Fire in a Car

Saturday night the little Studebaker car belonging to T. A. Walker, and driven by his son Ralph, furnished considerable excitement to its occupants, when a blaze was started around the engine just as the car was bowling along on top of the hill at the entrance to this city. The cause of the trouble was a heated exhaust pipe which created such an intense heat as to set the wood-work around the dashboard on fire. The carburetor happening to flood at this particular instant caused the gas to ignite, and for a while things looked bad for the car. All the wiring was burnt out, but everyone fell to and cast enough dust upon the blaze to put out a forest fire. Mr. Walker is now installing asbestos around the dashboard to guard against a repetition of the accident. The fire was in no way the fault

Billy Burke a Merry Whirlwind in "Peggy"

Like a merry little whirlwind, Peggy from America ussets the traditions of the pretty Scottish mountain hamlet where she goes to live after her father's death. Billy Burke stars in this fine Triangle play, "Peggy."

An orphan and heiress, Peggy Cameron is a lively member of New York's exclusive set. There comes to her a letter from her uncle in Scotland, offering her a home with him. Peggy accepts the invitation, and comes breezing into the little town of Woodkirk, in the Scottish highlands one bright Sunday morning. Her automobile causes consternation among the villagers.

Andrew Cameron, (Wm. H. Thompson) the uncle, is a dour old Scot, who doesn't approve of Peggy or her car. He and the minister, Rev. Donald Bruce (William Desmond), surprise Peggy working under her machine in overalls. Her uncle is shocked and forbids her ever to appear again in masculine garb.

Nevertheless Peggy dons her cousin's masculine dress one night and goes for a spin. It starts to rain and the automobile gets stalled. Peggy goes into a village inn for shelter, and on coming out bumps into the minister. He tries to rebuke her, but Peggy runs home in high glee. With the children, however, she gets along famously.

While Uncle Andrew and the minister are sitting in judgment on a girl who has been indiscreet, Peggy breaks in upon them, to demand that they fix the blame upon the man. He proves to be Colin, Andrew's son, and a marriage is the happy ending of the drama.

Then Peggy decides to leave Woodkirk and her relatives. They have come to love her, but their pleadings that she stay are of no avail. But at last comes the Rev. Donald Bruce, with an appeal from the heart that keeps Peggy in Woodkirk, as the minister's bride.

We Win Spelling Contest

Again the Coquille High school is victor in a spelling contest. This time Bandon and North Bend participated as well as Coquille and Marshfield. The local school carried off the honors with an average of 97.8 per cent. The two boy cities were practically tied with an average of a fraction over 96. Not only did Coquille win on the general school average but she also stood at the head, grading class by class.

The four or five contests that have been held during the year have not only been interesting but exceedingly valuable as well. It is hoped that they may be made monthly affairs another year.

Unknowns Are Unknown

It is quite likely that the High school baseball team and the "Unknown Nine" will cross bats Friday afternoon at Lyons field. The High school has accepted the challenge issued by the "Unknowns" but the fact of the matter is that the Unknowns are so much unknown that it is not known whether they can be got together on that certain date or not. At least they will try and that is all the assurance that can be given the public that the battle will take place.

Violinist Here on Vacation

Miss Vivian Haynes came in from Eugene on yesterday's train and will spend some weeks of her vacation down here. She went to Bandon this morning to stay about a week there. Miss Haynes visited here a year ago last summer and at that time delighted our people with her extraordinary mastery of the violin. She has continued her studies, and recently gave a recital in Eugene at which one of the largest churches in that city was crowded to its capacity and two hundred people were turned away. She will be heard at the scenic room.

Teachers Are Guests

The teachers of the Coquille schools together with former superintendent H. O. Anderson, were guests at a delightful dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chase last Thursday evening. The entire party of 18 were seated about a great round table and served with five delicious courses.

The hostess was assisted by her two daughters, Misses Pauline and Genevieve. After dinner the guests were entertained with music and stories until such an hour as teachers should turn in, when all reluctantly bade their host and hostess adieu. The guests were Misses Kennedy, Allen, Phillips, Anderson, Bay, Newell, and Hansen; Mesdames Hill and Wise; Messrs. and Mesdames Minard, Critch and Howard, and Mr. H. O. Anderson.

Which Do You Prefer?

It is important for reasons of health and practical economy for every housekeeper to ask herself this question:

"Do I prefer a pure baking powder like Royal, made of cream of tartar derived from grapes, or am I willing to use a baking powder made of alum or phosphate, both derived from mineral sources?"

The names of the ingredients printed on the label show whether the kind you are now using or any brand, new or old, that may be offered is a genuine cream of tartar powder, or merely a phosphate or alum compound.

Royal Baking Powder contains no alum nor phosphate.

The Prize Winners

Late Monday night the decision of the judges in the school contest for Good Roads Bonds Association essays was completed. There were seventy-nine essays considered, thirty-eight being from the high schools and thirty-nine from the graded schools of the county, these having been selected by the teachers for the contest.

The judges were Charles Hall, for the Coos County Good Roads Association, E. L. Powell, for the Coos County Business Men's Association, and John W. Motley, for the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce.

The high school essays considered were twenty-one from Marshfield, sixteen from Bandon and one from Coquille.

There was a much broader interest in the contest from the graded schools over the county, and the results from the younger children showed a wonderful amount of original thinking. The best essays came from the district schools of the county. The judges considered essays from the graded schools as follows: Coquille, twelve; Marshfield, ten; Bandon, nine; Templeton, two; Bridge, two; Beaver Hill, two; Bunker Hill, one; District No. 41, one.

He comes from Joseph, Oregon, where he has been engaged in the practice of his profession for the past two years. Mrs. Richards, who is a daughter of C. H. Woman's Study Club

Yesterday the domestic science department of the Woman's Study Club met with Mrs. Longston, and spent a very pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Young, the leader of the department, was sufficiently recovered from her recent illness to be present.

Preceding the text book lesson, which was on "The Products of Milk," was a discussion, led by Mrs. Springer, on two of the books in the club library—"The New Housekeeping," and "The Making of a Housewife."

This lesson was the last in the two years' course.

The literary department will hold the last meeting of the year next Monday, May 22. The lesson will be a review of the Washington Irving Lesson and the lesson on the Great Lakes Country.

Political Debate

The debate at the court house between John C. Kendall and Arthur Peck, both candidates for the Republican nomination for Representative, seems to have been quite enlivening, and so far as the Herald is informed Kendall seems to have had the best of it. His position on the Rogue river fishing situation is one that appeals to our people, who would like to see to see the close monopoly of the Macleay company broken up, and Peck's argument that Kendall was attorney for another company that wants to fish in Rogue river did not seem to furnish a good excuse for any defense of the monopoly. The intimation that Kendall is opposed to the Workmen's Compensation law seems to have an equally poor foundation.
