

VALLEY RECORD.

ASHLAND, OR., THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1900

Ultra republican papers cannot see anything good in New Mexico and are opposed to her admission to the Union.

Newly Bir, who is racing around the world with Miss Elizabeth Hilsand, stopped in Niles, France, Saturday and interviewed Verne, the author of "Around the world in eighty days," who said it was impossible under the most favorable conditions to make the trip in less than seventy-nine days.

The editor of the Washington Independent is not to be trifled with. He says: Let those fellows who owe this office remember they will be pulled when they undertake to leave the county before settling such accounts. We fetched one to time last week just before he boarded the train.

California pears are being shipped in now. This is unusual for this time of the year, and is due to Oregon's light crop. We generally have a few early in the season, before the local supply begins coming in, but a regular shipment of California pears at this season is said to be almost unprecedented. The importation will doubtless continue—Oregonian.

The lease of the Louisiana Railway is now drawing to a close, ending by statute limitation in 1892, and now the managers have offered to give the city of New Orleans a public library building, to cost no less than $100,000, and pay the debt of the state of Louisiana, amounting to over $12,000,000, in addition thereto, provided its charter be extended for a period of fifty years. Its annual business amounts to $25,000,000 they can afford the bribe.

C. C. Beckman is now being run for congress instead of for governor by the exchange. A late one says: Papers throughout the country are already beginning to talk of a candidate for congress at the June election. Binger Hermann, the present incumbent, is favorably spoken of, and there seems to be no opposition of force to his renomination. The Heppner Gazette, Eastern Oregon, is in favor of Hermann, provided there is no good candidate from that section. Hon. W. R. Ellis, of Morrow county, is mentioned, as well as C. C. Beckman, of Jackson.

The Oregonian says that it is silly to charge Vice-President Morton with keeping a saloon. The idea, you know! The Washington Post, the Administration organ of the capital, is certainly good authority on Levi's whisky joint. It says: "James K. Keenan is only Mr. Morton's manager. Everything in the hotel, including the stock of wines and liquors, is owned by Mr. Morton, and he derives whatever benefit may result from the sale of liquor to guests." So that now, as the case stands, Mr. Morton had his manager procure a license to keep the saloon, but pockets all the profits from the whisky.

Portland World:—If there is really an effort to deny Binger Hermann in Douglas county among the Republicans, it will doubtless succeed. State Senator, J. C. Fullerton, has an old score to settle with the honorable Congressman, and would be pleased to take advantage of an opportunity to dilodge him. It was Fullerton and Fullerton's influence that nominated Hermann in the first place and then only for a single term. But the wily Binger still remains on deck.

The Oregonian denies that Vice-Prosi Morton has a bar in his Washington hotel. And the Oregonian is correct in its statement. Mr. Morton has, however, a buffet, from which drinks are served to guests of the house who patronize the dining room. He does not wear a white apron himself, and carry a tray with his burden of bottles and glasses, but his hired man is careful that that duty is attended to.

Capt. James Hill, of the lost tug Fearless, in '90 was working in a sawmill at Coos Bay and was taken as a deck hand on the old tug of that name by Capt. J. A. Brown, of Portland. He worked his way up and about 15 years ago was made captain of the new tug Fearless, just lost. Capt. Brown sought the idea of the boat's being wrecked through leakage. His theory is that Hill miscalculated his fuel, and in crossing the Rogue river bar, which has two heavy breakers, to get slab wood, was struck across by one wave and her wheel ropes fouled, the next breaker turning her over.

Deputy United States Marshal W. W. Roberts is back from a trip to Linkville, where he went to subpoena witnesses in the case of Dodd and Walker, arrested in that section on a charge of robbing the mail. They have been in jail here for some time and their trial is set for the 29th inst. Mr. Roberts narrowly missed being present at the holding up of a stage and robbing of a mail while going, as the stage from Aser to Klamath was robbed the next travel he passed over the line. He traveled in company with the judge and attorney of that district, and if the robber had only selected their stage for his victim he could have been caught, and tried and sentenced on the spot.—Oregonian.

Woodville Items. Eugene Trumble has gone to Josephine county to superintend Simmons' mine.

John W. Robinson has erected a new residence on his farm on Warren's creek. Very improvement and new faces are quite numerous in this section.

John Crumrine has rented John W. Robinson's place on Evans creek; he will also farm part of the Hammond place.

Stanley & Howell have suspended work on the ledge. They have lots of ore on the dump, ready for water. The miners are anticipating a wet winter and most of them are well prepared for it.

Our merchant, W. V. Jones, has moved into his new house, and is ready to receive.

J. C. Rush and Joe Breeding two former residents of Evans Cr. arrived from Prineville the 21st. They intend staying all winter. They report 4 inches of snow on Beaver Marsh as they came through.

The daily stage on the Linkville-Aser road makes twenty miles in eight hours coming into Aser since the wet weather has commenced. This "stinky" lies on the C. Florida side of the line, and as it is not reached by the last appropriation of the $15,000, it is now in order for the next Oregon legislature to appropriate another $15,000 for the benefit of California. And the honorable and esteemed Jackson county delegation will have another fine chance to go hunting wood-piles, cellars and hay-mows while the vote is being taken. Nevertheless Grubb's express is still running on that "haw-wid" island-Linkville road, and besides about a dozen farmers' teams that went out well loaded, three double-action regulation freight wagons have also rolled out over the Ashland road the past week. This is the road that patronizes Oregon without an appropriation or even a mail route. One of the important queries before the people of Oregon in the future is what next important interest will be damaged by the rottenness of our legislature and the lying misrepresentations of Oregon's chief newspaper.

Needs Looking After. A robust, stout, healthy kick is being registered against Ashland by the farmers and others that have occasion to come into town on business from the lower or north-western end of town, on account of the dangerous and impassable condition of the bridge and bridge approaches. Particularly is this the case with the Wrights creek bridge (?). Every ordinarily informed person knows that this is not only the main highway up and down the western pacific coast, but in this section is the only public highway through the state, county and town. The importance of its maintenance in good order is obvious. Its terrible condition is incalculable. Travelers over it say hanging is good enough for the authorities who allow it to remain so. As the honorable county court is as slow as the 7 years itch in altering this course of over a year's standing, we would suggest the loan of Wannamaker's hat, that it may be passed among the business men of town, dynamic touched to the present affair and a new bridge that is a bridge presented to Jackson county. In the meantime it would not be had to look around for a good, competent commissioner from this end of the country who will be able to look after its needs. The election is not many months hence.

Better Without Sympathy. Linkville Star. A Klamath county lady calling herself "Ella" has poured a great unfulfilling of we upon the first page of that cheerful paper the VALLEY RECORD. She must surely find some cheer in refusing to be comforted, since "even sympathy seems like those cold blasts of a November night."

The latest land contest decided for the Lakeview district is that of A. F. Canter vs Oregon central military road Co. Canter is the successful party. Henry Conn's house on Look river, was completely destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. Mr. Mozier was the tenant, and the building caught fire while his wife lay sick and he was some distance away cutting down sage brush. He held flames just in time to save the life of his wife. The family lost their all, and are entitled to the sympathy of the people. The house was insured by the owner.—Linkville Star.

Southern Oregon Turkeys. Portland Oregonian, 28th. Commission dealers complain of a scarcity of turkeys in this market. There were plenty coming in ten days ago, and they were selling at 13 cents per pound live weight. Now they are 15 cents per pound live weight, with an upward tendency. The chief source of supply for this city of turkeys, venison, water-melons and peaches in Southern Oregon, and now the California people draw largely on that section for turkey, and the dealers on the Sound who have heretofore drawn supplies from this city, have gone out to Southern Oregon and made contracts for large quantities of turkeys, paying twenty cents per pound dressed. It is going to be cold weather—snowy on the ground—if Portland gets left in the matter of Thanksgiving or Christmas turkeys, and it may be confidently expected that a supply will turn up from some quarter, even if our dealers may not have made contracts for full supplies.

Thanksgiving day would be robbed of its principal charm if a turkey dinner was not forthcoming, for only a truly good man, which the same are mighty scarce in Portland and the regions round about, could be truly thankful on Thanksgiving without turkey for dinner.

The orders for the sale of the Ft. Klamath military and hay reservations are on file at the Lakeview land office. They are from the secretary of the interior and the name of the officer who is to sell them and the date of sale are blank. The secretary of the interior has asked the commissioner of the general land office to name a person who shall sell the reservations to the highest bidder, which person will either be a special agent of the department or the receiver of the Lakeview land office.

The National Grange want U. S. senators elected by the people direct.

Jacksonville Jottings. A. S. Hammond was over from Ashland Monday.

Will Lytle has returned from Klamath City, Cal.

Chas. Prim has returned from his trip to Portland.

D. L. Curtis was over from his sawmill Monday.

Chas. Judge, of Ashland, is clerking in J. Nunan's store.

Capt. Saltmarsh, of Ashland, was in town Monday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cronmiller, Nov. 24, a son.

Thos. Schultz has returned from his trip to Crescent City.

Ed Hanley is in from Harney valley and will remain here during the winter.

J. T. Hoover has finished his school at Uniontown and returned to Ashland.

Walter Plymale, who has been visiting at Yreka for a week past, returned home Wednesday.

Hubert Donegan, who has returned from Oakland, Cal., will spend the winter on his father's farm in San's valley.

Hon. Theo. Cameron has returned from a visit to Taline creek, where he has been looking after his mining interests.

Dr. J. W. Robinson, who has been quite sick the past few weeks, is convalescing, which his many friends are glad to hear.

D. Linn was elected school director at a call meeting at the school house Monday, Nov. 25, to fill the unexpired term of J. W. Merritt.

Prof. J. B. Farley, the pioneer school teacher of this county, who has been in Douglas county the past few months, has returned to Jacksonville.

Judges Webster, Prim and Hanna and District Attorney Colvig returned home from Klamath county Tuesday, where they have been holding circuit court.

The house recently vacated by Z. Sears was set on fire by some one Sunday morning at 2 o'clock and burned to the ground. The alarm was given by Marshal Helms, which brought out the aid of the Fire Co. and others, and by vigorous efforts saved the adjoining property which was in danger.

Shiloh's Catarah Remedy. Shiloh's Catarah Remedy, a marvelous cure for Catarah, Diptheria, Canker mouth, and Head-ache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal injector for the most successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Sold by T. K. Bolton, Ashland, Oregon.

J. G. Hannaker, S. Taylor, Harv. Oatman, Irving Short, Jack Carter, John Shook, Clifton and son, Mr. Christmas, Mrs. Guiney, Alex. Martin, Jr., and others have been in town this week en route for Portland as witnesses in the Dodd-Walker mail robbery case.

The Congregational church was handsomely fitted up Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week, the crowd was large, good looking, well dressed, and money in their jeans, and "an immense stock of goods"—fancy things, toys, notions, etc.—was prepared by the ladies for the fair, 1st day's proceeds amounted to $104. The ladies of this church (like church ladies generally) are so great rustlers, and if the Congregationalists have a church debt or mortgage "plaster" it is liable soon to meet the fair Selliana and be knocked out.

Klamath County Items. Galarnow is building a big pork-packing establishment for Judge Smith.

Judge Smith has sold out to J. T. Forbes his whole saloon business.

Any one desiring a free scholarship to the Ashland State Normal School will please apply to State Senator C. A. Cogwell.

Judge Smith is now in his new block, and Frank Miner is singing sweetly in the midst of a colossal stock of goods.

The latest land contest decided for the Lakeview district is that of A. F. Canter vs Oregon central military road Co. Canter is the successful party.

Henry Conn's house on Look river, was completely destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. Mr. Mozier was the tenant, and the building caught fire while his wife lay sick and he was some distance away cutting down sage brush. He held flames just in time to save the life of his wife. The family lost their all, and are entitled to the sympathy of the people. The house was insured by the owner.—Linkville Star.

Better Without Sympathy. Linkville Star. A Klamath county lady calling herself "Ella" has poured a great unfulfilling of we upon the first page of that cheerful paper the VALLEY RECORD. She must surely find some cheer in refusing to be comforted, since "even sympathy seems like those cold blasts of a November night."

The logical inference that she is therefore better off without sympathy is a small source of comfort, to be sure, though better than none. In fact, what is sympathy, anyhow? One time a farmer whose barn had blown down soon found himself bored by numerous neighbors offering their sympathy. He bore the infliction four days then he got mad. "Dog on yer sympathy!" at last he exclaimed. "What's yer sympathy but wind? It's the very same durned stuff that blowed down my barn!" and his refusal to be comforted seemed to make him feel better. It seemed to have created a vent through which his rage-smothered soul found fresh breath, as it were, and an opportunity to brace up a little.

If you want to enjoy your meals, strengthen your digestion with Simmons' Liver Regulator.

T. Stanley brought from Linkville on Monday a load of Klamath lake trout, which he soon disposed of.
