The editorial staff of the Laurel, the annual publication of the local high school, was determined last week, and is as follows: Editor in chief, Leslie Schroeder; assistant editor, Myrtle Cunningham; business manager, Arthur Hooten, assistant business manager, Leanna Curry. The remainder of the staff will obtain their positions by appointment.

Claman Players Friday

The Claman Players' National Stock Company, who played a week's engagement here five years ago and also three years ago, will appear at the Scenic Friday evening, presenting the great success, "Peg O' My Heart," a three act comedy. It will be remembered that the company then made an excellent impression and played to good houses, such plays as "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Wolf," "Paid in Full," etc. The usual picture program will be given, making a big double show, starting at 7:15. Prices will be 25 and 50 cents.

Billie Burke Coming

The manager of the Scenic is happy to announce that he has closed a contract with Geo. Kleine for the Billie Burke serial, "Gloria's Romance," in 20 two-reel chapters. The showing here will follow two weeks after the completion of the "Iron Claw," of which there are four more chapters to be shown. This will bring the first chapter of Gloria's Romance on October 23rd. No more need be said at this time.

Billie Burke in "Peggy," Tuesday night of next week! Now what do you know about that? Is there any one who saw the picture when it was shown some months ago who would not like to see it again? We know not. At any rate the opportunity to repeat it has been eagerly seized and it is scheduled for the Scenic on Tuesday, Sept. 26. It will be remembered that on the former showing the house was crowded and at the end of the first show standing room on the sidewalk was at a premium; also that the adorable Billie held some of you till after midnight. Next Tuesday the show will start early and those who come after the seats are gilled will be asked to wait for the next show.

Purchase Boutin Tract

The Moore Mill & Lumber company has purchased the Boutin tract of timber east of Beaver Hill, consisting of 660 acres of fir and spruce, and the construction of a logging road to the timber has commenced. The contract price for the tract is said to be $175,000, the tract being one of the very best in the county.

The logging road will start from near the old Klondyke mine on the Coquille river and extend a distance of about two miles across Beaver slough. It is being built by men from the Colongue camp at Lampa, where they had been logging from the Coach tract.

It is now believed that continuous operation of the Moore plant in this city will be assured, the only other obstacle that might arise being the lack of transportation.

It is reported that there are now more logging camps operating in Coos county than ever before in its history. Considerably more men are being employed and the wages are higher on the average. Some new camps are also being opened up.—Western World.

Street Work Completed

At the council meeting last night, City Engineer Henderson made report of the final completion of the improvement work on Third, Henry and Elliott streets and recommended that the balance due the contractors for the work be paid. The itemized report was as follows:

For Third street: Lump sum bid, $4140.50; amount previously paid, $680.35; engineering and supervision, $137.61.
Henry street: Lump sum bid, $2829.47; amount previously paid, $926.34; engineering and supervision, $96.05.
Elliott street: Lump sum bid, $2-325.39; amount previously paid, $1117.84; engineering and supervision, $79.12.
Warrants were also ordered drawn to the amount of $288.33, to pay the back taxes upon city property.

At the adjourned session last Wednesday an order was issued for a warrant in the amount of $3638.80, in favor of the Longston Construction company for partially completed work. A committee from the Commercial Club was also given a hearing in regard to obtaining municipal aid for the maintenance of a band. After lengthy discussion Gardiner, Nosler and Lorenz were appointed as a committee from the council to meet and confer with the one from the Commercial Club as to the required outlay.

A. NEELY KILLED

The report reached here late this afternoon that Alva Neely age about 21 years, and son of Willis Neely of this place, was killed at Fairview today when the team with which he was working upon the Robert Holverstott place ran away with him. Particulars of any description seem lacking; but there is one story that the young man became entangled in some ropes which were attached to the horses, making it impossible for him to help himself when the animals became frightened and bolted.

Water Power

State Engineer Lewis estimates more than 3,000,000 horsepower can be developed on streams within economic transmission distance of tidewater at Portland. This includes the Willamette, Deschutes and the Columbia drainage west of Celilo. The Oregon Conservation Commission gives the undeveloped water power of Oregon as 3,317,000 horsepower. Only one per cent of the state's water power is developed. Thirty thousand dollars has been appropriated by Oregon and the United States for a joint investigation of an 800,000 horsepower plant on the Columbia river near The Dalles.

Hints to the Farmer

Don't fail to burn all rubbish, but don't do it near buildings, and see that fire is out before leaving.

Don't keep automobiles, gasoline engines or gasoline in barns. Put them in separate buildings made of galvanized iron, stone or brick.

Don't use oil lamp or lantern when filling automobiles or engine tank.

Keep at least six (6) buckets of water in passageway of barn. Mark "For Fire Purposes Only" and see that they are always kept filled.

Keep fire extinguishers both in house and barn.

Keep a ladder of sufficient length hanging on side of barn for emergency and have footholds put on roof of barn.

Watch electric light wires in house and barn; have them frequently inspected.

Build a cistern near barn with a good force pump and hose attached.

If you have no fire-fighting force near you, form one among your neighbors, and don't hesitate to call them when services are needed, nor to respond promptly when they call you.

Make your buildings as substantial and as fireproof in construction as you can afford.

Remove oily waste whenever you have occasion to use it.

Teach your wife, your children, and hired men the principles of fire prevention, including care of gasoline and other oils and careful handling of matches, kerosene lamps, etc.

Build your chimneys from the ground and strong and inspect them regularly.

Every farmer should make some provision for protecting his shocked and stacked grain by plowing fire breaks around them and keeping barrels or tanks of water handy together with a few old sacks for fire-fighting purposes.

It is also good judgment to plow fire breaks around the house and other farm buildings where there is danger of fire spreading from burning brush, stubble, etc., and keep them clear of weeds and grass.

Many barns are burned by the combustion of hay and grain, which, being stored before properly dried or becoming damp from some other source, generates sufficient heat to ignite gases thrown off from the vegetable matter and starts a fire.

Whenever hay or grain begins to show signs of heating it should be moved, aired and dried.
