About Constipation
Certain articles of diet tend to check movements of the bowels. The most common of these are cheese, tea and boiled milk. On the other hand raw fruits, especially apples and bananas, also graham bread and whole wheat bread promote a movement of the bowels. When the bowels are badly constipated, however, the sure way is to take one or two of Chamberlain's tablets immediately after supper.

The Sixes Mining company, operating on the old Divilbiss property, made a clean up recently after a couple of months run, and Supt. Thomas has gone to San Francisco with the proceeds. The company is reticent about its business, not being one of the stock selling concerns that magnify and multiply every dollar taken out, and it is not known how much gold this run has yielded. However those who assisted in the work say that the clean up was a big one, and that the mine is undoubtedly paying well. The supposition that the company is doing well is further borne out by the fact that it is continuing to develop the mine on a large scale.—Port Orford Tribune.

Grandma Miller Dies

Grandma Mary Miller died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Peter Axe, near Bridge, at the age of eighty-two years, four months and fourteen days.

Mary Ann Miller (nee Evans) was born in Blunt county, Tennessee, Sept. 24, 1834. When she was four years of age her parents moved to the southern part of Missouri remaining there four years, when they went to make their home in the northern part of the same state. She was married February 3, 1853, to Martin Miller, who died Sept. 14, 1903. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were the parents of eleven children—seven boys and four girls—two of whom died in infancy and two later in life. The family came to Oregon in 1875. Among the relatives who mourn the passing of Grandma Miller are twenty-two grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren.

Mrs. Miller joined the Freewill Baptist church in 1858 and remained with that organization till 1864, when she united with the Christian church, of which she was a member at the time of her death.—Myrtle Point Enterprise.

New Form of Securities Created by Loan Act

(By Frank R. Wilson of the Federal Farm Loan Bureau.)

As explained before in these articles, the operations of the Farm Loan act are divided into two main classes—a money assembling agency and a money lending agency.

The government puts the first nest-egg into the farm loan plan by buying the original capital stock of the twelve Federal Land banks if necessary. When this has been loaned and farm mortgages taken in return for the money loaned the Federal Land banks may issue bonds against these mortgages.

These bonds will be among the most attractive securities ever offered to American investors. As explained before, farmers are permitted to borrow only up to 50 per cent of the value of their land. This means that every dollar's worth of bonds issued represents $2 worth of land as security.

The fact that each Federal Land bank guarantees the bonds of all the other banks also puts behind these bonds as security the nine million dollars original capital stock of the banks and their required surplus earnings, plus the required annual deduction of the mortgage loan.

Besides this, the security constantly increases proportionately by reason of the constantly increasing capital contributed by the Farm Loan association.

So the investment end of the Farm Loan act is fully as important as the money lending and because it creates for the benefit of small and large investors a security backed by pooled first mortgages on farm lands, the proceeds being used to increase the productive power and enhance the value of these mortgaged lands.

Since the rate of interest to the farmer depends upon the rate of interest at which these bonds will sell, congress went the limit to make these bonds attractive so they would sell at a low interest rate. The bonds are exempt from all forms of taxation. The government will not even collect any income tax upon them. No state or municipality may tax them for any purpose.

In order to make these bonds appeal to investors of all classes they are issued in denominations of from $25 to $1,000.

In order to protect them against counterfeiting they are issued by the United States government bureau of engraving and printing and protected from counterfeiters by the whole force of the United States secret service.

Heretofore it has been practically impossible for the small investor to buy real estate securities. A man or woman who wanted to buy $100 worth of farm securities was not able to find a farm mortgage of just that size.

In addition the investor would not buy such a mortgage without inspecting the security. The cost and the bother were barriers which made it almost impossible for the small investor to get first mortgage securities.

Hereafter it will be possible for any investor who wants to buy farm securities from $25 up merely to apply for a federal farm loan bond of the denominations desired.

The investor will know that this bond represents $2 worth of land appraised under government supervision and that the bond was issued under government regulation.

The rate of interest at which these bonds will be issued has not yet been determined by the federal farm loan board. It is safe to predict that in the beginning it will not be less than 4 and not more than 5 per cent.

So the benefits of the Farm Loan act are not limited to farmers who need the use of cheaper capital but they include also those persons who have money to invest and are seeking a long time, readily marketable security of undoubted value.

A Hint to the Aged
If people past sixty years of age could be persuaded to go to bed as soon as they take cold and remain in bed for one or two days, they would recover much more quickly, especially if they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There would also be less danger of the cold being followed by any of the more serious diseases.

When You Have a Cold

It is when you have a severe cold that you appreciate the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Frank Crocker, Pana, Illinois, writes: "Our five-year-old son Paul caught a severe cold last winter that settled on his lungs and he had terrible coughing spells. We were greatly worried about him as the medicine we gave him did not help him in the least. A neighbor spoke so highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that I got a bottle of it. The first dose benefited him so much that I continued giving it to him until he was cured."
