DROWNED IN ROGUE RIVER.

It Claims Its Fourth Victim at Grand Falls Observer.

A tragic scene was enacted a short distance this side of the white rocks in Rogue river Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Ernest Winters, the 11-year-old son of John Winters, was in bathing with a number of juvenile companions, and venturing beyond his depth was drawn into the cruel current and drowned before aid could reach him. He was wading in comparatively shallow water, being unable to swim, and accidentally sank over a stump, where he made a few frantic struggles and disappeared. Oliver Green, a boy of about 15 years, who is a good swimmer, made a desperate effort to save the little fellow and was nearly drowned in the endeavor, as he had just swam a long distance and was too exhausted to struggle with the drowning boy. Another boy who was on the scene and whose name was not recalled, was also nearly drowned in the endeavor to save the boy. Ernest Winters being the fourth victim of Rogue river at this point. Precisely three years ago Thursday the two Thorpe boys were drowned here and another person whose name we cannot ascertain met a similar death in 1888. It is certainly a dangerous swimming place, on account of the treacherous currents, and none but expert swimmers should venture in. There are many other bathing places in the vicinity where novices are liable to meet with a similar fate, but small boys should not be permitted to go in at any point unless proper precautions are taken to prevent drowning.

The Genuine Merit.

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla medicine, wherever it is fairly and honestly tried, its merits are highly gratified at the letters which are continually received from men and women in the learned professions warmly commending Hood's Sarsaparilla for what it does them.

Method in His Madness.

The controversy between Mr. Carnegie and his men has brought out one fact of special interest. When the McKinley bill was in process of formation, the direction of the men who were to be enriched by it, Mr. Carnegie secured the higher protection he desired on every article manufactured by him since that bill.

Worth Five Hundred Dollars—

The Scientific Cyclopaedia is the name of a new monthly publication established in Boston, Mass. It is a new departure in journalism, and cannot fail to interest and instruct every one, no matter what their occupation. It tells how to compound all the so-called patent medicines now on the market, gives secret treatments of famous physicians, and includes the famous bichloride of gold, for taking electricity out of paper, which is alone worth $100 to printers and paper makers; gives valuable formulas in plain language for curing diseases; gives plain descriptions of diseases common to this country, with their treatment; extensive treatise on skin diseases, and the ingredients of so-called skin cures; complete treatments for baldness, falling hair, etc.; how to care for the hair; important advice to the married and single of both sexes; the Brinkerhoff system for the treatment of rectal diseases; in short, valuable information for the family, professional man, the mechanic and all others. A two-cent stamp for large catalogue of contents. Single copies 10 cents; yearly $1.00. D. C. Wheeler, 138 Pearl street, Boston, Mass.

The bill granting local government to Utah has passed the house.

The senate has passed a bill changing the dedication of the World's fair from Oct. 12 to Oct. 21.

The mining debris bill introduced by Caminetti of California has been laid on the table until the next session day.

A committee has been appointed by congress to investigate the labor trouble at Pittsburg and also the Pinkerton detective system.

The report of Representative Wheeler on the testimony taken by the pension office investigating committee has been adopted by a majority of the committee. It censures Commissioner Ream and recommends his removal from office; also, that the pension office be placed under the civil service law. This will include special examiners and chiefs of divisions. There will be a minority report.

Representative Stone of Pennsylvania, in behalf of the house coinage committee has, prepared a report in opposition to the senate free coinage bill. The chief points which the report will urge against the bill are: It is exceedingly costly and clumsy in structure and uncertain in its effects; that the repeal of the law of 1890 carries with it the discrediting of $100,000,000 treasury notes outstanding; that though the notes will still be receivable for customs and duties to the government, the desire of the people to get rid of these, as evidenced by the fact that nearly half of the customs dues collected at New York last month were paid in such notes; and that the rapid contraction of the currency; that there is no bullion in the treasury answering the description of that purchased with silver or coin certificates for which it is recommended to be destroyed; that the passage of the bill will destroy the hope of any practical results from the proposed international money congress.

Attorney General Hart of California thinks an extra session of the legislature to relieve county officials is not necessary. He makes the suggestion that while the legislature cannot make further provisions for deputies or assistants to county officers who assume their offices before Jan. 1, 1893, it can afford relief at once by creating the new office of "copyst." The recorders of several counties have asked the attorney general if they cannot legally retain the fees for recording instruments and use them for paying their bills. He has prepared an opinion saying they cannot do so, and that the law requiring all such fees to be paid into the county fund must be obeyed.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hark of Grafton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my saviour, determined I could not stay with my friends on earth. I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colic. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles, it has cured me and thank God I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at E. E. Winchester & Co's drugstore, regular size, 50c and $1.00.

About Salary Raising.

Editor Valley Record:

"I am kicking." While I am enthusiastic in favor of the public school system, and believe it is the mainstay of our nation, and believe that the fostered and legitimate means in the power of our laws, it seems to me that the people of Oregon have cause to grow at the "powers that be," in the frequency that they endeavor to change the kind of school books used. And the trouble is, the books are of less value. If there was an improvement, it would not be so bad. But the immediate cause of this "kick" is that while the people are burdened with a debt that seems almost out of the question to ever pay, our county board have raised the salary of our highly school superintendent. I am a personal friend to Mr. Price, and think him highly qualified for the position of school superintendent. But I also think there are at least a hundred other persons, both gentlemen and ladies, that are fully as well qualified to fill the position who would be glad to accept the office for less salary even than has been paid in the past. Instead of being increased, just consider the case. As farmers, while we may not have the time and money invested that it would take to obtain an education suitable to such an office, we have probably more money invested in our farms and machinery and I know we put in more time and harder labor, and I do not receive two dollars from my own labor, including the investment in his education, which has to pay the heavy tax that is required to keep up the interest on the public debt. I say it is time the salaries of our officials should be cut down, instead of being increased. I presume the officials will cut me a "kicking crank," but I appeal to the taxpayers to say whether I am right or not. W. H. BROWN, Talent, July 19, 1892.

Advocates Free Coinage.

Gen. Weaver Makes Some Strong Points in Favor of the White Metal.

Council Bluffs, July 7.—General Weaver, the people's party candidate for the presidency, delivered a speech of some length at Chautauque today on the subject of free silver. Speaking of the gold that free silver would cause all the cry to save the country and cause silver to take its place, besides making this country a dumping ground for European silver, Weaver said:

"Let Europe begin to dump. This country cannot make money that will circulate beyond its shores. It is only gold money which reaches the other side of the world. Senator Sherman said a few days ago the trouble with the American silver dollar is you can't get rid of it; if you pay it out it comes back to you. That's the kind of a dollar we have exactly. What we want is a dollar worth less as well as it is money; then it will stay at home. The money that we have is American people, not for Asia or Europe. What we want in this country is the old 42 1/2 grain, that met with the approval of Washington, Madison, Monroe, Adams, Jackson and Lincoln. Let us have unlimited coinage of silver at present. Some of the banks were called upon today to pay their depositors in gold what they owe them. If the banks were called upon to pay their depositors in gold what they owe them, they couldn't pay 3 cents on the dollar, and if they couldn't pay 3 cents on the dollar, they couldn't pay 10 cents on the dollar, and that is exactly true, according to statistics. Silver has been lent down to 70 cents on the dollar, and that enables England to take out 70 cent dollar as bullion when it is worth in gold 100 cents on every cent of what they buy. If they buy wheat raised in India in competition with the wheat raised in this country, and has the same effect on our coin. The holder of our money would not realize the profits it is generally said to be worth.

It Saves the Children.

Mr. C. H. Shaven, Wellsville, Kan., says: "It is with pleasure that I speak of the good Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has done my family in the last fourteen years. In the most obstinate cases of summer complaint among my children, it acted as a charm, making it never necessary to call in a physician. I can truthfully say that in my experience, based on years of experience, there is not a medicine in the world that is its equal. For sale by Druggists.

TESTED FOR YEARS.

There is one and only one reliable evidence of the value of a medicine, and that is a thorough test by long use. King's Royal Remedy has been thus tested by thousands of the best people in the country and here is what a few say:

Ex-Gov. Hubbard writes: "In 1889 my aged mother took several bottles of King's Royal Remedy and experienced decided relief therefrom. She suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia, and these troubles were greatly relieved if not entirely cured by the remedy. R. B. HUBBARD, Tyler, Texas."

"I have used Germetier in my family since its discovery and think it has absolute virtue. The medicine has wrought relief for which it is recommended to be destroyed. It is the smallest relief for any one needing it. H. M. WELLS, Pastor Walnut street M. E. church, Louisville, Ky."

"I take pleasure in stating that the Germetier I purchased in the case of Dougherty vs. Austin, the treasurer of Fresno county refused to pay warrants for deputies' salaries. Thereupon the board of supervisors employed deputies to do the needed clerical work at an agreed price, and when the work was done the supervisors allowed the bill. The auditor drew the warrant for it, but the treasurer refused to pay it, hence suit was brought, and it was to-day decided that the treasurer must pay for the work done. This, for the time being, settles the deputy trouble here."

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the last twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold. There is good reason for this. No other will cure cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by Druggists."
