HAD THE RACE WON.

An Old Story. A story of the Kentucky Derby with a twist. The Kentucky Derby, run at Louisville, is copied from a Memphis paper.

What did the Derby do to you? "What did the Derby do to you?" asked the other.

"I would have sold my tickets for $15, when the horse was in the race."

"Ship, ahoy!" I shouted through my trumpet.

"I was a year after that I was at Baltimore and took a walk on the beach."

Early Building Associations. From data that seem reliable we learn that the first building association in this country was organized in a suburb of the city of Philadelphia.

Styies in Whiskers. I learned by tradition that a Frenchman in the city of Paris was the first to use a safety razor.

The Electric Motor. It is plain, then, that we can set up an electric motor in a conductor by merely transferring power from one point to another.

SHOT AT A PHANTOM SHIP.

It Brings to Light the Record of a Lost Vessel—The Specter Ship Had Silver Sails, Silken Ropes and Shrouds of Gold.

The members of the Annapolis club were playing their fancies, and in language quite emphatic were finding fault with the weather.

"Forty-two years ago I was in command of the brig Three Jacks, as staunch a craft as ever plowed the racing main."

"I was a year after that I was at Baltimore and took a walk on the beach."

VICTIMS OF THE PUZZLE.

A Strange Fascination for the Indolent Man—He Sees, He Tries, He Conquers. His Final Days Spent in the Innate Astonishment—The Greatest Puzzle.

When a man gets really to go crazy one reason may be assigned as another. He has simply to let go his hold on the sensible things of life, and the first crochets of his wandering fancy is liable to be the method of his mania throughout.

There is something about a puzzle which has a peculiar attraction for an idle man. He has found mental effort irksome, and bodily activity quite out of the question, but he sees some other wreck busy with a cipher, and he tries to do it.

HURTFUL OCCUPATIONS.

Engraving Which Injures the Eye, Lungs or Other Organs. There are many occupations in which the eyes have to suffer, as very small objects must be critically reviewed, frequently by the aid of a microscope.

Engravers, lapidaries, watchmakers and sewing girls are subject to affections of the eye, due to the above mentioned causes. The most common is a disease known as a strained eye, which is caused by a constant strain on the eye muscles.

STRANGE AND GLASTLY.

Why He Found Pleasure in the Pursuit. Telltale Conversations—A Young Lady Assistant Who Fell in Love with a Dead Man and Went Insane.

One of the oldest undertakers in San Francisco recently told an Examiner reporter that he would not exchange occupations with any man in the land. Said he: "I tell you there is a singular fascination in ministering to the wants of the dead, in placing over them garlands of flowers, neatly arranging their white faces, and laying their pale bodies in the last casket."
