Random Rambles

(By a Rambler.)

On Tuesday last the Rambler passed through Fairview on his way to McKinley. It was a beautiful day full of soft autumn sunshine but a gloom lay over the quiet scene that marred all its beauty. A life had been suddenly snuffed out. A frightful accident occurred in which Alva Neely lost his life. We had not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance, but from the lips of many we heard words of admiration and praise for the young man whose earthly career was so suddenly and so terribly ended. He had been raised in this community, and never have we witnessed a deeper grief on the part of neighbors and friends. It was as if a member of their own family had been stricken. Again we are reminded that "In the midst of life is death." We know not what a day or an hour may bring forth, but there is no nobler heritage we may leave behind us than the example of a life well lived; a life warmed by love and obedient to duty.

At McKinley we visited at the home of Mrs. Wilcox and sons. Here we met for the first time Supervisor Golden of the public schools. He was making the rounds of the schools in that section. Mr. Golden is an enthusiast in the matter of education. He is putting his best effort into the work and striving to make the schools a practical institution. Withal, he would have them of high ideals and of maximum efficiency.

The shrill whistle of the "donkey" is no longer heard at McKinley for this has given place to the plow and the mower. Walter Lawhorn who formerly conducted a camp here is at work improving and fitting up his farm. Mrs. Lawhorn remarked that in the years of her married life she had not had a permanent home and that they had been looking forward to the time when they could go back to the farm and settle down. They have a splendid farm and have it well improved.

Lark Mast is still the same old "Lark" though he was nursing a bad cold. His jovial good nature cannot be dimmed by such trifles, or by the weight of years. Mrs. Fred Mast has moved near the school house for the winter so as to give the children the full benefit of the school. Miss Harry, of Brewster Valley, is teaching and seems to be meeting with the approval of the entire community. She is a very successful teacher.

We failed to meet our friend L. A. Lawhorn on this trip as he was absent from home, but his son R. H. and wife we met on the road as they were going out for a visit.

At Lee Mast's we met with a welcome and visited for a couple of hours. He is working with the Heller threshing outfit as measurer but chanced to be taking a day's vacation.

At most of the homes along the way we found things going on in the old time fashion—everybody busy and everybody happy.

Miss Wilma Lett sustained some minor bruises Tuesday morning when her horse ran away. One shaft came loose, which frightened the horse and caused it to run. The buggy caught on the bridge at Culver's mill and Miss Wilma was thrown out. One of the Culver boys went to her rescue and assisted her to the house.

Miss Dorothy Hooton was ill with la grippe Friday and Saturday, but is able to attend school this week.

Miss Lila Smith and Miss Hulda Warner spent the week-end with Miss Smith's sister, Mrs. Minard.

C. H. Nosler plans to move his family to Myrtle Point Thursday. Mr. Nosler's school at Stringtown will begin Oct. 2.

J. G. Houser came home from Weekly's road camp last week.

Miss Pearl Ford was quite sick last week, but is able to attend school now.

Mrs. F. C. Rookard has recovered from her recent illness.

Mobley Welch has returned to his work at Powers.

East Fork Items

Mrs. Mary Laird left Thursday for Whittier, Calif., to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hall. Mr. Hall is a "baller," which is a man who is a success at digging up orange trees for shipment, with a ball of earth of sufficient size so that the roots have not been disturbed, and the earth is transplanted with the trees.

A man by the name of Miller and family, who have been living for the past two years near Coquille, went out Friday over the Coos Bay road with their prairie schooner loaded to the guards, bound for Nampa, Idaho.

Frank Howe and Lloyd Leatherman who started for Canada to visit Everett Howe, had to turn back from Portland on account of Frank being sick.

Why don't the Herald man tell what he thinks of the evidence in the McLeod-Cameron case?

Ira Howe, of Marshfield, and an insurance man from Portland, have been looking for life insurance subjects on the East Fork.

Governor Withycombe's inaugural address and the management of the state prison tally to a tee. The Oregonian and other Republican papers would have rent the air with yells if a warden had been killed and the general rottenness had developed under Governor West, as shown up at the Board meeting in Salem a few days since. Gov. Withycombe is a stand patter for political rewards to his friends and an "educator."

R. A. EASTON.

Riverton Briefs

Several more pupils were enrolled in the primary room last week, making now about sixty pupils enrolled.

A little boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith lately, but was buried last Friday. The mother was very sick but is now convalescent.

Mrs. McGourty and family left Sunday morning for Portland, Ore., where they will join Mr. McGourty and make their future home.

Miss Ora Jameson, who is reviewing in the principal's room to take the examination, taught the primary room last Monday. She made good. Miss Philpot was unable to be present in the forenoon because of the illness of her father.

There was a lecture last Thursday evening at the Riverton Hall on the Sunday law to be voted on November 7.

Last Friday, after recess, the two rooms of the school took up industrial work—the girls sewing and the boys manual training.

J. G. Lee has lately made improvements on his property occupied by the principal, S. C. Sherrill, and family, for which they are very grateful.

Quite a number of the people from Riverton, including some of the pupils of the school, attended the Sells-Floto circus at Marshfield Monday.
