

VALLEY RECORD.

The People's Paper.

Published by the People's Paper Co., Astoria, Ore., Tuesday, Aug. 11, 1902.

Congress has adjourned "without day" and without return.

Adlai is Hebrew name, signifying "the just." It is pronounced Ad-lee.

Archbishops organize in "groups." To prosper way to hang them is in job lots.

The corn is growing in Missouri. Another evidence that the foreman says the tax.

The leaders of the women's power and tariff apostrophe in Ohio—Sherman and McKinley.

One might infer from the report of the investigating committee that the tea was the only beverage dispensed over the Capitol bar at Washington.

Oakland Times: By the way, what is the name of General Weaver's baby grand-daughter? We want to kindergarten the kid with Baby Ruth and McKee.

General Weaver drove an ox train down the Humboldt in '83 and drove the goldbug to the coast, up Salt river in '82.—San Jose Phoenix.

The Racoon is pleased at Mr. Fraclit's investigation committee. There is perhaps only one clear-cut difference of opinion between the two big political parties to-day on a live issue and that issue is the various federal offices.

"Great" parties get so selfish as to refuse to take up something new, or to refuse to progress, for fear they may lose the great issue—the offices—we must also be excused for taking a selfish pride in the fact that not only one of our fellow townsmen has received a promotion of the great issue but that this office and the appropriation were made especially for him.

Mrs. E. H. H. writes as follows of Mrs. Weaver:

It may not be generally known to you that Mrs. Harrison has been greatly annoyed since living with her in the White House by its old-fashioned style and lack of modern grandeur. So much has it troubled this "first lady of the land," that at the cost of much additional money she has had a magnificent palace overlooking the palace of European royalty in splendor and costliness for her successor. This royal palace is to be built with outer courts and inner courts, with marble columns and colonades, with costly stoves, richly stained glass and antique furniture, and is authorized to be given to the women of America that Mr. Weaver desires you to know that if her husband is elected that the presidential mansion will be Mrs. Washington presided will be good enough for her until after the nine millions of mortgages are lifted from your homes until after the starting of the millions of the sewing women of America have bread and meat and fire and home. Grand thoughts of a grand country. Yet the women of America lend your influence to placing this woman where she deserves to go, for I am satisfied that when she is there with her millions of guests at the White House as the wives of the millionaires are now welcome, so that the primitive simplicity of the republic will be restored.

It is given out at Homestead that the reported strike at the St. Charles wagon works, South Bend, is the first time the work which has been done by Hugh O'Donnell since he left Homestead so mysteriously after being released on bail. He has been visiting the large establishments which use Carnegie iron and working with the employees to get them to boycott iron from Homestead. They give no names, but say a large number of plants will be compelled to stop using Carnegie iron by the strike. The Carnegies have been expecting such a move, but from assurances received from customers do not anticipate any serious loss of business.

Astronomers throughout the world are studying Mars with much interest. The planet is nearer the earth than usual and its surface and outlines can be more definitely distinguished than ever before. The astronomer at Lick Observatory has made some very interesting observations recently. The World publishes the following dispatch from Milan: Professor Schiaparelli, the illustrious astronomer, whose fame is now so gloriously vindicated by the Lick telescope, was seen here by the World correspondent. He has known the progress of observations by Lick astronomers, with whom he has been in conference, and expressed his admiration for American enterprise which has brought their splendid observatory into existence at so great a cost. It is gratifying to the Milanese to know that the Lick Observatory has confirmed the existence of his famous duplicate lines on Mars. It is his plan to make a special study, having devoted to the work the greater part of his active life.

A Washington dispatch says: The president has made the following appointments: Senators Allison of Iowa, Nevada Jones of Nevada, Representative McCree of Kentucky, General Francis A. Walker of Massachusetts and Hon. Henry M. Cannon of New York as delegates to the international monetary conference.

Allison has been for many years one of the leading senators of the United States, and for a long time was chairman of the committee on appropriations and a member of the committee on finance. He is usually well informed on financial matters. Senator Jones is also a leading member of the finance committee in the senate and has given special study to the silver question. He is noted for his speeches on financial issues. McCree is a member of the house of representatives and was formerly chairman of the committee on foreign affairs. He introduced in the house the bill providing for the present international monetary conference, and has taken special interest in the subject. Mr. Cannon has for years taken a leading part in financial operations in New York. He was formerly comptroller of the currency and is now president of the Chase National bank of New York. Mr. Walker is well known as a writer on economic questions. He has been superintendent of the census and was a member of the international monetary conference held in Paris in 1879. He is president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, president of the American Statistical society and honorary fellow of the Royal Statistical society of London.

Congress has adjourned sine die. A bill appropriating $2,500,000 for the World's fair was passed by the house just before adjournment. The Pinkerton investigation committee reported and a compromise was adopted, which forbids the employment of Pinkerton guards in the District of Columbia.

The Native Sons Col. R. A. Miller was up from Jacksonville yesterday to attend a meeting of the Native Sons Association of Oregon, formed last year at the Pioneer reunion. They have arranged a program for their annual meeting at Jacksonville, Oct. 2nd. Col. E. A. Miller to deliver the address of welcome and Gov. W. D. Julian to deliver an oration.

COAST HAPPENINGS.

It is now believed the Chinese merchants of Tacoma will not be interfered with by the laboring men.

In the case of the Cour d'Alene strikers on trial before the Federal court in Idaho their counsel set up a plea in their defense which was regarded as a very singular one. It was that some of the defendants charged with crimes of different kinds were not citizens of the United States. Judge Beatty did not pay much attention to this defense.

The state of California is taking radical measures to insure the payment of delinquent taxes on real estate. It is proposed if the plan is carried out to serve notices on all owners of these delinquent properties that the state will at the end of thirty days after service of the notice apply for and receive a deed to the property in question.

The question of the Pacific Mail Steamship company's right to maintain steamers with crews of non-resident Chinese has been definitely settled. Secretary of the treasury Foster has decided that no Chinese shipped outside of the United States could be employed on the Pacific Mail steamers. It was decided that for American vessels are always and everywhere American territory. The crew imported by the City of Peking, would have to be returned to China as passengers by the company that brought them.

Thomas Beaver of Los Angeles ended his life in a tragic manner. He was a married man and the father of four children. He was a member of the 44-year-old firm. For some weeks past friends of his from the East have been visiting him and he appeared in the happiest possible frame of mind. After the usual dinner he went to his room and entered the house and walked straight to his bedroom, after greeting his family affectionately, and a few seconds later a pistol shot was heard. Mrs. Beaver grabbed her youngest child in her arms and the family rushed from the house. A second shot was fired just as they reached the yard. Mrs. Beaver started back, closely followed by her daughter. Just as they reached the bedroom door Beaver again raised the pistol and pulled the trigger but the cartridge did not explode. Mrs. Beaver made a rush for him and caught him in her arms. Her daughter did the same thing and for a few seconds the two women made a desperate struggle to get possession of the pistol. Their struggles were not successful, for the man possessed extraordinary strength and with one hand he held his wife and daughter, and deliberately raised the pistol to his head and fired again. This time he was successful. The bullet entered just behind the right ear and he sank down a corpse. In his fall he suggested his error-stricken wife down with him. Beaver gave no reason for his deed.

Another Southern Pacific express train has been held up in Southern California. The latest robbery occurred between Roliola and Prattice and a gang of five robbers boarded the train and compelled the engineer to stop. They frightened everyone away by a volley from shotguns. They then blew out the side of the express car with dynamite bombs. George D. Roberts, the express messenger, put out his lights and prepared to defend the property in his charge but he was rendered insensible by the explosion of the dynamite. The robbers compelled the messenger to open the safe and they took the contents. The messenger and recovered all the gold from the safe and secreted it in his bunk. All the robbers secured was some bags of silver and some bills. After robbing the express car the bigwheels disabled the engine by exploding a bomb on the piston rod. The robbers then escaped on their horses. The robbers were tracked to Visalia by the officials. They were located in the house of Chris Evans. Detectives Smith and Witty asked for George Sontag. Sontag consented to go with them and was locked up. The detectives returned to the house and saw John Sontag enter. They went to the door and asked for him. Evans' little girl said Sontag was not in the house. Evans then came in and said Sontag had gone up town. Detective Smith stepped to the entrance of the next room and Sontag stood there with a shotgun. The officers reached for their pistols under the heavy table and then saw that Evans, who had not been suspected, also had them covered with a shotgun. The detectives started to run and the robbers shot them. Witty was wounded. Evans and Sontag then jumped into the buggy belonging to the detectives and started to the mountains. A posse is in hot pursuit and the men will be hanged if caught. Evans herebefore had a good reputation. The Sontag case has been expected for sometime. Their Eastern record is bad. Later—When Evans and Sontag left with the team belonging to Witty and Smith they drove several miles into the swampy region and then turned back. At night they returned to Evans' house for the purpose of getting the money they had taken from the express car. A party went out to watch the house and saw a team standing in front of the barn. Among the watchers was Deputy Sheriff Oscar Beaver. Two men came from the barn and put something into the wagon. Beaver called to them. The reply was a volley from a shotgun. Beaver was hit and fell. He returned the fire and disabled both the horses. Evans shot Beaver with a revolver and the latter died in a few minutes. Evans and Sontag started for the mountains on foot. They walked about eight miles when they took a mule and cart from the rancher. They were tracked to Nigger creek where the trail was lost and the posse returned to Visalia.

A contraband cargo of gin and cigars from Honolulu was captured on the schooner Glendale at Santa Barbara.

The hearing at Boise, Idaho, in the case of the miners charged with conspiracy of court by violating an injunction by their attack on the Gem mine in the case of the international monetary conference, and has taken special interest in the subject. Mr. Cannon has for years taken a leading part in financial operations in New York. He was formerly comptroller of the currency and is now president of the Chase National bank of New York. Mr. Walker is well known as a writer on economic questions. He has been superintendent of the census and was a member of the international monetary conference held in Paris in 1879. He is president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, president of the American Statistical society and honorary fellow of the Royal Statistical society of London.
