

VALLEY RECORD.

The People's Paper.

ASHLAND, OR. Thursday, Dec. 25, 1900

Office in McCall's building, upstairs; stairs on north side of Masonic building.

Entered in the Postoffice at Ashland as Second Class matter.

The Record's spicy Linkville correspondent is with us again, to entertain our readers this winter with some racy "Hagebrush Sprites."

Jay Gould thinks he would divide the Solid South. This is the first instance on record where Mr. Gould proposed to divide anything. His plan has been to take it all.

The Force bill is dead. What life was left in it was knocked by Senator Stewart, republican, blasting it in a speech. This was President Harrison's pet measure, and just about the size of Ben's ideas.

The Kilkenny election gave Hennessy, anti-Parnellite, 1146 majority. Priests stood at the polls working hard against Parnell's candidate. Had they kept their paws out Parnell would have come out on top.

The Osage Indians say that their progenitor was a small on the shores of the Mississippi, transformed into an Indian, and that for a wife the Great Spirit transformed a handsome beaver into a squaw. The Osages seem to believe in evolution.

The rains and snows are arranging themselves in splendid proportions for the tillers of the soil and the prospects are most cheerfully pleasing for an unprecedented crop next season. Both in fruits, hay, cereal products, etc. Indeed, the outlook is such that by next fall all of us the least thrifty now will be able to throw money at the birds.

Senator Cogswell will introduce a bill making the sheriff and clerk's offices of Lake and Klamath county salaried officers and abolishing their fees. Officers will then know just what they are to get and the great scramble for fees will be obliterated.

DIVIDING THE DISTRICT.

How natural it is for one to anticipate the action of another when they once know the motive that governs them. The Record's think plot has long been studying what the ambitious senator from Lake and Klamath was going to do with himself after his senatorial term expired. His ambition was toward the judicious of this district. He was once before the people for that honor. But the Jackson county politicians "done him up" unmercifully. When he got into the senate he invented some legislation that indicated quite plainly that he had a long memory for his enemies, the ground they walked on the very air they breathed.

But this was not entirely correct in detail. When Senator Cogswell passed through Ashland Sunday he inquired of the Record reporter about the talk of dividing the judicial district, adding that the court docket in Lake county was about two years behind. This "talk" has not been laid much, but gossiped at considerable. As the division will create more offices it will receive a strong support from the politicians.

After a season as district judge, Col. Cogswell can grease the route to the supreme bench with the soap that Strahn and Thayer did.

Klamath County Items. D. E. Burrows has opened a shooting gallery, for the amusement of the boys who want to cultivate their aim.

Al Farrow, the noted race-horse man, passed through here Friday on his way from Lakeview to San Francisco.

B. E. Peterman and Jim Sears will pick up traps pretty soon and visit the mountains and stream-courses in the mountains. They will probably be gone all winter.

Miss Jennie Smith accompanied Judge Smith to San Francisco, to attend a seminary for young ladies.

Geo. Humphrey is toasting doughnuts at the Hotel Linkville.

Sherman Stanley has returned from Ashland, where he has taken his wife to nurse her mother, Mrs. H. F. Cook, who is quite ill.

H. E. Cooper has returned from Phoenix in place of Cooper station.

S. L. Ferring of Wisconsin, has purchased the Kelleher farm on the Keno road, and has sent for his family.

A. D. Ballis has disposed of his prize Examiner newspaper to Irvin Aubrey, who has written to Alex. Martin, Sr., Oakland, to sell him to Agent.

Some time ago a woodchopper put a quantity of powder in a knotty log to split it and inadvertently left it to go in a stick to R. W. Marple's woodpile. There it remained until a very difficult knot, and when the stick was taken down to split, the first man tried in vain to open the knot. The attempts of a few more were equally unsuccessful. At last Walter Marple, a boy of fourteen or fifteen years, tried his hand at it, when the powder was ignited by a spark from the steel of his ax. The explosion terribly blistered the boy's face and drove a great splinter into his left eye, which it is feared he will lose.—Linkville Star.

For a number of years I have been subject to violent attacks of inflammatory rheumatism which generally lasted about two months. In the first of this month I was attacked in the knee and suffered severely for two days. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it relieved me almost instantly. I therefore most cheerfully recommend it to all who are similarly afflicted everywhere.—R. D. Whitley, Martindale, N. C., Feb. 1888.

A Big Inducement for Money. All newspapers worth having require money to run them. The Record is no exception in this respect. We must have it, and in the advertising columns of this issue throw out inducements that will do the work. Just think of the Mammoth Encyclopedia and the Record one year for $3.00. And Dickens' complete works and the Record for only $3.10. If you aren't satisfied with the whole earth, we will throw in 25 novels free.

Sitting Bull is said to have been killed in a fight with the Indian police. If this is so, the effect will be to quiet the turbulent government to keep its word with the Sioux nation. The present administration has been nowhere more inefficient than in its Indian management, which seems to have been turned out to a gang of thieves and scoundrels, who have made profit by starving the poor creatures whom the government promised to feed. It has been notorious that the corrupt and scoundrelly civil agents of the government have, like cowards, coldly and deliberately murdered, and have left the lonely ones to starve and freeze in their tepees. Of course no better recruiting agency was needed by Sitting Bull, and it is well for the innocent that he is dead.

Her Merry Christmas. She wandered down Rivington street crying softly. She was hungry, and it seemed more pitiful for her to be hungry on Christmas eve than it was for the dozens of other children on Rivington street to be hungry. The year before she had not only been hungry, but she had had a Christmas tree. The other children had always been more or less hungry, and they had never had a Christmas tree. She shuffled her partly bare feet along on the icy sidewalk. Snow had frozen on what was left of the upper of her shoes. Her feet were very cold, but she did not mind the cold so much as she did the hunger, nor the hunger so much as the loneliness—the absence of the Christmas tree and the daddy and mamma to jump her up and down and watch the sparkling eyes she saw their little presents. They had not been a very interesting daddy and mamma to other people—daddy had been a hod carrier and mamma used to take in washing. But they had loved each other—everything else.

A comfortably dressed stout woman stopped her. The woman was probably a shopkeeper's wife, and had a heart more or less kind. She had intended to give the girl something to eat, and perhaps some money; but she asked her if she was a good girl and gave her some advice first of all. This made the girl angry, and she answered her saucily. The comfortable woman turned away with a comfortable expression of horror on her face, and turned back into her comfortable doorway. The girl passed on, lonelier, hungrier, colder than before.

Midnight came. She had lost consciousness of details—her loneliness, her hunger, her shivering had ceased to impress her. She knew only that she was miserable. But still she walked.

At 8 o'clock Christmas morning she sat up to stop walking, however. She was in a deserted East river dock, and she said down where an eddy of wind had left a soft bed of snow—left it for her seraph, and the wind gave its gift without giving any advice first.

Her eyes closed. Her shivers ceased. She lay very still. She was asleep. She did not move again until a red ray from the crisp winter sunrise touched her face.

Then she sat up and gazed longingly at the sunrise for a moment. Slowly her expression became a happy one. She really looked almost like a pretty child. She raised her arms and held them out toward the glow. Her lips moved. "Oh, my daddy!"

Then she dropped her head on the bed and she wept. The girl was the daughter of a poor man who had been a hod carrier and a washerwoman. Her name was Edwina Marshall.

Stanley told a friend a story which illustrates the African's quickness of retort. It was talking with one of the Uganias, said Stanley, "while a monkey the native had tamed was jumping from limb to limb of a tree near by. In a spirit of fun I said: 'You are not so very much unlike monkeys. You Uganias speak to each other after the fashion, and the monkeys make signs to each other. They understand each other, and that's all you can do when you talk. Neither you nor the monkeys know anything that is going on outside of these great forests.'"

"The Uganiga man thought for a moment, and then ran up to the monkey, that had perched on a low limb near us. Bending over the monkey, the man bowed on the monkey's back, separating the fur as a farther dose in exhibiting skin to a purchaser. Then he turned to me and said with a triumphant gesture to the monkey, saying, 'Monkey skin white, Uganiga man back.'—New York Sun.

The Reading railroad has purchased the Union canal, which extends from Reading to Middletown, DeKalb county, Pa., a distance of eighty miles. No boats have traversed the canal for ten years, and it has fallen into a very dilapidated state. What the railroad company will do with it is not known. The canal cost $1,000,000 and built seventy-five years ago.

Seven persons have been arrested at Reading for systematically robbing the coal cars of the Reading railroad. It was developed at the hearing that they were carrying the coal from the cars on the siding at Fort Clinton, and virtually supplied and operated a large coal yard from their stealings.—Philadelphia Record.

The complete volumes of Dickens' works or a Mammoth Encyclopedia with only a few cents additional to the Record's subscription price.

It has just come to light what Rev. Daniel Dorchester's recent hurried visit to Klamath Agency was for. He remained there only over night. Some time ago the agency physician sent certain charges to the department against the principal of the boarding school and his wife, who were formerly salvation army singers, and were converted to the service of the Lord through that medium. The department sent the charges to Dorchester to investigate. Dr. Dorchester is a good preacher and zealous worker for the Lord, but seems quite ridiculous as superintendent of Indian schools. In place of going out to investigate the charges, he goes out and asks the agency physician who brings them "Do you believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running sore on her face, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every impurity from the blood."

My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running sore on her face, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every impurity from the blood.
