VOL. I. ASHLAND, JACKSON COUNTY, OREGON, THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1889. NO. 46.

VALLEY RECORD.

Published at Ashland, in the flourishing Rogue River Valley. The leading town of Southern Oregon, population 2,500, junction of O & C and S P R R. Leading industries—fruit raising, mining, manufacturing, stock raising and farming.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Miles C. Moore, of Walla Walla, has been appointed Governor of W. T.

Southern Democratic papers speak more respectfully of President Harrison than Democratic papers of the North.

Mrs. Lucy Stone says: "We shall never have the churches full of men until the pulpits are filled with women."

No Presidential election for four years now, and therefore nothing to interrupt the other National game. Let the baseball roll.

There are now forty-two states. The republicans should look around for five more to make it forty-seven—to match the average tariff duty.

A Presbyterian cabinet—Oregonian: President Harrison and every member of his cabinet, excepting Secretaries Proctor and Rusk, are Presbyterians.

Senator Chase of Rhode Island is a Quaker. He is tired of public life and proposes to resign out of it. It is seldom that the spirit moves a Senator to resign. The last case was Riddleberger's.

Sir Julian Pauncefote is the reputed successor of Lord Sackville Bounceforth at Washington. Sir Julian is said to be a ponderous, fat-witted fellow. Let's give them old Blair as a fair exchange.

A Portland gentleman, John Carr, who has just returned from Washington, says more Oregonians had applied for office under the present administration than for the total of several of the preceding administrations.

John C. New is consul-general at London, and Fred. Grant minister to Austria-Hungary. He was not given the Chinese mission on account of his inexperience. Whitelaw Reid, of the N. Y. Tribune, goes as minister to France.

We make no rash prediction when we venture the prophecy that the McKee baby will have much influence with the head of the administration. A good word from that quarter would be worth a great deal to any applicant for appointment.—[Ex.

New Hampshire does not seem to be impressed by the example of her neighbors, Maine and Vermont, for she rejects Prohibition by a large majority. Perhaps there is a commercial reason in it. There's money in being a "wet" state right between two "dry" ones.

It is estimated that the public debt statement will show an increase in the debt for the current month of $7,000,000, caused by the excess of expenditures over receipts. And yet our contemporaries contend that Congress can go on indefinitely making all sorts of new appropriations without nearing the bottom of the surplus.

Bishop J. P. Newman was tendered a reception at Buffalo, New York, by Methodist clergymen. To those present he said: "Grover Cleveland has been the hardest working man we ever had in the White House, and he has left everything cleaned up. His blunders have been blunders against himself. He must be set down as one of our best Presidents."

The demand for Mrs. Cleveland's picture is said by the dealers to rank next to that for Martha Washington's. These two are the primates of popularity amongst all the ladies of the White House. Of the present Presidential family the picture of baby McKee is the most popular. If one can be had when little Mac is in the act of sucking his toe, it will make a photographer's fortune.

The horde of office seekers now surrounding President Harrison regard him as a quartermaster elected to deal out offices to the members of that peculiar political organization, and they will value him personally in the degree indicated by his submission and docility. He will find this one of the potent reasons why he should not be a candidate for re-election, if he tries to do his work conscienciously.

"How shall those who practice election frauds recover that respect for the sanctity of the ballot which is the first condition and obligation of good citizenship? The man who has come to regard the ballot box as a juggler's box has renounced his allegiance to it." The above is an extract from the inaugural address of President Harrison. Exit Dudley, Dorsey & Co. Wanamaker and Blaine have got away with the soup.

A great many people wonder why Mr. Cleveland was so anxious to settle down to hard work as a lawyer instead of taking a vacation after resigning the Presdency. The fact is that Mr. Cleveland is not happy when he is not busy. He rejoices in the scratching of a pen, the rustle of important papers, the subdued sounds of earnest conversation, the tonic influence of the presence of far-reaching affairs, and against all this the charms of leisure weigh with him not at all. Mr. Cleveland is a hustler who grows while hustling. The only idleness that he covets is the idleness of the fisherman, and even when fishing he is a busy man—fighting gnats and landing more fish than anybody else.

The East Portland Vindicator in the course of a long article on the superior fitness of young men over old ones for legislative work, pays the following handsome and deserved tribute to two young members of the late legislature:

"And right here an illustration may be given with which all are familiar: There were two young members in the lower house of the late legislature—Hon. Jeff. Myers, of Linn county, and Hon. Robt. A. Miller, of Jackson. The former is in his twenty-sixth year and the latter a few years older. The young men returned to their homes taking with them the confidence and respect of all with whom they came in contact. They displayed an adaptability to the duties of the positions they were called to fill, by the manly course they pursued, and the manifest purity of the motives by which they were governed."

EAGLE POINT NOTES.

Since my last your correspondent has had the pleasure of visiting your beautiful city, the first time since last fall, and I must say I never saw a place improve so rapidly—one would think that it would be necessary for our legislature to meet semi-annually instead of bi-annually, if for no other reason than to amend the charter of your flourishing city, for the way it is growing it will soon absorb Dunsmuir and Talent and consequently the charter will have to be amended to meet the emergency.

We have had a fine rain in this part of the country and farmers are confident of good crops.

One cause of rejoicing among our farmers is on account of the new saw mill being in full headway cutting lumber, right in hearing of our town, and the sound of the whistle seems to impart new life and vigor to our community.

J. J. Fryer had another runaway the other day, but no damage was done, except tearing the cultivator to pieces.

Mr. Jones, an old and experienced teacher who has been secured to teach the school at this place, expects to begin the term on the 25th inst.

Mr. John Pelling, one of our best citizens, met with quite a mishap a few days ago by being run over by some loose horses that happened to go into his stable while the door was tem porarily left open. Although he was knocked down and run over by three or four horses, his injuries are not serious.

Miss Cora Brown is visiting friends in your city.

A. J. Daley has been putting some new machinery in his flouring mill and, consequently, is turning out an excellent quality of flour.

Mrs. Cochran and daughter, Belle, have returned from their visit to Mrs. Cochran's daughter in Nevada. They say there is no climate like that of Jackson county, Oregon.

About Klamath River.

The following communication from Linkville will be interesting to many of our readers:

Considerable interest was taken at Linkville, Oregon, the 7th of this month. The Klamath River Improvement Company had got a bill through the Oregon legislature, giving the county courts of the different counties of the state power to declare unnavigable streams highways, for the purpose of floating logs, lumber and timber, and provide for such improvements, by leasing the streams to interested parties, requiring a bond for the faithful performance of the work.

D. P. Thompson, of Portland, Oregon, being a member of the House, having a personal spite against one of the interested parties, became at once a lively opponent of the bill, claiming first it was unconstitutional, and finally, as a swindle and monopoly, but without avail; the bill passed. Then he tried to get the Governor to veto it, but failed there. Judge Moore, of Klamath county, being a brother-in law, D. P. Thompson applied for a lease of all the streams tributary to Klamath lake and Klamath river and all its tributaries, praying the court to allow him to control Klamath county.

The Klamath River Improvement Company felt Judge Moore was human and would favor his brother-in-law and R. S. & C. S. Moore, his sons, as they joined in the applications for the improvement of the streams. The Improvement Company were disposed to allow Mr. Thompson to have the improvement of the Klamath river, but insisted on a reasonable rate of toll, and that improvements should commence at once. The court was in favor of giving Mr. Thompson time to consider his undertaking and a decision was postponed until April 8th.

Cigars from Yakima Tobacco.

Vice-President William Ker, of the Moxee company, left for Portland Monday to make the necessary arrangements for starting a cigar factory on the Moxee. It will be remembered that some time ago Mr. Ker, as an experiment, had some of the Moxee tobacco, of the crop of 1887, made up into cigars. Some of these were sent East and were so highly appreciated that orders for a number of thousand were received. This has induced Mr. Ker to take the present step. The crop of 1888 is pronounced fully 75 per cent. better in quality than that of 1887, owing to experience and knowledge gained in the growing, and experts claim that cigars made from this tobacco will excel any made from domestic leaf. A sweating machine has already been received, and Mr. Ker, while in Portland, will place the contracts for boxes and labels, and secure competent hands to do the manufacturing.—[Yakima (W. T.) Herald.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker is making just a little bit too much parade of his well established piety. When it comes to having his prayers wired by the associated press, we should say that he has reached the limit. Likewise the information from the White House that the official family worship, is an offensive surplus. The relations of men to their God are purely personal and private matter, and a decent respect for propriety will keep it private. To parade such things is more emetic than polite.—[Alta.

A maiden's artifice: Artful Amy—"Algernon, in parliamentary usage, what does the presiding officer say when a matter is put to a vote?" Unsuspecting Algernon—"Are you ready for the question?" A. A.—Y-yes, Algernon, I think I am."

R. W. Minto, stock raiser of Eagleville, informs us, says the Alturas "Era," that salt and saltpetre, placed where cattle can lick it, will cure blackleg and will prevent the spread of the disease among healthy stock. He mixes four pounds of saltpetre with twenty-four of salt, thoroughly pulverizing the compound. He says that cattle died on both sides of his place with the disease, while he lost but one calf, and it never had a chance to reach the lick-log. Minto informs us that the above is an infallible remedy. Our stockmen should cut this out and paste it in their note-books.

Two eastern gentlemen met in an Albany real estate office. They were talking about the climate in their respective states. "I came from Minneapolis," said one. "I came from Minneapolis, too," said the other, "and I know it from top to bottom." "I was there," said No. 1, "long before it was a city." It transpired that one of them located there in 1854 and the other in 1852, but had never heard of each other, though then there was not even a village there. This is a curious and great world, and the streams of life run strangely.—[Democrat.

The Bangor "Commercial" has the courage to relate that two fishermen at Pushaw Lake, who baited a hook with a shiner and put it through the ice, noticing a great commotion presently, took it from the water, when it was found that a white perch weighing half a pound had first swallowed the bait and then an enormous pickerel had swallowed the perch and its prize. It is said that the goods were produced to vow for the story.

London, March 20—The blue book on Samoan affairs was issued to-day. It contains 356 dispatches, the dates ranging from April 29, 1885, to February 25, 1889. The dispatches show England to have been throughout in cordial accord with America, and that she declined to accede to Germany's request for assistance and co-operation in the restoring of order in Samoa until she had learned the American government's views on the subject.

Ex-Mayor Hewitt and Edward Cooper, proprietors of the New Jersey Steel and Iron Works at Trenton, N. J., have been traveling in the iron regions south for several weeks on a tour of investigation. As a result, it is said that about Abril 1 their works will be removed to Chatanooga. Much of the raw iron and coal supply has been coming from there, and the company has found a large market in that region. The works employ 1300 men.

Y., March 19th.—Prof. Brooks, director of the Smith College observatory, has obtained several observations of the new white region of Saturn's ring, and announces the discovery that the light is variable, and that pulsations of light at irregular intervals have been detected by him. This evidence of a change in Saturn's system is of the highest scientific interest.

A daughter of Editor Mortimer, of New Bloomfield, Pa., brought up out of the cellar a large head of cabbage for the family's Sunday dinner. She cut it open and immediately began to scream loudly. A member of the family ran in and found a snake nearly 2 feet long squirming around on the table. It had been snugly coiled around the cabbage head under the outer leaves, where it had probably been making its quarters all winter.

MITCHELL'S OPPORTUNITY.

Portland World, Dem.]

President Harrison starts out with the idea that the representatives in Congress shall suggest names for the appointments of the Federal officers for the respective States, and his duty will be nothing more than a sort of clerical employment in signing his name to the commissions. If that resolution lasts long the Oregonian's good friend, John H. Mitchell, will have an opportunity to get in some fine work. Mitchell is the most popular leader of the Oregon Republicans, and he probably has a larger personal following than any other man. He is able and urbane and possesses a lasting remembrance of his friends. At all times he prides nimself in beinig one of "the boys." Scarcely a State Republican Convention has ever been held in Oregon that was not composed of a large majority of Mr. Mitchell's friends. That he will provide for these friends in every way possible no one can deny, and Mr. Harrison's defference to the judgment of Congressmen, in the matter of making appointments, will make Carrie Price's lover a greater man than ever. The New York Herald once said that Gen. Butler was like a grain of popcorn—the more he was scorched the bigger he swelled. The same is pretty true of Hon. John H. Mitchell. A certain class of Republicans has been trying for years to dispose of him, and he is now the greatest leader the "moral party" has in Oregon, and that he has the ability to get away with the bulk of the federal patronage there can be no question, and why should there be? He is as good as his party and has been a far better representative than his distinguished colleague in the Senate.

It is a pity to see faithful Democratic office holders replaced by Republicans, but there would be considerable satisfaction in knowing that the Republicans appointed are John H. Mitchell men.

A PUBLIC SCANDAL.

The appointment and confirmation of John Wanamaker as Postmaster-General, without protest from a single journal or leader of the Republican party, is an extraordinary incident. The caustic and dreaded "Junius," in writing to a corrupt politician of his time, said: "If you choose to keep a mistress, that is a matter of your own private concience. But when you flaunt her in public places it is an offence against pohtical morals." If the Republican leaders choose to make use of a canting Pharisee to collect corruption funds for the purpose of carrying elections, that is a matter of their private conciences. But when they reward this purveyor to bribers by giving him a cabinet office it is a shameless offence against public morals. Mr. Wanamaker never before held an office of public trust. He is as ignorant of the public business as he is of matters of higher statesmanship. His only claim to political distinction is that he raised $400,000 and turned it over to Boss Quay, a notorious corruptionist and the pardoner of bribers, upon the latter's assurance that the money should be used to help elect Harrison. Of the exact manner of its use Mr. Wanamaker has said: "I didn't want to know." And for this service he is made a Cabinet officer! President Harrison's grandfather would have kicked out of his room any politician who should have dared to make such a suggestion to him.—[N. Y. World.

Kiss But Never Tell.

Governor Waterman is charged with a very serious offense by the Sacramento Bee. Among the delegation that attended from Glenn county, was Miss Delia Johnson, of Willows. The young lady is fair as to face and form, and there must have been something in the twinkle of her roguish black eyes that reminded the Governor of the days when he was young. At any rate he looked after her as she passed along, and said in his unusual brusque way:

"Well, you look sweet enough to kiss."

"You can kiss me if you want to," quickly responded the fair advocate of Glenn county, looking over her shoulder and blushing.

"I can," exclaimed the Governor, and he stepped forward, took Miss Johnson's pretty face between his hands, and give her a "smack" that could have been heard up in the dome.

The incident was loudly applauded, and the young lady, laughing and blushing, tripped up the middle aisle and out of the building.

DOLPH'S WAGON ROAD LAW.

That is claimed to have been framed in the interest of the owners of military wagon land grants:

Be it enacted, etc., that it is hereby made the duty of the attorney-general, upon six months after the passage of this act, to cause suit or suits to be brought, in the name of the United States, in the United States circuit court for the district of Oregon, against all persons, firms or corporations claiming to own or to have an interest in the lands granted to the state of Oregon by the following enumerated acts of congress, to wit: An act granting lands to the state of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military road from Eugene City to the eastern boundary of said state, approved July 2, 1864; an act granting lands to the state of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military road from Albany, to the eastern boundary of said state, approved July 5, 1866; an act granting lands to the said state of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military road from Dalles City, on the Columbia river, to Fort Boise, on the Snake river, approved February 25, 1867; to determine the question of the seasonable and proper constitution of said roads in accordance with the granting acts, either in whole or in part, the legal effect or the several certificates of the governors of the state of Oregon of the completion of said roads, and the right of resumption of such granted lands by the United States and to obtain judgment, which the court is hereby authorized to render, declaring forfeited to the United States such lands as are conterminous with the part or parts of either of said wagon roads which were not constructed in accordance with the requirements of the granting acts, and setting aside the patents which have been issued for any such lands, saving and preserving the rights of all bona-fide purchasers on either of said grants or any portion of said grants for a valuable consideration, if any such there be. Said suit or suits shall be tried and adjudicated in like manner and by the same principles and rules of jurisprudence as other suits in equity are therein tried, with the right to a writ of error or appeal by either or any party, as in other cases.

If any person, firm or corporation, having or claiming an interest in any of said lands, shall be made defendant in such suit or suits, and in the judgment of said court be a necessary or proper party defendant, and shall not be an inhabitant of nor found within the said district, and shall not voluntarily appear thereto, it shall be lawful for the court to make an order directing said absent defendant, or defendants, to appear, plead, answer or deny by a certain day to be designated; which order shall be served upon each absent defendant or defendants in the manner prescribed in section 8 of an act entitled "An act to determine the jurisdiction of circuit courts of the United States and to regulate the removal of causes from state courts, and for other purposes," approved March 3, 1875. Provided that in said circuit court said suit or suits shall be advanced to hearing in preference to all other civil suits on the dockets; and provided further, that no right of appeal shall exist after six months from the entering of a final decree in said circuit court.

SEC. 2. That the state of Oregon, and any person or corporation claiming any interest under or through the grants aforesaid in the lands to be effected by said suit or suits, and whether made a party thereto or not, may intervene therein by sworn petition to defend his interest therein as against the United States, or against each other, and affecting the said question of forfeiture, and may upon such petition of intervention also put in issue and have adjudicated, judicated and determined, any other question whether of law or of fact, which may be in dispute between said intervener and the United States, and affecting the right or title to any part of the lands claimed to have been embraced with the grants of lands by the United States to or for either of said wagon roads.

Should the lands embraced within said grants, or either of them, or any portion thereof, be declared forfeited by the final determination of said suit, or suits, the same shall be immedaitely restored to the public domain and become subject to disposal under the general land laws And should the final determination of such suit, or suits, maintain the right of the aforesaid wagon road grantees, or their assignees, to the lands embraced in said grants, the secretary of the interior shall forthwith adjust such grants in accordance with such determination, and shall cause patents to be issued for the lands inuring to said grantees under said wagon road grants and which have been unpatented.

Provided, further, that the lands actually settled upon, or occupied and used as a homestead, or for agricultural or grazing purposes, in cases in which such settler or occupant has acquired the title of the state of Oregon under the grants recited in the first section of this act to the same, not exceeding one section to any one settler, or occupant, shall not be included in such suit, and such settler, or occupant shall not be made a party thereto, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.
