This will give us a better service to the Bay than we have now.

Game Warden Thomas Returns From Curry Co.

Game Warden Thomas was in town Wednesday. He had just returned from Curry county where he had been on a tour of inspection concerning the ducks and deer of that county. It is the game warden's duty to make a report every 15 days to the government in regard to migratory birds. In this report he states the number of ducks to be found, compared with other seasons; the kind of ducks; where they are abundant, and how they seem to be faring. He is obliged to make this report until the middle of May or until all the ducks have left this part of the country for wetter climates. Mr. Thomas extended his trip down the coast as far as Langlois and says there are quite a number of ducks, mostly canvas backs, in the Curry county marshes and lakes. He says that one noticeable fact is that everywhere in the county there seem to be about five male ducks to every female. This seems to be the case every season and Mr. Thomas says that the government officials were unable to explain this last year and that he has reported the conditions again this year and is very much interested in what they will have to say on the subject. If any hunter can explain the cause we would like to hear from him.
Mr. Thomas states that he found the deer in Curry county were not suffering much as a result of the hard winter, and thinks the reports of many of them having died were exaggerated. He also says that to the best of his knowledge, only three China pheasants suffered death during the winter. He did not see these birds, but they were reported to him as having died in the Fairview country during one of the snow storms. During his trip down in Curry he was very much surprised at the way the farmers were making their small ranches pay. He says that they are clearing up the flats, digging up the stubs and planting grain and that they have some fine looking grain coming up already.
Mr. Thomas, while in town, did a stunt which will win respect for him from every hunter on the Coquille. He consulted A. J. Sherwood and asked him to draw up a petition, to be signed by the hunters, asking for a 15 days' extension on our duck law. It is safe to say that Mr. Sherwood will lose no time in getting the petition out, for he has always wanted a change in the law as well as the rest of the nimrods on this side. As soon as the weather settles Mr. Thomas is going up into the hills beyond Powers to take the elk census, as there are several bands that he has located in the fastnesses of the mountains. He offers $100 reward for any one caught killing elk in the county. He is working hard on a case now and expects to land the party who killed an elk last year somewhere in this county. Mr. Thomas is certainly the man for the position he holds as he takes an interest in the welfare of both birds and beasts and is always ready to protect them at any time and at any personal cost.

Willard Still Champion

Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, retained his title in a 10-round contest with Frank Moran, at New York Saturday evening. For the thirty minutes of fighting Willard received the sum of $55,100 and Moran $27,750. The attendance was 13,000.

His Truck a Hummer
Jim Laird, the "speed demon" of Brewster valley, was a Coquille visitor Thursday. He drove in at the wheel of his new Ford truck. Jim says that the car is some puller and hints that a very steep mountain looks like an ordinary mole hill to him when he is at the wheel. He claims that the day he was stranded in Coquille with engine trouble, and finally got started, thanks to one of the Herald's office force, that the car ran perfectly all the way home. He is of the opinion that if he is ever stranded again all he will need is for one of us to give him a flying start and he will reach home on time. A sprained wrist and worn out patience means nothing to Jim, just so he gets that flying start.

Supt. Turnbull Re-elected

Superintendent L. W. Turnbull of the Bandon schools, formerly principal of the Coquille High school, has recently been elected on a two year contract at $1500 and $1650. Mr. Turnbull has handled the school exceedingly well during the past year and his Coquille friends will be pleased to know that the Bandon board appreciate his efforts.
With Superintendent F. A. Tiedgen's recent re-election at Marshfield at $2200, all the city superintendents of the county have been offered their present positions for another year. So far as is known, all will remain.
Lady Takes Involuntary Bath
While boarding the Charm at the local dock, Mrs. Ella Carlmichel of North Bend, lost her balance and plunged head first into the cold river, taking her suit case with her. She came to the surface still clinging to the suit case and spouting water like a whale. She was seized by willing hands and dragged onto the dock where she was put into a car and taken to the Baxter. After getting into dry clothes, she walked to the dock and caught a boat back to Bandon. She seemed not to have suffered any ill effects from the ducking and departed laughing at her adventure.

Death of Georgia Watson

News reached this place Sunday of the death of Miss Georgia Watson at her home at Corvallis Friday morning. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Watson, well known people of this place, who a few months ago moved to Corvallis with the hope of benefiting their daughter's health. Mr. Watson returned to this place the first of last week to attend to business matters. When he left home his daughter's health was bad, as it had been for some time, but she was not thought to be in a serious condition. However, he received a telegram Wednesday evening telling him to come home immediately, as she was not expected to live till he could get there. He departed at once but she passed away before he could reach her bedside. Miss Watson had lived at this place all

Woman's Study Club

The meeting of the literary department of the Woman's Study Club yesterday was postponed until half past three o'clock on account of the funeral of Miss Florence Gilman, consequently there was not time for the work outlined. The remainder of the program consisting of talks and readings by Mesdames Lawrence, Knowlton, Barrow, Kistner and Pursley, will be given at the next meeting, April 10. At this meeting there will be the annual election of officers and a full attendance is desired.
The domestic science department meets next Monday, April 3. The lesson begins with "Food Value" on page 161, and extends to the end of the chapter.

"Safety First"

Considerable interest was aroused last week by a case before Justice Stanley, in which our city marshal charged that his life had been threatened by a party whom he had placed under arrest on a charge of disorderliness. When the time came for the trial, a little friendly discussion of the situation resulted in the bold, bad man agreeing not to kill the marshal after all, so the charge was dismissed and they shook hands over the bloodless chasm. It is evident that our marshal does not want to see the city discredited by his sudden removal from this vale of tears.

Meager Particulars

A street report is to the effect that a kodak picture of the young son of Dr. and Mrs. Endicott has taken a prize in some contest inaugurated by one of the national magazines, and that the portrait will appear in the June number of that publication, but as the doctor declines to give further particulars, and we are ready to go to press, we will have to let it go at that.

Telephone Deal Closed Up

The deal by which the Coos & Curry Telephone company buys out the Farmers Telephone company was closed here yesterday by the payment of the agreed price and the signing of the papers. The forces of the two companies have been busy for several days preparing for the connecting up of the farmers' lines with the Home central office. The day set for the formal transfer of the business is Saturday, April 1, and it is expected that the connections will be made the day before. It is stated that the price received by the Farmers' company is sufficient to cover without a small amount the investment of the stockholders and they will practically get their money back. This is a much better outcome than was anticipated a year or two ago, and it seems that every one should be pleased with the new arrangement.
The public will be better served and at considerably less expense, and the Coos & Curry Co. can still find more profit in their business.
