a watch he owns that he claims is 200 years old. Before an interested audience he was telling of the old relic. "Yes Sir," Mr. Beckett concluded, "I bought that watch myself. When I bought it the man I purchased it of claimed that it was over a hundred years old at that time and I've had it over a hundred years myself." At that the gathering broke up. The question is, "How old is Beckett?"

Return With Car

Dr. Pettet, E. A. Sickie and Morris Wisler returned from down the coast last week. They went down near Gold Beach and returned with Pettet's car which he left down there last winter. They report the roads in bad condition especially between this place and Bandon.

Dr. Pettet says the drive was made without mishap. Mr. Sickie acted as ballast and Wisler as head mechanic.

The last Congress enacted more than 400 public laws.
