Judge Nelson's DECISION.

Speaking of patent medicines, the Judge says: "I wish to deal fairly and honorably with all, and when I find an article that will do what it is recommended to do, I am not ashamed to say so. I am acquainted with Dr. Vanderpool, (having been treated by him for cancer) and have used his blood medicine, known as the S. B. Headache and Liver Cure, and while I am seventy-five years old, and have used many pills and other remedies for my kidneys and kidneys, I must say that for a kidney tonic in Bright's disease, and as an alternative for the blood, or to correct the action of the stomach, and beyond it is a very superior remedy, and beats anything I ever tried."

THE BEST REMEDY FOR THE COLIC.

Dr. J. W. FRYER, WYCKOFF'S THEATER, CHICAGO, ILL.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC.

In this world, says J. H. Hooper, of Syracuse, N. Y., is Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic, because my son, who was partially paralyzed three years ago and attacked by fits, last had any symptoms of them since he took one bottle of the remedy. I could hardly thank you for it.

My daughter contracted Epileptic Fits from birth three years ago; we tried "meat" at everything, we heard of, but to no avail. An advertisement in the paper led me to look for Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic, but she has not had the slightest attack within four months.

1311 E. Curtis Ave. MRS. C. SCURTZ, Thos. McNulty, of 233 1/2 St. Denver, Colo. says: Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic is of great benefit to me. It has had the desired effect by stopping the fits.

A valuable book on Nervous Diseases, which also contains a list of all the best remedies for the same, can be obtained free of charge by sending for it. This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koening, of Chicago, Ill.

BUCHANAN'S LETTER.

Workingmen's Trains and Low Rates of Fare—Editor Walker's Warning to Politicians—As Old Trick of the Capitalistic Editor—Labor Militantism.

The New York Mail and Express is agitating for cheap "workingmen's trains" to the Columbian exposition from all parts of the country. The paper claims that the railroads can prepare special equipment for this service and carry passengers at the rate of two dollars each for the round trip from any point in the United States and still make big money on the transaction. In working to providing an opportunity for additional people of limited means to see the Chicago show, the Mail and Express claims that the taste for travel will be so largely cultivated in classes which have heretofore stayed at home that a permanent boom will be given to the passenger business of the railways. Whether or not the low world's fair rate suggested is to become a part of the permanent boom is not stated.

While the proposition of The Mail and Express may strike some who have not investigated the subject as foolish, and which may not get the support it is entitled to, it is finally to be regretted that one of Colonel Shepard's absurdities, there is sound business sense in it. And the close connection the colonel has with some of the railroad kings of the country would seem to indicate that the project is not looked upon by the transportation barons as one calculated in itself to damage the interests of the holders of railroad securities. But the greatest impediment to carrying out the project lies in the evidence its success would furnish that the railroad system of the country is at present badly managed; that great losses result therefrom, and that society and not the stockholders pays the losses.

The Mail and Express proves by carefully compiled estimates of expense and income that the railroads can make a large profit at the two dollar rate proposed, and one is prone to ask, Why, then, is it that the fare now charged from New York, for instance, to Chicago and return is something like $10.00? What becomes of the thirty-eight dollars that is a natural question when we are told that the most successful railroads pay only a small percentage of profit, and that many of them are constantly losing money. Colonel Shepard has discovered that the secret of what might be and is done by the railroads is found in the empty or only partially filled trains which are operated. He sees the wasted space which is characteristic of the present method of conducting railways. It costs but a trifle more, comparatively, to take a car with sixty persons in it from New York to Chicago than to take the same car with only one occupant.

Then, under the colonel's plan, comes the "movement for a hundred persons stay at home." Of course, this only relates to the Columbian exposition, but if under such conditions passengers can be carried at such an enormous reduction, why cannot the conditions, to a large extent, be continued? If a carload of passengers sixty persons can be taken from New York to Chicago and return for $120 and a neat profit made on the transaction during the fair, it can be done after the fair. That passenger rates on the railways are one of all proportion to the cost of transportation under wise management is patent to all who have investigated the subject. Empty cars and idle equipment are not only a waste of money, but they are a subject not too large for discussion in this letter, and there is a mountain of literature concerning it for those who wish to understand the matter fully. The solution lies in the direction of government ownership, and the agitation for cheap trains to the Chicago fair, if carried to its logical conclusion, will furnish a strong argument in its favor. Therefore it is not likely that Colonel Shepard will receive the support of many railroad magnates in his undertaking.

I note with pleasure that the number of well to do persons who are honest enough and have the courage to come out in defense of the rights of labor is rapidly increasing. In London, Buffalo and Coal Creek troubles have drawn from many wealthy and influential citizens, who had hitherto remained silent and been counted against the people. Warm expressions of sympathy by the cause of the workingman and unequivocal condemnation of the methods employed by capitalism to strike the spirit of American citizens. Strikes, no matter if they are wholly lawful, no matter if they cause rioting and even destruction of life and property, must result in ultimate benefit to civilization if they arouse to thought and action men who by their natural and acquired qualities can render invaluable service to the cause of progress.

Hundreds of such men have been aroused by the recent explosions in the industrial world who would have gone on for the rest of their lives silent spectators of the wrongs of labor. Their attention has been called by the magnitude of the disturbances. They are thinking now and writing and speaking. They are looking up things from the side of that part of the human family with whom they have not been brought into contact. James Brisben Walker, in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, says on the subject:

"If one would study the justice of a system of political economy, he must survey the vested rights of property and take his place among those whom the system craves, whose labor it devours and whose property it leaves bare, joyless and empty. We who have the money can receive the spoils of the system of government. The laboring man can only groan in spirit. He has not hitherto had the power of his vote, notwithstanding our boasted representative government, because his brothers—the masses who poverty brings his efforts to relieve the most distressing miseries of their existence, have sold at each election this birthright for the most tasteless of rags."

Referring to the arrogance of the coin master of the money market, he says: "The latent power in the hands of the workingman, Mr. Walker says: 'There are enough workmen in Pittsburgh to buy the entire output of the city. A full complement of ten companies of street-car conductors, with many more left over for conductors at terminals, six months' wages, such as the enthusiasm of these men would permit would leave them equal to the best of the Philadelphia troops. Does any one believe for an instant that, if there had been a hundred such recruits among the workmen of Pittsburgh, General Schofield would have declared that he could not recognize the existence of such a force? I choose to ask this question as a test of the logic of the system. It is best to stop and reflect that perhaps it will be best to concede something in the way of reform."
