Drama that stirred a controversial Cyclone on two continents

Thomas Has No Funds

Deputy Game Warden Thomas, who returned from Curry county Friday evening for the purpose of filing a complaint against Claude Noble of Tenmile, stated yesterday that at the present time the funds to carry on the work of the deputies in this district is exhausted and what current expenses were being incurred were being paid out of his own pocket with the hope that the state would reimburse him at some future time.

Thomas has been a hard worker during his term of office, and now that he has received his reappointment and knows his position states that he is more determined than ever to bring violators of the law to justice.

In his trip to Curry county Mr. Thomas found that a party of nine hunters had been killing game on the government game preserve, but no arrests were made because the offenders learned of his presence and left the country.

Five deputies are now working in various parts of this and Curry county and arrests are expected to follow at any time, several of the most flagrant violators being under strict surveillance.—Daily Tide.

East Fork Items

Sy Stickers, Mr. Graham and son and two friends, one of whom owned the automobile, were up on the East Fork for two days last week enjoying the sport of trying to find game.

E. N. Harry and family are off on a camping trip and may take in the Exposition before their return.

Mr. Cleghorn and P. E. Drain with their families were enjoying the scenery on the East Fork Sunday.

Those who are trying to fight County Judge Watson and County Clerk Watson will find rough sledding. The County Clerk's office was and is courteous, whether it was Jim or Rob at the head, the same as with their predecessors. As County Judge, James Watson has inherited some left overs from the old county court, and don't forget that the commissioners are of the old county court, and no matter what Watson might want they are two against one. He inherited the Clark case; the Shepard cow case from road district No. 12, and probably other road districts furnished some legacies. Then, too, he inherited the county "road master" Hall-Lewis. It strikes me that that inheritance is a sort of a millstone about the neck. I have heard it said that Armstrong is the member of the county court that keeps the weight about the neck of the people. And yet I do not see how he can out-vote Dement and Watson. I voted against Armstrong at the last election, for I believed that Mr. Curtis would make a better commissioner. Armstrong was elected. This county has enough expense without the expense of a recall election to elect the same men back into office. I am willing to bet a chip against a whetstone that the assessments on the lands of the large timber holders is as large in proportion as it is on the lands of the small holders. And I make this statement regardless of fear or favor. If it were not for the chance to rob the large timber holders, the residents in the districts with large assessment rolls and small population would not vote the special taxes; the special taxes are voted for the reason only a small part of the taxes come out of the pockets of the voters, and they vote jobs for themselves at the same time. That special tax business is so rotten that it absolutely stinks. Has anyone heard of any fake road contracts being let since Watson was County Judge?

Billie 2 in his anniversary spiel said "I did not will the war" if he did not "will the war" why did he want to deny it; and when he denied it he might as well have said in so many words that he could have "willed the war." Before he is through with it he will find that this is the last time that any one man can "will a war." Was not that one picnic of a note that those Germans would try and enter the exhibit of France at the Panama Exposition wearing German flags. A man can be an American, even if he was born in Germany; but an American does not wear a German flag.

NOTES ON THE PHOTOPLAYS

Of Interest to Those Who Patronize the Movies

Through a mistake in making contracts by the Fox Film Co., or through an hallucination on the part of their agent that they could stretch the Scenic around to suit themselves, the day allotted to the Scenic on which to show the Fox Feature Pictures was also allotted to North Bend. The wires have been kept warm for a day or two with communications calculated to induce the Scenic to accept a less desirable day of the week. Finally the Scenic has consented to run the pictures on Saturday night of this week, to give time for the matter to be adjusted. The Fox Features are among the best that are produced at this time, and in the matter of popularity they perhaps have the lead on all others. They are expensive for the exhibitor, but the Scenic manager is confident that the Coquille public want the best and will enable him to continue the service.

The first installment of the great sensational serial, "The Diamond from the Sky," in which Lottie Pickford is featured, was shown last night. It bids fair to come fully up to the high recommendations it has received. There are ten chapters of the story, one being shown every Monday night at the Scenic.

As a matter of "good measure," the Scenic last night put on an extra number in the form of recitation by Woodson Maddox, of Roseburg, who has taken seven medals on elocution. His performance was highly pleasing and arrangements have been made for his appearance again next Friday evening. Be sure to come out and hear him.

The Paramount Travel pictures which are shown every Monday evening, are proving very interesting and instructive.

Tomorrow evening Jim Wilson, the 18-year-old Hercules, who has been worshipping all comers in wrestling matches in Coos and Curry, will appear at the Scenic and give an illustration of "plastic posing," as well as a "strong man act," and illustrations of exercises for physical development.

Last Friday evening Florence Turner, the former Vitagraph leading lady, was shown at the Scenic in a four-reel feature picture that was very fine. Miss Turner has been with a company in England for some years and has not been shown in any pictures here. This picture was brought from San Francisco for this one performance and was shown nowhere else in the county, as it had to be rushed back to the city to fill other bookings. It cost the Scenic manager a few dollars to see Turner again, but he was glad to be able to show her to her old admirers once more.

To illustrate the quality of the entertainment offered by the Scenic in the Fox Features, here are a few of those coming in the near future, following Betty Nansen in Anna Karenina weekly in the order named: The Girl I Left Behind Me, with Robert Edison; Kreuzer Sonata with Theda Bara and Nance O'Neil; The Thief, with Dorothy Dandely; Samson, with Wm. Farnum. And that is only a starter.

BLOWING UP THRESHING MACHINES
The Agricultural Department has prepared an alibi in case the Germans should be accused of blowing up American threshing machines. Several hundred machines actually exploded during the last threshing season. It has been found that the mixture of dust and air in the chambers of the machines are touched off by electric charges, and this can be prevented through grounding the cylinder shafts by running wires from a brush contact with the shaft to an iron rod driven in moist soil.

COMPUTING RAILROAD SWINDLES

The Interstate Commerce Commission estimates the losses caused to the Rock Island Railroad under the Reid-Morse syndicate at $20,000,000. The New Haven loot was never added up; nor has the process been applied to other big railroads of the country whose earning powers as in the case of the two above roads, were made a sort of side issue to the stock-gamblers who manipulated their affairs. But Uncle Sam is doing a good piece of work in regulating these industries—and he was none to soon. Otherwise some of their stocks would have become about as valueless as Confederate money.

Making the Most of The Home Garden

Hot liquids used in canning is best; it saves time and improves quality of pack.

BREETS

Select small beets, thinned out from the main crop. The dark red ones, as the Early Model or the Detroit Dark Red are excellent for canning. Cut off leaf blades, leaving the stem intact. Wash, drop into boiling water containing salt to taste. Cook until nearly done. Put in cold water, peel, and drop into jars until within one-half inch of top. Cover with vinegar prepared thus: use equal parts of vinegar and water; sweeten to taste; add mixed spices, removing red pepper pods and cloves; add bay leaf. Barely cover beets with hot liquid. Partially seal, place in boiler, and boil ten minutes. Tighten and store in cool, dark place. Instead of the vinegar hot water well seasoned with salt may be used but with this the beets should be boiled for at least an hour and the preliminary cooking lessened.

PEAS

It is best to grade peas as they are hulled into large, medium, and small sizes unless one is equipped with grading sieves. Can each separately. Place the peas in a square

Teachers' Institute

The Teachers' Institute came to a close last Friday afternoon with a School Board Convention. Many of the teachers pronounce this the best institute ever held in Coos county and are loud in their praises of Superintendent Baker for the fine instruction he had secured and for the excellent manner in which the whole affair was conducted.

The instruction feature is always the most important part of an institute. The talent provided for this session consisted of Professor Thomas Gentle of the State Normal, Miss Katherine Koch of Franklin high school, Portland, Charles A. Shaver of Chula Vista, Cal., and Professor Stetson of the State University. Professor Gentle had been here on two previous occasions and the teachers knew what to expect of him. He is a favorite throughout the state as an institute man and came fully up to his usual standard at the session just closed. The other instructors were all new to Coos county but this first impression has been a good one and many of the teachers have given expression to the hope that they may be brought here again.

Chas. H. Jones, editor of the Oregon Teachers' Monthly, was present most of the week to represent his excellent paper. In addition to being a publisher, Mr. Jones is a musician and frequently directs the singing at the institutes which he attends. His ability in this direction was called into requisition by Superintendent Baker and the teachers greatly appreciated his assistance.

About fifty districts of the county were represented by members of their school boards at the School Board Convention on Friday. The convention was addressed by Mr. Shaver at eleven o'clock and by Professor Gentle at one thirty. Superintendent Howard of the Coquille schools then explained the new high school tuition law and Superintendent Baker explained the new law regarding the school budget.

Teachers Entertained

Last Thursday evening the Educational League gave a reception at the Ko-Keel Klub rooms for the instructors and teachers in attendance at the Institute. After a social half hour a musical program was rendered consisting of a piano solo by Raymond Burns, a vocal solo by Earl Leslie, a selection by the institute quartette and a solo by Mrs. Gray. Each number was heartily enjoyed and all the performers were generous enough to respond. Refreshments consisting of cake and ice cream were followed by toasts to which Professor Shaver, Miss Koch and Professor Gentle responded. Superintendent Howard acting as toast master.

School Begins September 13

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Coquille schools will open on September 13. Pupils in the grades who attended school in this district last year will be enrolled on that day, also children who have never gone to school before. Pupils who have previously attended school somewhere else will be enrolled by the superintendent at his office on Friday forenoon, Sept. 10. Such pupils cannot be enrolled on Monday and if they are unable to call at the superintendent's office sometime between nine and twelve o'clock on Friday, they should not come until Tuesday, Sept. 14. They should bring with them their latest report cards from other schools.

High school students will be enrolled Friday afternoon and Saturday forenoon, Sept. 10 and 11. It is especially important that irregular students and those who are behind in some subject should enroll at this time.

The minimum age for school attendance is six years. Children who have not reached their sixth birthday cannot be enrolled. Children who have never gone to school before cannot be enrolled in the first grade later than Sept. 20.

Children who are planning to make entries at the Coos-Curry County Fair at Myrtle Point next week are requested to meet at the school building at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, Sept. 4.

TUITION OF NON-RESIDENT PUPILS

Students attending the Coquille high school from other districts will not have to pay tuition. A recent law provides that the county shall reimburse the district for the expense of educating such students. Pupils from other districts attending grades below the high school will be charged $35 per year. This is what it costs the district to furnish a year's schooling for a pupil and the board has decided that non-resident pupils should pay their due proportion of the expenses of running the school.

Eastern Star Natal Day

This is the big day with the Eastern Star, and members of the order are gathered from all over the county to take part in the Natal Day observances which are under way at the Masonic hall. This is an annual affair and is held in turn in the five towns of the county. A cup is given to the lodge sending the largest attendance. This was won last year by Marshfield.

The ladies of the local lodge have been busy in preparations for several days. A range for the cooking has been installed in the ground floor hall, and here dinner was set out at noon and a banquet will be served in the evening. The program is laid out for afternoon and evening, and will be carried out in the lodge rooms above. Preparations were made for a large crowd and a splendid time is being enjoyed.

Kern Party Returns

A party consisting of E. H. Kern and wife, Melvin Kern and wife, Clifford Kern and Miss Edna Ray, returned Saturday from a camping trip of two weeks' duration. One week was spent at the beach, two and one half miles below Bandon, and here the party had a fine time. They had plenty of clams and rock oysters and sea fish, the latter caught off the rocks. They also shot at three sea lions, which Mr. Kern warmly asserts they hit. They also went into the Sixes country and had some good fishing, landing one 21 1/4 inch rainbow trout. They found no deer. In fact, in Curry county they found most of the land forbidden to hunters, and Mr. Kern says that on the land of Ex-Representative Pierce he was not allowed to even camp along the road. Curry roads are in fine condition.
