Shall We Celebrate?

Is Coquille going to celebrate the Fourth of July? There is a feeling in some quarters that a "dry" celebration could not be made a success against the liquid attractions of Bandon and the Bay. It might be well for the believers in aridity to get in and show that a boozeless celebration can be made a success—minus the howling.

Sheriff Johnson Returns

Sheriff Alfred Johnson returned Wednesday from San Francisco, where he was called as a witness in the Federal court in the counterfeiting case. He arrived two days too late for the trial, having been delayed on the way. He started overland and got as far as Grants Pass and then had to go on to Portland and make the rest of the journey by water, on account of washouts on the railroad.

Judge Sehlbrede Returns

Judge Sehlbrede, of Marshfield, arrived in Roseburg last evening from Newport, where he attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. Mr. Sehlbrede is well known in Roseburg and vicinity, where he lived for several years prior to locating on the coast. ### Conway Visits Coquille

Mr. Conway is president and general manager of the F. E. Conway Company, investment and real estate brokers. The Conway Co. recently erected the "Myrtle Arms," the splendid modern apartment house in Marshfield, besides several modern bungalows for different parties, selling them on the installment plan. They also make a specialty of real estate loans, bringing in outside capital which is much needed here for development purposes, and their service should be valuable here when times revive.

Liljeqvist Returns

L. A. Liljeqvist, prosecuting attorney, accompanied by his wife, returned the last of the week from 'Frisco, where he was summoned as a witness in a counterfeiting case. He left a couple of weeks ago, intending to go overland, but on account of landslides on the railroad he had to go back to Portland, after getting as far as Grants Pass, and take a boat for 'Frisco. He arrived two days too late for the trial, the same as Sheriff Johnson did.

Lil says that the Fair is great, and is certainly worth seeing. He advises a person to wait at least a month longer before taking it in, though, as all the exhibits are not set up yet—especially the art pictures from Europe.

Body Identified

The body that was washed ashore at Bandon Tuesday was identified by Dr. Sorsen, a dentist at Bandon, as that of Milton Cox. He had done some dental work for him not long ago and was able to identify He was appointed as one of the body by the teeth which he had filled. This leaves only one more victim of the wreck that hasn't been washed ashore. The remains of Milton Cox were laid at rest Wednesday at Bandon, nearly every one in the place attending the funeral. Mr. Cox was a popular young man, respected and liked by all who knew him.

Comedy-Drama at Powers.

W. A. Darling reports that it rained nine days at Powers last week, which is about a day ahead of the Coquille record for the week.

Up at Powers the river raised some, but not enough to meet the views of Atkin, the quick delivery man, so when he unhitched and went to ford the river, riding his delivery horse, he chose a route lower down than the usual fording place. When he reached midstream he found all the water he was wanted. His horse lost his footing on the rocks and fell; Atkin jumped off on the upstream side, but couldn't keep his feet and was carried under the horse by the swift current. The horse got ashore first, and when Atkins reached the bank he announced with some force that the adventure wasn't anywhere near so funny as it looked to the spectators on the railroad bridge.

Cut His Foot

Brigham Lane cut his foot open with an axe last Saturday while he was engaged in cutting wood near Fishtrap. The cut was very wide and rather deep and he lost considerable blood. It took quite a number of stitches to sew the wound up, and while it is not dangerous it will lay him up for several weeks.
