Of the 86 pupils in high school, 26 live outside the district and are taking advantage of the state tuition law.

Herald Had it Right
Last week the Herald published an item which has since appeared in a somewhat different form in our esteemed contemporary. By way of keeping the record straight, we will now repeat that the Clyde Barker place was sold to John Martin by Chas. Walker, and will add that we have seen a paper bearing the signatures of Clyde A. Barker and O. J. Barker, by G. L. Barker, their agent, and of two other persons as witnesses, which proves our statement. We will also add that Mr. Martin is from Caspar, Wyo., as the Herald stated.

Cameron Case on Trial

The libel case against F. B. Cameron has occupied the attention of the circuit court since yesterday. Considerable trouble was found in selecting the jury, but the taking of evidence was reached 11 this morning, and six witnesses for the prosecution were examined for the purpose of disproving the assertions made by Cameron in the Agitator. The indications are that the case will take several days and much interest is taken in its revelations as to the management of the county farm and the treatment given to the county charges.

Want Ad Brings Deluge

F. B. Phillips has no pigs for sale. We make this statement to relieve the gentleman from the task of answering so many inquiries brought by his want ad in this paper. It sold all his pigs for him within the first week. Still the inquiries kept coming, and when we inadvertently published it the second time it brought another batch of would-be buyers. Mr. Phillips is one of those who knows that advertising brings results.
