"BUY AT HOME"

If all were as consistent in heeding the slogan of "Buy at Home" as they are enthusiastic in endorsing it when they see their neighbor sending his money away for goods that they themselves would like to sell him, it would be much better for the community, whether that community be Coquille or any other town. The logic of the proposition is so absolute as to confute the four and seventy jarring sects of department stores and mail order houses. The truth that the dollar spent at home may come back to you is so trite that we fail to realize its force; yet that is the crux of the whole matter. The prosperity of the individual is builded on the prosperity of the community in which he lives, and the prosperity of the community is made up of the prosperity of its inhabitants. When you buy of the home merchant he, presumably, makes a profit. That profit stays at home and adds to the wealth of your own community. When you buy a home product the whole sum involved stays at home and helps to employ home labor. It is true that when you send your money away you get something back, but all the profit of the transaction goes out of the community—and it doesn't come back. Further, the people who trade at home give encouragement to the home merchant and enable him to carry a more complete stock. The more you "send away" the less profit he finds in trying to supply more than your simplest needs. The prices that you expect to get in Chicago are mostly a delusion and a snare, and by the time you pay postage and freight, often getting something that you don't want, the goods cost you more than they would if bought at home. As a concrete example, the Herald will put out one instance where a local merchant welcomes a chance to compete with the mail order houses on goods of exactly the same quality. H. O. Anderson stands ready to compare prices on wall paper with any mail order house in the world, and to show that he can match their prices on any quality or quantity. Other merchants would undoubtedly be glad to do the same on any goods they carry on which a clear comparison can be made. Of course it sometimes happens that your needs cannot be supplied by the home merchant, and it is necessary for you to send away, but these instances are the exception. At least give the home dealer a fair chance to serve you before you send your money and the profits elsewhere. You will save money in the end, and you will have a clearer conscience and be a far better specimen of a good citizen.

For the Kaiser's Fame

Grovel, ye slave, in your slimy trench—
Sink to your knees in the gory mire;
From the blood of your messmate cometh that stench—
You aim at that man; he's your brother; fire!

Steady your hand; you missed him that time—
See the young face, he is smiling grim;
For the whine of your bullet to him is a chime—
It sings not of death, but a mother's hymn.

Worship the man who prayed unto God,
Sending you forth in his sacred name;
For it's you or your friend there must rest 'neath the sod—
You must get him this time—for the Kaiser's fame!

Mr. Martendale of Klamath Valley, has been visiting his daughter Mrs. Bert Doyl of Arago.

Mr. and Mrs. Asher Post and daughter Dora of Riverton, were visiting Thomas Donaca and family of this place. Mrs. Post being a sister of Mr. Donaca.

Peterson Bros. are making hay this week.

Ellis Bros. have about completed their brush contract for Andy Radabaugh.

A large crowd attended the picnic at Schroeder's oak grove last Sunday.

Several autos carried passengers from here on the Fourth.

A large crowd attended the Fourth of July picnic at George Robinson's grove on Fishtrap. An interesting program, consisting of recitations and instrumental and vocal music, was rendered. Refreshments were served during the day.

L. S. Minard made a business trip to Myrtle Point last week.

Dr. M. O. Stemmler made a trip here a few days ago selling tickets for the Myrtle Point chautauqua.

Bancroft Briefs

Haying is the order of the day since the celebration is past.

Gardens and small grains are looming up, encouraged by the recent copious showers.

Mrs. Jessie Christie and family of Bandon, are camping on Rock creek which is a pleasant place for an outing.

J. W. Appleton's family took in the two days celebration at Myrtle Point and report an enjoyable time.

J. L. Jewett and family formerly of this community but lately of Powers, came home with Mrs. Jewett's parents for a few days' visit with friends and relatives.

Mrs. C. D. Price went to Powers Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Hayes, and the younger daughters, Miss Mary who is teaching at Empire, and Miss Edna who is staying at the Hayes home at present. Mrs. Price attended the celebration at the rising young city and voted it a success.

Walter Laird is the owner of a new Ford.

The Fourth of July picnic at Dora was attended by the people of the neighborhoods and several from Fairview. The children's flag drill and song was well done. Edith and June Willey of Fairview, sang a beautiful song, "When the Heather is in Bloom." Ham Bunch did the talking. Ernest Folsom sold ice cream cones, etc. The table was loaded with eats. The foot races and pole vaulting were good. Everybody had a good time.

Harold and Lloyd Shepherd, Charles Culbertson and William Miller did lots of work getting the picnic ground in good shape.

Sunday July 2, I heard a great sermon preached by Rev. Shimian of Coquille. His text was "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness I have called thee." He is no pessimist and has no thought that Jesus Christ is a failure or that the Almighty is a fool.

Monday was a good lively day among the fishermen down here. High boat catching 103 fish, while numerous others caught from 50 to 80. There was quite a spurt of fish, and the big run of the summer is expected soon.

A jolly bridal party came down the river Sunday, when John Woodworth and Hick Meservev, in the former's boat, brought in from Agness Mrs. G. W. Rilea and two daughters, Clara and Myrtle, Miss Una Rilea of Portland, a niece, Mrs. F. L. Vernon, Mrs. J. F. Campbell, Frank Allen and Frank Price. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon this jolly group gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Brainard on First street, where Mrs. R. I. Helm and daughter Genevieve were stopping, and here Miss Martha Price and Rev. John W. Hoyt joined them. In the presence of this company and the members of the Brainard family Rev. Hoyt proceeded to perform the ceremony that united Miss Clara Rilea and C. Frank Allen.

E. H. Dye, the Coquille dye man arrived down today, and is visiting friends.

The only Curry county boy heard from who has gone to the Mexican front is Tom Rilea, of Agness, who is the bugler and head of the signal corps of Co B 3rd regiment of Oregon, as it is known since mustering into the Federal ranks.

The body of John Hogue, who was drowned by being entangled in his net while fishing the Rogue last week, has not yet been found. The use of dynamite and other extreme measures has failed of results so far. His brother, Frank Hogue, has left his fishing job at the mouth of the river to join in the search.—Granite Pass O's server.

Federal Inquiry or Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employees, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employees for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

"Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:

1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable; or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved; or
2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employees are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence. The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board. Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employees as wages; and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public. The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employes, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employes, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employes, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.
