The Revival Meetings.

The revival at the Christian church closed Wednesday night. Great crowds and intense interest prevailed throughout the meeting. Mr. Price's great gospel sermons were of interest to all and greatly strengthened the church. We hear much praise both within and without the church concerning Mr. Price's fair and loveable method of presenting the plain, simple gospel.

Much credit for the success of the meeting is due to the efforts of Mr. Claude Nosler and his chorus of singers, who did excellently in the singing. We feel that the meeting will bring forth fruit for some time to come.

Simpson Deal Closed

The Bay papers report the closing of the deal which has been pending for some time, by which the Buehner syndicate purchases a large portion of the holdings of the Simpson heirs in Coos county, including the mills and interests in manufacturing plants in the new town of North Bend and other property there, and over 22,000 acres of timber lands. The Simpsons retain the old mill and holdings in the original town of North Bend, as well as a large area of timber land, so they will probably continue to operate here. The Buehner syndicate hails from Portland, but it is hoped that they will operate their plants, rather than simply hold for the rise, and the fact that the deal was closed in San Francisco gives good ground for that hope.

East Fork Items

Do They Bite?

While Jim Laird was in town recently he was asked by a local fisherman, "Do the trout bite out your way, Jim?" "Not that I know of, I have lived out there all my life, and none have ever bit me yet," replied Jim. Whereat the fisherman relapsed into a profound silence.

Wilson Brought Back.

Ed Wilson was brought back from California by W. C. Lafer and lodged in the county jail today on a charge of non-support. He was one of the crew of the Barnacle, which was captured in 'Frisco Bay and its entire crew arrested for counterfeiting. He served a year in the Federal prison in California and upon being released was brought to this place to face another charge.

Business Growing.

C. A. Machon has had a 12-foot extension built on to the east end of his pool hall. He will install a new pool table and a billiard table and when everything is arranged he will have one of the most up-to-date places of its kind to be found in the county. With 3 pool tables and as many card tables, he expects to do his share of the business.

Another Pioneer Gone.

Mrs. Annah Crunk, wife of G. W. Crunk Sr., passed her reward Saturday morning, March 11, after a few days' illness, during which all that loving hearts could plan, or willing hands could do, was done for her comfort. She was attended by her three youngest daughters and one son, besides other relatives and friends, who will sadly miss her. The funeral service was held at the cemetery on the hill near Bancroft Sunday at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. D. Price officiating.

Mother Crunk was known and loved by many. She had a kind word and ready sympathy for all who came to her home, and not one can say she did them harm. She lived to a ripe old age and was ready for the summons from her Master when he called her to rest.

Not So Bad.

Like the report of the man's death about which we have read, the news in our esteemed contemporary of the Herald editor's breakdown last week was "greatly exaggerated," and we won't give him a scoop on an item like that any more. It is true that one side of him went on the retired list all of a sudden, but it was only a short vacation, and it was on duty again the next morning, a little the worse for wear. Chas. Walker and E. A. Folsom guided the erratic footsteps of the patient to his home, where Dr. G. Earl Low pronounced the trouble as the bursting of a small blood vessel and prescribed some medicine that we will never forgive him for not forget. The most entertaining feature of the performance was to see the concern expressed in the faces of Messrs. Walker and Folsom when the editor tried to explain that they needn't be alarmed, as he was all right, the net result of his efforts being a repetition of the first syllable of his would-be oration. The attempt to use more emphatic language only brought a succession of "Da-da-da-da," like a dogged baby. Then when he was compelled to laugh at the idiosyncrasy of his attempts at speech, they naturally thought his mind had given away. So that promenade homeward was not a success as a conversation. However, it is worth while to have something happen to you once in a while for the sake of seeing what a number of people take a kindly interest in your welfare and are ready to volunteer any help in their power. And we are convinced that there are fully as many people of that kind per capita in Coquille as any other place in the world.

Woman's Study Club.

The domestic science department of the Woman's Study Club met yesterday afternoon and commenced the chapter on Animal Foods in "Nutrition and Diet." Besides this there was a reading by Mrs. Kistner on "Meats." The lesson assigned for April 3 is the remainder of the chapter, beginning with "Food Value," on page 161.

The literary department meets next Monday, March 27. The program was given in last week's Herald.

F. C. Pursley is the agent for Ford cars in Coquille. He is offering some attractive inducements to prospective buyers.

The Haberdashery is carrying everything in furnishings, clothing and women's and children's shoes.

Saved His Knee.

Ten Robinson was down from Fish-trap Saturday walking with the aid of a cane. He informs us that he dropped a cross cut saw on his knee cap while sawing wood and that the teeth cut rather deep, making a painful wound. He came to this place to consult a doctor.

Amazing Transformation.

One may be a speckled trout in the country and a codfish in the city, according to an observer, who believes that many country boys would do well to stay at home.

"A farmer," he said, "once caught a fine speckled trout, which he decided to present to his aunt in the city. Accordingly, he wrapped it in green leaves and placed it in a basket in the body of the wagon. As he stopped for refreshment at a roadside tavern some mischievous boys took a codfish from a nearby grocery stall and substituted it for the finny beauty.

"Arriving in the city, he presented the fish to his aunt. 'What do you mean?' she cried. 'This isn't a trout; it's a codfish.'"

"Rather crestfallen, he took it back, but on the road the boys again made a substitution, and when he showed the fish to his wife it was a speckled trout. She listened to his tale with an amused smile. 'Yes,' she said finally, 'it's like you—a speckled trout in the country and a codfish in town.'—Exchange.

The Split Infinitive.

The split infinitive is the term used to designate the infinitive form of the verb that generally begins with the preposition "to," when separated by a qualifying adverb or phrase, as in the following: "To briefly designate," "to readily understand," "to suddenly and completely change front," "he knew not which to most admire," "to sweetly sing," "to humbly walk." This use is held by literary critics and grammatical purists to be highly improper, but it occurs abundantly in English literature, from the time of Shakespeare to the present day. Nearly every standard author is guilty of it, and it is very general in popular speech. The splitting of the infinitive is often dictated by a sense of rhythm, the placing of the qualifying adverb after the verb and before the weak adjunct or object which follows the verb resulting often in disharmony of rhythm or stress.

Administrator's Notice

The undersigned has filed his final account as administrator with will annexed, of the estate of Walter Drane, deceased, and the County Court of the State of Oregon for Coos County, has made an order fixing the first day of May, 1916, as the time for hearing objections to the same. Objections to said account must be filed on or before said date.

P. E. DRANE,
Administrator.

Teachers Elected.

At a meeting of the board of education last Thursday evening, all the teachers now employed in the Coquille schools were offered their present positions for another year. As yet it is not known how many of them will accept the offer, but it is hoped that most of them will remain. Continuous service on the part of the teachers is a very important factor in the efficiency of the school. Coquille has been exceedingly fortunate during the last few years in securing good teachers who were willing to remain on the job. Realizing the importance of retaining satisfactory teachers when they have been secured, the board has made a practice of raising the salary of such teachers each year until an established maximum has been reached. At present the maximum is $75 per month for first and eighth grade teachers and $70 for the other grades below the high school. Service in the high school has been less permanent than in the grades so a definite maximum has not yet been established there.

It might be of interest to the people of the district to know that Coquille is the third town in the county in average salary for grade teachers for the present school year. Powers stands first with an average of $81, Marshfield second with $75, Coquille

There is a Real Difference

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Royal Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are derived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Royal Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.
New York

third with $67.50 while Bandon, Myrtle Point and North Bend pay $66.33, $62.50 and $51 respectively. Bandon has a higher scale of salaries than Coquille but fewer of the teachers remain long enough to receive the maximum. Of the five towns in the county having four year high schools, Coquille is the lowest in the matter of high school salaries, the highest salary paid here during the present year being equal to the lowest paid in any of the other schools. In the matter of superintendents' and high school principals' salaries, Coquille stands third, Marshfield and North Bend holding first and second places respectively.
