

C. B. Watson visited Portland last week.

W. J. Stanley is teaching school at Gold Hill.

Miss Polly Donoghue has returned from Klamath county.

School Sept. C. S. Price paid Ashland a visit this week.

Mrs. R. Bewick has come to Hinson for a few weeks visit with her sister.

Frank Morine, the Rogue river rancher, spent a few days in town this week.

Herbert Parker, of the Blue Front, made a business trip to Portland this week.

Mike Dick, who has been in the government employ at Ft. Wrangle, is back again.

J. R. N. Bell has sold his newspaper plant at Independence, and has gone to Salt Lake.

Thomas Roberts and bride returned the first of the week from their tour of Douglas county.

Mrs. W. F. Preston of Tenino, Wash., paid her sister Mrs. Robt. Taylor a few days visit last week.

John Carter, the veterinarian, has moved in from Linnville and will practice his profession here.

W. A. Walker and John Taylor, Sasque river stockmen, are in the valley after winter supplies.

Harry Walther and wife have returned from their California trip and will remain in Ashland during the winter.

W. P. Songer has moved his sheep from the summer range near Bald Mountain to the Hargrave pasture.

C. W. Ayers the mining expert has a two column article in Friday's Oregonian describing Oregon's mineral resources.

The Idaho oolite fields on Snake river are causing some excitement among mining men. A rush is being made for claims.

Hon. J. T. Bowditch attended the meeting of the state military board last week and spent a few days visiting in Portland.

There are men whose natures are so small that, if there is anything in transmission, they will probably appear as microbes.

Reider Walker has rented his farm near Ashland to Mr. Foster from Willamette, and will move back to the old home ranch.

Mr. John Griffin and wife returned home to Marysville last Monday from a visit of several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ferry.

"Soap, soap and salvation" is a Baltimore mission motto which should be pondered by pious folk in the habit of putting the soap last.

General Bidwell says he will not take the stamp. What will General Bidwell take?—If such a question may be addressed to a red-hot prohibitionist.

The Hon. Sol. Hirsch, minister to Turkey, has resigned and returned to Portland, presumably because he don't like Turkey or his political interests in Oregon that need his attention.

It is reported that the Roseburg Water Co. will endeavor to sell their system to the city. Opinion is divided as to the benefits to be derived by the city in case the sale is consummated.

Mr. Yager is in from his timber claim on Jenny creek. He reports that the sound of the ax is heard in the land. The lumber company are putting up their winter quarters within a few miles of his claim.

W. P. Hamilton has gone to Tule lake for the purpose of exploring the lava beds made famous by Capt. Jack and his band of heroes. He expects to be gone for a month and will come back laden down with relics from the stronghold.

The late rains caused a rise of over 12 inches in Rogue river. The temporary wing dam at the power house was washed away and until it can be replaced the water works and electric plant will have to be run by steam power.—Grants Pass Observer.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Lester, of Jacksonville, left for Portland last Thursday, en route to Atlanta, Ga., where he will give medical treatment. His daughter, Miss Lena Lester, of Portland, will accompany him and they will spend the winter in the southern states.

J. E. Ewidge and family of Philomath, leave this week for Ashland, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Ewidge is one of the oldest business men of Philomath, and their many friends will be glad to hear of their return, much improved in health.—Corvallis Times.

It is rumored that E. De Pust, of Atlanta, will soon connect himself with the law firm of Bailey & Bellamy. Mr. De Pust is a gentleman, scholar and a rattling good attorney. No hesitancy is felt in predicting the largest measure of success for him in his new relation.—Tribune.

Amos Lyndy, of Bly, called Tuesday while on his way to Ashland to attend to some business over there. He tells us that nearly all the best cattle in Sprague river valley are disposed of, there being no more than 75 or 80 head remaining. It is the first clean-up of beef cattle in that section for several years.

Linot, Schwatka has submitted a proposition to the Portland chamber of commerce to explore and describe Mt. Hood for $500, providing each member of that body shall buy his book for $1.20. The object of the work is to make the grand old sentry a national park. The chamber of commerce is seriously considering the acceptance of his proposition.

The finest pickles we ever sampled, Mr. Winter said.

Chinese have been smuggled into the United States from Canada, the heathens being dressed in women's clothing and heavily veiled. The veil has been torn and a new way will have to be devised. An astute detective thought it an impossibility for women to keep still for so long a time; he caused the carriage to be stopped and upon investigation found out the supposed women were nothing more than common, plain Chinamen.

For sale, or trade for good farm property, two or three good homes in Ashland. Inquire of J. M. Laark, Granite street.

The Puget Sound loggers have donated to the World's fair commission ten logs which are supposed to be fair samples of the lumber in Washington. The logs are 12 feet long and 4 inches square. One of the logs before being squared was 125 feet long, and contained 12,776 feet. They are the largest logs ever shipped out of the state by railroad. Four such cars were required for one log. The cars are built up so that the middle cars can swing free while rounding curves.

Dr. Geo. W. Gray, dentist, having located in Ashland, Oregon, would solicit a share of the patronage of those desiring dental attention. Rooms up stairs in Odd Fellows' building, opposite Ashland Hotel.

W. C. Meyer received this week a letter from A. A. Denton of the city. The agriculturist, asking for information in regard to the aluminum deposits of southern Oregon. Mr. Meyer sent him a specimen of the refined alumina from Canada, which is hardly a fair specimen of the clay as it is surface rock and was subjected to the elements. Clay from other parts of the valley are inquired for, and anyone thinking they have a clay bed would do well to communicate with Mr. Meyer.

Towne, the Portland photographer, is the best artist in the city. Give him a call while in Portland if you want a first-class class of yourself.

C. B. Watson visited Portland last week.

W. J. Stanley is teaching school at Gold Hill.

Miss Polly Donoghue has returned from Klamath county.

School Sept. C. S. Price paid Ashland a visit this week.

Mrs. R. Bewick has come to Hinson for a few weeks visit with her sister.

Frank Morine, the Rogue river rancher, spent a few days in town this week.

Herbert Parker, of the Blue Front, made a business trip to Portland this week.

Mike Dick, who has been in the government employ at Ft. Wrangle, is back again.

J. R. N. Bell has sold his newspaper plant at Independence, and has gone to Salt Lake.

Thomas Roberts and bride returned the first of the week from their tour of Douglas county.

Mrs. W. F. Preston of Tenino, Wash., paid her sister Mrs. Robt. Taylor a few days visit last week.

John Carter, the veterinarian, has moved in from Linnville and will practice his profession here.

W. A. Walker and John Taylor, Sasque river stockmen, are in the valley after winter supplies.

Harry Walther and wife have returned from their California trip and will remain in Ashland during the winter.

W. P. Songer has moved his sheep from the summer range near Bald Mountain to the Hargrave pasture.

C. W. Ayers the mining expert has a two column article in Friday's Oregonian describing Oregon's mineral resources.

The Idaho oolite fields on Snake river are causing some excitement among mining men. A rush is being made for claims.

Hon. J. T. Bowditch attended the meeting of the state military board last week and spent a few days visiting in Portland.

There are men whose natures are so small that, if there is anything in transmission, they will probably appear as microbes.

Reider Walker has rented his farm near Ashland to Mr. Foster from Willamette, and will move back to the old home ranch.

Mr. John Griffin and wife returned home to Marysville last Monday from a visit of several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ferry.

"Soap, soap and salvation" is a Baltimore mission motto which should be pondered by pious folk in the habit of putting the soap last.

General Bidwell says he will not take the stamp. What will General Bidwell take?—If such a question may be addressed to a red-hot prohibitionist.

The Hon. Sol. Hirsch, minister to Turkey, has resigned and returned to Portland, presumably because he don't like Turkey or his political interests in Oregon that need his attention.

It is reported that the Roseburg Water Co. will endeavor to sell their system to the city. Opinion is divided as to the benefits to be derived by the city in case the sale is consummated.

Mr. Yager is in from his timber claim on Jenny creek. He reports that the sound of the ax is heard in the land. The lumber company are putting up their winter quarters within a few miles of his claim.

W. P. Hamilton has gone to Tule lake for the purpose of exploring the lava beds made famous by Capt. Jack and his band of heroes. He expects to be gone for a month and will come back laden down with relics from the stronghold.

The late rains caused a rise of over 12 inches in Rogue river. The temporary wing dam at the power house was washed away and until it can be replaced the water works and electric plant will have to be run by steam power.—Grants Pass Observer.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Lester, of Jacksonville, left for Portland last Thursday, en route to Atlanta, Ga., where he will give medical treatment. His daughter, Miss Lena Lester, of Portland, will accompany him and they will spend the winter in the southern states.

J. E. Ewidge and family of Philomath, leave this week for Ashland, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Ewidge is one of the oldest business men of Philomath, and their many friends will be glad to hear of their return, much improved in health.—Corvallis Times.

It is rumored that E. De Pust, of Atlanta, will soon connect himself with the law firm of Bailey & Bellamy. Mr. De Pust is a gentleman, scholar and a rattling good attorney. No hesitancy is felt in predicting the largest measure of success for him in his new relation.—Tribune.

Amos Lyndy, of Bly, called Tuesday while on his way to Ashland to attend to some business over there. He tells us that nearly all the best cattle in Sprague river valley are disposed of, there being no more than 75 or 80 head remaining. It is the first clean-up of beef cattle in that section for several years.

Linot, Schwatka has submitted a proposition to the Portland chamber of commerce to explore and describe Mt. Hood for $500, providing each member of that body shall buy his book for $1.20. The object of the work is to make the grand old sentry a national park. The chamber of commerce is seriously considering the acceptance of his proposition.

The finest pickles we ever sampled, Mr. Winter said.

Chinese have been smuggled into the United States from Canada, the heathens being dressed in women's clothing and heavily veiled. The veil has been torn and a new way will have to be devised. An astute detective thought it an impossibility for women to keep still for so long a time; he caused the carriage to be stopped and upon investigation found out the supposed women were nothing more than common, plain Chinamen.

For sale, or trade for good farm property, two or three good homes in Ashland. Inquire of J. M. Laark, Granite street.

The Puget Sound loggers have donated to the World's fair commission ten logs which are supposed to be fair samples of the lumber in Washington. The logs are 12 feet long and 4 inches square. One of the logs before being squared was 125 feet long, and contained 12,776 feet. They are the largest logs ever shipped out of the state by railroad. Four such cars were required for one log. The cars are built up so that the middle cars can swing free while rounding curves.

Dr. Geo. W. Gray, dentist, having located in Ashland, Oregon, would solicit a share of the patronage of those desiring dental attention. Rooms up stairs in Odd Fellows' building, opposite Ashland Hotel.

W. C. Meyer received this week a letter from A. A. Denton of the city. The agriculturist, asking for information in regard to the aluminum deposits of southern Oregon. Mr. Meyer sent him a specimen of the refined alumina from Canada, which is hardly a fair specimen of the clay as it is surface rock and was subjected to the elements. Clay from other parts of the valley are inquired for, and anyone thinking they have a clay bed would do well to communicate with Mr. Meyer.

Towne, the Portland photographer, is the best artist in the city. Give him a call while in Portland if you want a first-class class of yourself.

C. B. Watson visited Portland last week.

W. J. Stanley is teaching school at Gold Hill.

Miss Polly Donoghue has returned from Klamath county.

School Sept. C. S. Price paid Ashland a visit this week.

Mrs. R. Bewick has come to Hinson for a few weeks visit with her sister.

Frank Morine, the Rogue river rancher, spent a few days in town this week.

Herbert Parker, of the Blue Front, made a business trip to Portland this week.

Mike Dick, who has been in the government employ at Ft. Wrangle, is back again.

J. R. N. Bell has sold his newspaper plant at Independence, and has gone to Salt Lake.

Thomas Roberts and bride returned the first of the week from their tour of Douglas county.

Mrs. W. F. Preston of Tenino, Wash., paid her sister Mrs. Robt. Taylor a few days visit last week.

John Carter, the veterinarian, has moved in from Linnville and will practice his profession here.

W. A. Walker and John Taylor, Sasque river stockmen, are in the valley after winter supplies.

Harry Walther and wife have returned from their California trip and will remain in Ashland during the winter.

W. P. Songer has moved his sheep from the summer range near Bald Mountain to the Hargrave pasture.

C. W. Ayers the mining expert has a two column article in Friday's Oregonian describing Oregon's mineral resources.

The Idaho oolite fields on Snake river are causing some excitement among mining men. A rush is being made for claims.

Hon. J. T. Bowditch attended the meeting of the state military board last week and spent a few days visiting in Portland.

There are men whose natures are so small that, if there is anything in transmission, they will probably appear as microbes.

Reider Walker has rented his farm near Ashland to Mr. Foster from Willamette, and will move back to the old home ranch.

Mr. John Griffin and wife returned home to Marysville last Monday from a visit of several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ferry.

"Soap, soap and salvation" is a Baltimore mission motto which should be pondered by pious folk in the habit of putting the soap last.

General Bidwell says he will not take the stamp. What will General Bidwell take?—If such a question may be addressed to a red-hot prohibitionist.

The Hon. Sol. Hirsch, minister to Turkey, has resigned and returned to Portland, presumably because he don't like Turkey or his political interests in Oregon that need his attention.

It is reported that the Roseburg Water Co. will endeavor to sell their system to the city. Opinion is divided as to the benefits to be derived by the city in case the sale is consummated.

Mr. Yager is in from his timber claim on Jenny creek. He reports that the sound of the ax is heard in the land. The lumber company are putting up their winter quarters within a few miles of his claim.

W. P. Hamilton has gone to Tule lake for the purpose of exploring the lava beds made famous by Capt. Jack and his band of heroes. He expects to be gone for a month and will come back laden down with relics from the stronghold.

The late rains caused a rise of over 12 inches in Rogue river. The temporary wing dam at the power house was washed away and until it can be replaced the water works and electric plant will have to be run by steam power.—Grants Pass Observer.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Lester, of Jacksonville, left for Portland last Thursday, en route to Atlanta, Ga., where he will give medical treatment. His daughter, Miss Lena Lester, of Portland, will accompany him and they will spend the winter in the southern states.

J. E. Ewidge and family of Philomath, leave this week for Ashland, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Ewidge is one of the oldest business men of Philomath, and their many friends will be glad to hear of their return, much improved in health.—Corvallis Times.

It is rumored that E. De Pust, of Atlanta, will soon connect himself with the law firm of Bailey & Bellamy. Mr. De Pust is a gentleman, scholar and a rattling good attorney. No hesitancy is felt in predicting the largest measure of success for him in his new relation.—Tribune.

Amos Lyndy, of Bly, called Tuesday while on his way to Ashland to attend to some business over there. He tells us that nearly all the best cattle in Sprague river valley are disposed of, there being no more than 75 or 80 head remaining. It is the first clean-up of beef cattle in that section for several years.

Linot, Schwatka has submitted a proposition to the Portland chamber of commerce to explore and describe Mt. Hood for $500, providing each member of that body shall buy his book for $1.20. The object of the work is to make the grand old sentry a national park. The chamber of commerce is seriously considering the acceptance of his proposition.

The finest pickles we ever sampled, Mr. Winter said.

Chinese have been smuggled into the United States from Canada, the heathens being dressed in women's clothing and heavily veiled. The veil has been torn and a new way will have to be devised. An astute detective thought it an impossibility for women to keep still for so long a time; he caused the carriage to be stopped and upon investigation found out the supposed women were nothing more than common, plain Chinamen.

For sale, or trade for good farm property, two or three good homes in Ashland. Inquire of J. M. Laark, Granite street.

The Puget Sound loggers have donated to the World's fair commission ten logs which are supposed to be fair samples of the lumber in Washington. The logs are 12 feet long and 4 inches square. One of the logs before being squared was 125 feet long, and contained 12,776 feet. They are the largest logs ever shipped out of the state by railroad. Four such cars were required for one log. The cars are built up so that the middle cars can swing free while rounding curves.

Dr. Geo. W. Gray, dentist, having located in Ashland, Oregon, would solicit a share of the patronage of those desiring dental attention. Rooms up stairs in Odd Fellows' building, opposite Ashland Hotel.

W. C. Meyer received this week a letter from A. A. Denton of the city. The agriculturist, asking for information in regard to the aluminum deposits of southern Oregon. Mr. Meyer sent him a specimen of the refined alumina from Canada, which is hardly a fair specimen of the clay as it is surface rock and was subjected to the elements. Clay from other parts of the valley are inquired for, and anyone thinking they have a clay bed would do well to communicate with Mr. Meyer.

Towne, the Portland photographer, is the best artist in the city. Give him a call while in Portland if you want a first-class class of yourself.

C. B. Watson visited Portland last week.

W. J. Stanley is teaching school at Gold Hill.

Miss Polly Donoghue has returned from Klamath county.

School Sept. C. S. Price paid Ashland a visit this week.

Mrs. R. Bewick has come to Hinson for a few weeks visit with her sister.

Frank Morine, the Rogue river rancher, spent a few days in town this week.

Herbert Parker, of the Blue Front, made a business trip to Portland this week.

Mike Dick, who has been in the government employ at Ft. Wrangle, is back again.

J. R. N. Bell has sold his newspaper plant at Independence, and has gone to Salt Lake.

Thomas Roberts and bride returned the first of the week from their tour of Douglas county.

Mrs. W. F. Preston of Tenino, Wash., paid her sister Mrs. Robt. Taylor a few days visit last week.

John Carter, the veterinarian, has moved in from Linnville and will practice his profession here.

W. A. Walker and John Taylor, Sasque river stockmen, are in the valley after winter supplies.

Harry Walther and wife have returned from their California trip and will remain in Ashland during the winter.

W. P. Songer has moved his sheep from the summer range near Bald Mountain to the Hargrave pasture.

C. W. Ayers the mining expert has a two column article in Friday's Oregonian describing Oregon's mineral resources.

The Idaho oolite fields on Snake river are causing some excitement among mining men. A rush is being made for claims.

Hon. J. T. Bowditch attended the meeting of the state military board last week and spent a few days visiting in Portland.

There are men whose natures are so small that, if there is anything in transmission, they will probably appear as microbes.

Reider Walker has rented his farm near Ashland to Mr. Foster from Willamette, and will move back to the old home ranch.

Mr. John Griffin and wife returned home to Marysville last Monday from a visit of several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ferry.

"Soap, soap and salvation" is a Baltimore mission motto which should be pondered by pious folk in the habit of putting the soap last.

General Bidwell says he will not take the stamp. What will General Bidwell take?—If such a question may be addressed to a red-hot prohibitionist.

The Hon. Sol. Hirsch, minister to Turkey, has resigned and returned to Portland, presumably because he don't like Turkey or his political interests in Oregon that need his attention.

It is reported that the Roseburg Water Co. will endeavor to sell their system to the city. Opinion is divided as to the benefits to be derived by the city in case the sale is consummated.

Mr. Yager is in from his timber claim on Jenny creek. He reports that the sound of the ax is heard in the land. The lumber company are putting up their winter quarters within a few miles of his claim.

W. P. Hamilton has gone to Tule lake for the purpose of exploring the lava beds made famous by Capt. Jack and his band of heroes. He expects to be gone for a month and will come back laden down with relics from the stronghold.

The late rains caused a rise of over 12 inches in Rogue river. The temporary wing dam at the power house was washed away and until it can be replaced the water works and electric plant will have to be run by steam power.—Grants Pass Observer.

Ex-Mayor A. L. Lester, of Jacksonville, left for Portland last Thursday, en route to Atlanta, Ga., where he will give medical treatment. His daughter, Miss Lena Lester, of Portland, will accompany him and they will spend the winter in the southern states.

J. E. Ewidge and family of Philomath, leave this week for Ashland, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Ewidge is one of the oldest business men of Philomath, and their many friends will be glad to hear of their return, much improved in health.—Corvallis Times.

It is rumored that E. De Pust, of Atlanta, will soon connect himself with the law firm of Bailey & Bellamy. Mr. De Pust is a gentleman, scholar and a rattling good attorney. No hesitancy is felt in predicting the largest measure of success for him in his new relation.—Tribune.

Amos Lyndy, of Bly, called Tuesday while on his way to Ashland to attend to some business over there. He tells us that nearly all the best cattle in Sprague river valley are disposed of, there being no more than 75 or 80 head remaining. It is the first clean-up of beef cattle in that section for several years.

Linot, Schwatka has submitted a proposition to the Portland chamber of commerce to explore and describe Mt. Hood for $500, providing each member of that body shall buy his book for $1.20. The object of the work is to make the grand old sentry a national park. The chamber of commerce is seriously considering the acceptance of his proposition.

The finest pickles we ever sampled, Mr. Winter said.

Chinese have been smuggled into the United States from Canada, the heathens being dressed in women's clothing and heavily veiled. The veil has been torn and a new way will have to be devised. An astute detective thought it an impossibility for women to keep still for so long a time; he caused the carriage to be stopped and upon investigation found out the supposed women were nothing more than common, plain Chinamen.

For sale, or trade for good farm property, two or three good homes in Ashland. Inquire of J. M. Laark, Granite street.

The Puget Sound loggers have donated to the World's fair commission ten logs which are supposed to be fair samples of the lumber in Washington. The logs are 12 feet long and 4 inches square. One of the logs before being squared was 125 feet long, and contained 12,776 feet. They are the largest logs ever shipped out of the state by railroad. Four such cars were required for one log. The cars are built up so that the middle cars can swing free while rounding curves.

Dr. Geo. W. Gray, dentist, having located in Ashland, Oregon, would solicit a share of the patronage of those desiring dental attention. Rooms up stairs in Odd Fellows' building, opposite Ashland Hotel.

W. C. Meyer received this week a letter from A. A. Denton of the city. The agriculturist, asking for information in regard to the aluminum deposits of southern Oregon. Mr. Meyer sent him a specimen of the refined alumina from Canada, which is hardly a fair specimen of the clay as it is surface rock and was subjected to the elements. Clay from other parts of the valley are inquired for, and anyone thinking they have a clay bed would do well to communicate with Mr. Meyer.

Towne, the Portland photographer, is the best artist in the city. Give him a call while in Portland if you want a first-class class of yourself.

C. B. Watson visited Portland last week.

W. J. Stanley is teaching school at Gold Hill.

Miss Polly Donoghue has returned from Klamath county.

School Sept. C. S. Price paid Ashland a visit this week.

Mrs. R. Bewick has come to Hinson for a few weeks visit with her sister.

Frank Morine, the Rogue river rancher, spent a few days in town this week.

Herbert Parker, of the Blue Front, made a business trip to Portland this week.

Mike Dick, who has been in the government employ at Ft. Wrangle, is back again.

J. R. N. Bell has sold his newspaper plant at Independence, and has gone to Salt Lake.

Thomas Roberts and bride returned the first of the week from their tour of Douglas county.

Mrs. W. F. Preston of Tenino, Wash., paid her sister Mrs. Robt. Taylor a few days visit last week.

John Carter, the veterinarian, has moved in from Linnville and will practice his profession here.

W. A. Walker and John Taylor, Sasque river stockmen, are in the valley after winter supplies.

Harry Walther and wife have returned from their California trip and will remain in Ashland during the winter.

W. P. Songer has moved his sheep from the summer range near Bald Mountain to the Hargrave pasture.