

Pendleton Normal School Proven Necessity

(Copied from Portland Oregonian.)
MONMOUTH, Ore., June 26.—The Oregon Normal school opened this week . . . students enrolled 785, largest on record for state Normal in Oregon . . . how to care for large student body a problem . . . 800 being crowded into auditorium with seating capacity of 550. Galleries filled with extra chairs in aisles. More than 150 students seated on platform. New boarding houses completed, additions to rooming houses built and tents used. One hundred girls sleep on upper floor of school.
 The official school report gives 150 grade pupils in Monmouth, for teacher practice.

Read what those you have elected to handle the affairs of your state and who are thoroughly informed regarding school conditions in Oregon have to say concerning measure 308 on the ballot at the coming election:

By James Withycombe, Governor of Oregon:
 "Oregon is unquestionably in need of more normal school work and Pendleton is the logical place for a school of this class in Eastern Oregon."
By J. A. Churchill, State Superintendent of Public Instruction:
 "I trust that the voters of the State will assist in raising the standard of our schools by establishing a State Normal School at Pendleton."
By P. L. Campbell, President of the University of Oregon:
 "At least one additional Normal School is urgently needed in Oregon."
By W. J. Kerr, President of the Oregon Agricultural College:
 "Since the people of Pendleton are initiating a measure for the establishment of a Normal School at that place, it will give me pleasure to support this measure."
By J. H. Ackerman, President Oregon Normal School, at Monmouth:
 "A careful analysis of the situation will convince any one that Oregon needs a Normal School in Eastern Oregon and Pendleton fills all the government requirements."
By the County School Superintendents of Oregon:
 "Resolved, that it is the sense of the County School Superintendents of the State of Oregon, in convention assembled, that the best interests of the schools of the State demand increased facilities for the training of teachers, and that we, therefore, endorse the initiative measure to establish a Normal School at Pendleton."
By Mrs. Charles H. Gaetner, President of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs:
 "I most heartily endorse the location of said Normal School at Pendleton."
Prof. Robert C. French, Former President of the Normal School Located at Weston:
 "An immediate establishment of such a school at some central point such as Pendleton would prove a great asset to the State of Oregon."
B. F. Mulkey, Ex-President Southern Oregon Normal School:
 "I shall support the location of an Eastern Oregon Normal School at Pendleton."

State Board of Regents of Oregon Normal School declares that "the necessity for additional Normal school facilities in Oregon is apparent."
 Portland Chamber of Commerce endorses measure 308 and say Pendleton most logical location for Normal school in Eastern Oregon.

The Hallowe'en Party

(Herald's Special C. C. News Service)
 The much anticipated Hallowe'en party came off last Friday night. It was announced that the doors would open at eight o'clock and trouble to begin immediately. The four different rooms were decorated to represent Earth, Purgatory, Hades and Heaven. The entertainment, decorations, and characters in each room carried out the idea which the room represented. The guests were admitted one or two at a time. At the entrance they came face to face with a spooky looking skull. This they had to salute as the skull and cross bones is the emblem of the class of '17. An usher now took charge of them and they were taken upstairs to earth where an old witch told their fortunes. On their departure from earth they were blindfolded and escorted by Death to Purgatory. Here Belzebub, Satan's favorite imp, subjected them to an account of their sins and giving each a beauty mark sent them to Hades. In Hades, Satan himself took charge of them. After a short period of torture they were allowed to escape.

Beginning with this year, a Hallowe'en party is to be given annually by each succeeding senior class. It is given in the high school building for the high school students.

Some games were played in the lower hall until the guests were called to the laboratory where a lunch consisting of sandwiches and coffee was served. The next thing after refreshments an assembly was called upstairs into rooms I and II (which represented Heaven and Earth respectively) where Alfred Daniels accompanied by Chas. Willey played a number of violin solos which were very much enjoyed. Then each of the teachers were called on to do something toward entertaining the guests. The last thing was several songs sung by the crowd.

 The Seniors feel that a great deal of the success of their plans was due to several students outside of the class who were kind enough to assist the committees.
 The entire student body are deeply grateful to the Senior class for the good time which they so graciously provided.

Merely Mentioned
 The academy teachers report that the pupils are making numerous hallowe'en novelties.
 Those perfect in spelling from the third grade were Ella Gray, Verna Hart, Dorothy Sturtevant, Eleanor Wilson, Tyler Walker, Tommy Toates, Elsie Thornton, Margaret Shores, Mabel Grush, Roberta Meyers, Lenorme Powder.
 The football team has resumed practice and is preparing for the next clash with Marshfield, when it expects to do much better.
 Willey and Daniels are improving rapidly and expect to be in good condition by another week.
 Coquille will play Marshfield here Nov 11, the last day of the corn show.
 Those to get 100 per cent in spelling in the second grade were: Loretta Wilson, Gladys Roby, George Bellon, Mella Brandon, Jean Young, Edith James, Royce Richmond, Edward Johnson, Alice Collier, Alta Beckett, Marlin Brandon.

Farmers' and Homemakers' Week is January 1-6

Farmers' and Homemakers' Week and Rural Life Conferences, January 1 to 6, is the annual occasion for Oregon's rural population that believe in more profitable farms, brighter homes, and more attractive social and business relations, to assemble at the State Agricultural College to measure practice by science, sift the false from the true, and bring the tested principles of the college into the industries, business and society of rural life.
 Opportunities to do this will be many. Good farmers, and bad, will rub shoulders with better farmers. Housekeepers will unite with homemakers. All will meet state and national leaders and mingle with each other in the realms of country ideals and country possibilities. Pleasure will vie with profit in inspiring and guiding to higher things, with the intellectual and spiritual leading the material.
 Conferences for organizations and lectures for individuals, with demonstrations and exhibits for all, are parts of each daily program. Students may examine and test many types of farm machinery; judge standard breeds of all classes of farm livestock; study construction and operation of farm engines; see demonstration of food preparation, garment making, dairy manufacture and stock feeding; study fruit, vegetable and flower growing and handling; investigate seed-crop production and testing; and attend conferences of leading state organizations. All this in addition to the instruction in regular and special lectures.
 Farmers' Week is held during the college Christmas vacation, making student quarters available for caring for the short course students. The faculty will be available for advisory work. Registration free. Expenses reasonable. Reduced railway fares. A welcome and a value for all. Complete program on request.

Favors Eight-Hour Law

"The railroad chiefs of the country were not opposed to the eight-hour day, contrary to the opinion that has prevailed throughout the country," said President F. D. Underwood, in an interview in a Milwaukee paper.
 "There is a general feeling that the eight-hour day is coming, and no doubt it will come, and ought to come," he said. "The eight-hour day law will cost the Erie railroad $3,000,000 a year. I do not believe that additional legislation is needed by Congress on this question."
 "The Interstate Commerce Commission can take care of the raise in rates if any should be needed. Congress has set up the Interstate Commerce Commission to take care of railroad matters. If the commission could take care of both wages and rates, there would be no objection, because the commission is unquestionably honorable and capable."
 "Mr. Wilson, however, was not playing politics. He was doing what he honestly believed was for the good of the country."
 "No one could associate with Mr. Wilson, as the railroad men of the country did during these negotiations, and charge him with playing politics in any way. Only some newspapers charged the President worked for political effect."—Coast Seamen's Journal.

Great Storm Scene

Nature helped human artistry in the production of "Little Eve Edgerton," the Bluebird Photoplay to be exhibited at the Scenic theatre Friday with Ella

Hall and Herbert Rawlinson in the leading roles. One of the most rugged and tempestuous representations of a mountain storm ever pictured for the screen is shown in the last act of the play, where the heroine is caught miles away from human habitation with her sweetheart suffering from lightning stroke. Great clouds seamed with livid streaks of lightning roll across the screen; torrential downpours of rain and sweeping hurricanes of wind lend nature's realism to an awe-inspiring incident that climaxes one of the prettiest love stories ever made into photoplay.

Against Tax Limitation

Editor Coquille Herald,
 Dear Sir: The State-wide Tax and Indebtedness Limitation Amendment to be submitted to the voters at the general election, in my opinion, is a very bad piece of legislation and, if it carries, will cripple the taxing powers of the county and state very materially in economy and efficiency.
 The Bingham law, which was enacted by the state legislature in 1915, caused Coos county to lose $4,500 in the sale of its road bonds. This tax limitation will practically put an end to bonding the county or state for roads, port improvements and probably very materially affect the bonding of school districts. The passage of this amendment will leave the county courts in such a position that it will be necessary for them to levy the limit each year to take care of emergencies, even though the amount of tax might be reduced in any one year the county courts could not take a chance of making a reduction.
 In the event that the county should, by reason of the railroad being built, double in population within a very short time and also in assessed valuation of the property, it would be impossible to meet the extra expense with a 6 per cent limitation and it would be necessary to refer the matter to a special election which is very expensive and there is a chance that it might not carry and the taxing powers would be left in a very deplorable predicament with an added expense and no way to meet it.
 Instead of being an aid to economy and a retrenchment in the expenditure of the public funds, it would, in the long run, lead us into extravagance, for, if it was necessary, or the taxing bodies considered it necessary, that the full limit should be levied each year and the taxes raised by reason thereof, the county courts would have this money on hand and, even though it were not necessary that such a sum should be raised or expended, it is common practice that when much money is laying idle to expend it in some supposed needed project.
 In the issue of the Evening Telegram of Thursday, October 19, on the editorial page is an editorial against this amendment which, I believe, solves the problem satisfactorily.
 I believe that the newspapers of the county should take an interest in this matter and if their ideas coincide with mine try to defeat this measure.
 Hoping that you will see your way clear to oppose this measure in the columns of your paper and thanking you in advance for your courtesy in the matter, I remain,
 Yours truly,
 JAMES WATSON,
 County Judge.

To Owners of Rural Telephone Lines

This Company is anxious to see that all lines owned by other parties and connected with its switchboards give efficient service. Where the owners of rural lines are responsible for their upkeep, we want to cooperate with them. All lines require a thorough overhauling occasionally if the best service is to be obtained. We recommend that every line be overhauled at least once a year, add that at least one experienced telephone man assist in this work. This cost will be more than offset by the improved service.
 If owners of rural telephone lines are experiencing trouble, we will appreciate their taking the matter up with us. We will gladly do what we can toward helping improve the line conditions.
