SAY EXPENSE TOO GREAT

bably be spent where the roads were graded, with no funds available when Coos county announced herself as properly prepared.

An amendment to Mr. Howard's motion was offered by F. B. Phillips that the investigating committee be authorized to draw on Coquille Commercial Club for not to exceed $50 for expenses.

This amendment was carried by a small majority but when the amended motion was put there was not a single vote in its favor.

Mr. Howard then moved that the chair appoint a representative to meet with the investigation committee the first of the week and report back to the club what action was taken. This motion was unanimously carried and the president has appointed Leo J. Cary, who has consented to act.

That the "croakers" who know but little about the truth of the stories they repeat, would bear none of the investigation expense, while those who are better posted and find no fault with road affairs would have to stand the expense, was the point most frequently made by the many men present who expressed themselves.

GOOD SERVICE IS PROMISED

No poles have as yet been received for the high power line of the Oregon Power Company but the work of digging the holes is still going ahead without interruption and there is little delay because of their non-arrival. Manager McKenna stated this morning that he had been promised a raft of poles this week and that the work of setting them will begin immediately upon the arrival of the first raft. The new foreman of line construction, J. A. Hammond, arrived Saturday and is now in charge of the work. All the wire for the line has now been received and is ready for the poles. Replying to a question regarding continuous power when the new line is up Manager McKenna stated that a new unit is now on the way for the power plant at the Smith mill which will carry as big a load as the two units now in use and that in the event of the failure of one plant the other will be immediately switched on so there will be little or no danger of a failure of power. Also the local plant will remain for a time for emergency work so Coquille is practically assured of a continuance of the almost perfect service she has enjoyed since the new company took charge and installed the plant at the local mill.

Howard Will Go to Eugene.

Superintendent C. A. Howard, of our city schools, has resigned his position here and accepted an offer from the school board at Eugene to become principal of the city high school there. Last Saturday Mr. Howard, who had not applied for that place, was called up by phone and requested to come to Eugene and meet the school officials there. He went and after his return home, on yesterday, the place was tendered him. As the high schools there numbers 600 pupils, the change is not only a step up in school work, but carries with it a better salary than Mr. Howard was receiving here, where the total enrollment is only about two-thirds of the number in the school of which he is to take charge there.

Mr. Howard came here six years ago to accept the superintendency of our city schools and during all those years he has devoted himself to the work with such diligence, fidelity and efficiency that there is probably no school in the state in a city of less than five thousand people that ranks higher than the Coquille school, while Mr. Howard is everywhere recognized in the teaching profession as standing well towards the front.

In organization and teaching methods Mr. Howard has done much for our city schools, though not nearly as much as he would have been able to do but for the unfortunate hitch in the movement for the erection of a high school building which has already postponed its construction for three years, and may as many more still.

Both Mr. Howard and his accomplished wife have come to occupy an enviable position in our social circles, and he has also been active in Commercial Club work and taken a man's place among men in all the varied activities of our city life.

Coquille may be esteemed especially fortunate if she secures as a successor to Mr. Howard at the head of her public schools a man who comes anywhere near measuring up to Mr. Howard's stature as an educator and in all the other relations of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard expect to remain here until September.

Vacancies Are All Filled.

The corps of teachers for the Coquille schools is now complete, the new selections being as follows: High School, science and athletics, L. C. Douglas; Grammar grade history, science and drawing, Gladys Treadgold; Fifth grade, Martha Mulkey; Fourth grade, Joan Fitzgerald.

Mr. Douglas is a graduate of Willamette University and is at present taking post graduate work at Oregon University.

Miss Treadgold is a graduate of the high school at Boise, Idaho, and has had one year's work in normal training and one year in Behnke-Walker Business College. She has taught school for three years, being employed for a part of this time as instructor in the business college.

Mrs. Mulkey is a graduate of Klamath County High School and Oregon State Normal. Her previous teaching experience has been in Klamath county where she gained an excellent reputation for strong and successful work. While in the Normal she specialized in fifth grade work.

Miss Fitzgerald is a graduate of the Marshfield high school and has taken one year's work in the normal department of McMinnville College. For the last four or five years she has been accounted one of the successful teachers of Coos county.

The corps of teachers are as follows:

High School
Principal—J. W. Noblet.
History and Languages—Ad—May Newell.

English—Mabel Bay.
Science—L. C. Douglas.

Andy Davis Promoted.
Coos county friends have received word that Andy P. Davis, former lumber inspector and later deputy sheriff here, has been promoted to supervisor of the Washington Inland district, embracing about 43 mills. He is making his headquarters at Seattle. He says that the I. W. W. have raised havoc with a number of plants for the time being.

Marriage Licenses.

During the past seven days the following marriage licenses were issued by County Clerk Oddy:

August 4—Thomas O. Krewsen and Linnie Frances Benham, of Sitkum.

August 4—Stanley P. Bartlett, of Coquille, and Christine Alice McIntosh, of Bandon.

August 7—Fay Elliott and Opal Powell, of South Slough.

August 7—Everett C. Crocker and Bessie G. F. Immel, of Marshfield.

Births.

Dr. Low reports,
July 26—To Mr. and Mrs. Finis Houser in this city, a daughter.

July 30—To Mr. and Mrs. Marion Miller at Brewster a son.

August 2—To Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Cary in this city a 14-pound son.

Chronic Constipation.

It is by no means an easy matter to cure this disease, but it can be done in most instances by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and complying with the plain printed directions that accompany each package.

Revisits Coquille.

David Steiner, of Salem, paid Coquille a visit this week for the first time since the court house was built. Mr. Steiner was at that time a member of the firm of Steiner & Blosser, Plumbers, of Salem, and his firm put the roof on the county building. When he left Coquille at that time he stated that he would come back when Coos county had a railroad and not until. This visit is the result of that declaration. Mr. Steiner stated today that he would not have recognized the city and that had he not known that it must be right where it is he would not have believed it was Coquille. He and his party left on the evening train for Marshfield.

East Fork Items.

Harold Shepherd shot a bear Friday. He thinks it dressed out about 200 pounds. It made good eating and had a good skin.

It is said that Wm. Smith has a good crop of corn.

J. S. Mater left for Casper, Wyoming, last Friday morning. It is expected that two of his nieces will return with him.

W. J. Murphy, Mrs. Murphy and children, of Marshfield, were enjoying a change of climate and scenery on the East Fork last week. Ford made it possible for lots of folks to afford a change of scene and a night or two in a tent.

It strikes me that it is not necessary to take Myrtle Point's kick against County Roadmaster Murdock seriously for County Judge Watson's statement several weeks ago showed that Myrtle Point roads were getting a large share of county money.

The Myrtle Point "port" scheme that was put across is proof enough that the interest there, is all a local interest, not an interest for the county as a whole. Isn't that "port" a stinger? I have not read or seen any one who knows what the Point folks are kicking about. Why did they not kick before the money was wasted putting a road over Cooper mountain?

Lots of that money went into Myrtle Point, didn't it? I heard a man say that Murdock don't know how to work a surveying instrument, it was told for a fact. Am not sure that those who told it would know a surveying instrument if they saw one. The writer would be in the same fix, for if he saw a thing on a tripod he might think it was a camera, but this he does know, it is the first time that we are getting that which looks as though we were getting roads and that also, in due course of time, we might have a water grade road down the East and North Forks finished to Myrtle Point. The trouble with the Myrtle Points may be this, that Murdock lets them know where the money goes and that it has to be earned.

July 24 William Culbertson, of Gravel Ford, celebrated his 86th birthday. A family picnic was held in Bennett's grove at which were gathered his sons and daughters, their families, and some of the neighbors. When the Culbertsons, the Hellers and the Brights are rounded up there are some numbers. A few of the grandchildren and great grandchildren were too far away to be present. Mr. Culbertson carries his years easy and does not carry a frown.

If you want to know Billie 2 and his kind real well read "Darker than the Dark Ages," in Successful Farming for August. Plenty of light will knock out that dark spot. The Germans are getting an introduction to themselves.

New Guide Book.

We are in receipt of an attractive booklet, entitled "Camping, Fishing and Hunting Guide," which was compiled by the Forest Service and published by the Southern Pacific Company. The Forest Reserves of Western Oregon with roads, trails, resorts, camping places, mountains, fishing, streams and lakes are described in detail. Complete instructions are given to prepare for a hunting or fishing trip, even to cooking utensils and amount and quantity of food. This booklet contains much useful information regarding Western Oregon and will be invaluable to anyone contemplating a fishing, hunting or camping trip in that territory. Copies can be obtained from any Southern Pacific Agent, or will be furnished on application to the General Passenger Department of the Southern Pacific at Portland.

Gold Beach Reporter.

The largest scalp warrant ever issued in this county was secured by W. M. Hunter Friday last. He put in a claim for 596 seal scalps at $3 a head, and received a warrant for $1,788.

Messrs. Cummins and Mann, who have been interested in copper properties in the Craggies, were at Wedderburn during the week. They are opening up the property out there, and believe they have a good proposition.

With bad forest fires burning in Douglas, Jackson and Josephine counties, some parts of Coos and some points in Curry, it begins to look as if the time had come when the forestry department was about to reap that immense crop of brush they have been so carefully growing and zealously protecting in the reserve for the past ten years.
