Bobbie Burns said something when he wrote that "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley." At the same time, it is evident that he voiced a truth that had then already been discovered. In view of this, it is perhaps possible that we may find some excuse for the managers of the Coos Bay Rail Road Jubilee. It is true that some of our citizens will always feel convinced that the disappointment of last Friday was due entirely to the reprehensible, premeditated and invariable cussidness of Marshfield. But it is to be devoutly hoped that these are by no means as numerous as the noise they have made would indicate. It does not take very long nor very deep reflection to show that the failure of any five hundred of the jubilee visitors to come to Coquille at the time scheduled was not the fault of the Marshfield people, the visitors, nor yet in any great degree of our own people. It was simply a case of miscalculation, that might have been foreseen,—but wasn't. If we had stopped to reason the thing out from the standpoint of the visitors themselves, we could have made an almighty good guess that few of them would care to devote one day of their short stay to seeing the county seat and some of the valley dairy farms, even though a good meal was also to be added. Good things to eat are hardly such a novelty to those people that they would care to take so much time to secure a fill without cost. This is in no sense a criticism of the plan to treat our visitors like human beings with stomachs in them. The plan was conceived in the true spirit of hospitality and welcome, and it is to be regretted that it went mostly to waste—though the grub was not allowed to spoil. The plan of entertainment could not well have been improved upon without going into the impracticable and costly scheme of having some kind of a carnival of our own, which would have been the height of folly. The weak point of the whole thing was one that did not seem to impress itself upon anyone: that the bulk of those people came down to Coos to have a good time; to get out of the hot valley for a few days; to see something that they did not see every day at home; to "go to the coast;" to visit the ocean beach and hear what the wild waves were talking about. It was a foregone conclusion that those people would break for the beach in a body on Friday. It was not to be supposed that they would do anything otherwise. It is easy enough to see this, now that it has been mauled into our heads by the event. That none of us saw it beforehand only emphasizes the fact which we sometimes forget: that we are all poor critters. Even the high officials of the S. P. showed a woeful unreliability as prophets, when they came to estimate the number of people who would come. Then why blame any of the smaller Coos county fry because they made some miscalculations in handling a proposition so large. So far as the Herald's verdict is worth anything, it is all to the effect that the Coos Bay Railroad Jubilee was a grand success; that it was well handled by the Coos Bay people; that the Coquille valley people did their full share to help things along; that the visitors themselves were a fine lot of people who got in and enjoyed themselves and were generous in their appreciation of the entertainment provided and of the attractions and resources of our Coos Bay Country; that the advertising we have received and will receive through the Jubilee will be worth much to us; that we should all congratulate ourselves and each other on the unqualified success of the Coos Bay Railroad Jubilee.

Speaking of logging methods of the earlier days, in last week's issue, we wrote: "Logs were not cut much above the first limbs." By the simple expedient of leaving out the common word "much," some one of our commentators made us responsible for a very inaccurate statement; that "logs were not cut above the first limbs," which we had no intention of making.

Bridge Briefs

Elder Chas. Barklow preached to a good sized audience Sunday morning, on "The Jerico Road." He and his family spent the remainder of the day at the Culver home, returning to Myrtle Point in the evening.

Mr. C. H. Price has changed his appointment to Thursday evening, instead of Friday as heretofore.

Among the Bridge people who attended part or all of the R. R. Jubilee, were T. S. Evernden, Mrs. Mary Wadman, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Murphy, and daughter Miss Helen, James Culver, Harry Brownson, C. H. Nosler, Lyle Nosler and R. J. Montgomery.

School will begin Sept. 11 with the following teachers in charge: Z. T. Croft, principal, Miss Lila Smith, intermediate, and Miss Annie Thomas primary. The eleventh grade will be added to the high school work this year.

Misses Flossie and Wilma Lett returned Wednesday from a ten days' auto trip to Jackson and Josephine counties, with their uncle, John Carl and family.

Mrs. C. W. Hill and children returned to their home at Coquille Tuesday, with A. O. Hooton when he went after his daughters, Misses Leu and Maude, who had been visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hill for three weeks. Miss Dorothy accompanied her father, and had some dental work done while in town. Miss Anna Hooton came out to Bridge with them for a few days' visit.

Mrs. M. E. Welch and son Paul spent the week-end at their home here.

Miss Irene Weekly is at home, after a visit with Miss Florence Jennings, at Milwaukee, and Mrs. Frances Musick at Grants Pass. Mrs. Musick's many friends in this county will be glad to know that she is enjoying excellent health.

Miss Virgie Houser went to Camas Saturday for a visit with her father.

The unoccupied houses in Bridge are being rapidly taken now, as the time draws near for school to begin.

The Cap Miller family have moved into the Lett house, J. T. Crofts have moved into A. L. Nosler's house, and the James family are living in Mrs. Wadman's house.

Bridge is justly proud of the fine exhibits she had in the Coos Co. products display during the Jubilee. If there had been one or two days more time in which to collect the exhibits a much better showing could have been made—but we outshone everything else there as it was—so we should worry.

C. H. Nosler is very busy these days packing his fine Gravenstein apples, and peaches.

Bancroft Briefs

Percy Schroeder, of Norway, has been visiting at the Lund ranch for a few days the past week.

Mrs. Francis Smith and children, of Oilfields, Calif., a e spending a few days with Mrs. Smith's brothers, Albert F. J. and Donald Fish.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Price, of Montague, Calif., arrived at Bancroft Friday evening and made a short visit with the family of C. D. Price and motored to Big Creek on Saturday to visit the Lewis and Clausen families. They then proceeded to Coquille and Riverton to see other relatives and on to the Jubilee at the Bay. This is Mr. Price's first trip to Coos county since he left Riverton nearly nine years ago.

East Fork Items

Travel over the old Coos Bay wagon road the past week has been heavy.

Editor Wimberly, Mrs. Wimberly and daughter, of Roseburg, came in over the Coos Bay road Wednesday.

Jubilee week was not a good time to go to Marshfield with a load of farm stuff—too much excitement for the horses.

The prison ship "Success" is a great educational and historical exhibit.
R. A. EASTON.

Such tobacco enjoyment

as you never thought could be is yours to command quick as you buy some Prince Albert and fire-up a pipe or a home-made cigarette!

Prince Albert gives you every tobacco satisfaction your smoke-appetite ever hankered for. That's because it's made by a patented process that cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

PRINCE ALBERT

has a flavor as different as it is delightful. You never tasted the like of it! And that isn't strange, either.

Buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold in tippyred bags, 5c; tippyred tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidor—and that corking fine pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such closer trim—always!

Men who think they can't smoke a pipe or roll a cigarette can smoke and will smoke if they use Prince Albert. And smokers who have not yet given P. A. a try-out certainly have a big surprise and a lot of enjoyment coming their way as soon as they invest in a supply. Prince Albert tobacco will tell its own story!
