Lester High, Lee Minkler, Ford Roper and Judge W. P. Parsons left Tuesday for two weeks at Pelican bay and Crater lake.

Dr. Paul Grant, of the O. W. R. M'fg Co. of Portland, was here this week on a business trip in the interest of their remedies.

Mrs. Chas. Slade and son came over from Ager last evening on a visit to Mrs. Dr. Songer, before returning to eastern Oregon.

Call on High & Story, the popular tonsorial artists, when wanting a sea-foam or shampoo. Ladies and children a specialty.

John Sheridan and G. W. Kimball, of Roseburg, were at Hotel Oregon Sunday and have since gone to Klamath Hot springs.

Grand Chancellor J. A. Waddle of the Knights of Pythias of Oregon was in town and last night made Granite lodge an official visit.

W. H. Parker, Esq., and family came up from Medford and pitched their tent in the pleasant and cool Chautauqua grove to remain some weeks.

Wm. H. Breese went [illegible] last week to return with Miss Rosetta Waters, who has completed the term of school for Hildebrand district.

Miss Allie Farlow, first assistant postmistress, returned Tuesday from an extended visit at the bay the guest of Mrs. Ada Culver of Alameda.

Dr. and Mrs. Purdy of Witchita, Kan., arrived Tuesday evening on a visit to Ashland relatives and friends. Mrs. Purdy is a daughter of H. B. Carter.

E. P. McCormack, the Salem holder of swamp lands in Klamath county, went out to-day to join a San Francisco party on a fishing trip to Williamson river.

T. P. Johnson was up from Grants Pass Monday to meet Mrs. J. and Miss Brower, who were returning from the fair, Marysville, Monterey and Pacific Grove.

T. L. Reese, the Western Union operator here during the absence of C. E. Donnelly, returned yesterday to Los Angeles. He likes Ashland, and may return to go into business.

R. T. Shannon and family left Tuesday for their former home in Stockton, Cal. Mr. Shannon will return in a month and expects to interest some California capital in the mining interests hereabouts.

The current report that a crowd of Jacksonville girls and Ashland boys were to go out in the mountains this week without a chaperone was without foundation. The Ashland boys wouldn't do such a thing.

Mrs. Chas. LeBeau, wife of the well-known Yreka pioneer who has been superintendent of the county hospital for years, is visiting Ashland friends and the mineral springs and summer resorts in the Siskiyous.

Cephus Scott, conductor on the work-train and one of the A. R. U. boys, went to Dunsmuir on the first train and was duly "tied up" everlastingly and eternally in a matrimonial union. The bride's name is Miss Francis Stevens.

Mr. G. J. Scharlach, an old-time hat drummer of this section, has severed his connection with Trust & Co. and is now traveling for Friedlander & Co. through the southern portion of California. Good luck to him on new route.

C. B. Jillson, the Hornbrook blue-gravel miner, was in Ashland Tuesday. Mr. Jillson's name has been slated for the republican nomination for the legislature from Siskiyou county. The county convention meets next week at Yreka.

Mrs. Dolph Eddy and children arrived Saturday from Pendleton to make their home in Ashland with Mr. Eddy, the proprietor of the new store, The Fair. They are paying her folks, the Slover family of Grants Pass, a visit this week.

Ex-Conductor Frank Mathews, now brakeman, gets raised very materially by reason of the strike knocking the boys out of rank. He was an O. R. C. man and did not go out. At present he is in the railroad hospital nursing an injured foot.

H. L. Sayles, Frank Sutton, Chas. Hevener, Mrs. Jas. Norris, Mrs. E. J. Shepherd, J. C. Chrisman, wife and sons, Mrs. R. K. Sutton and daughters, Mrs. H. J. Hicks, Miss Rena Rogers and Roy Hargrove are at Crescent City visiting the big ocean.

Mrs. Jos. A. Wilson, while at Soda Springs recently had the sensational experience of killing a rattlesnake in the presence of a party of ladies and one man. The snake had six rattles and a button, and Mrs. Wilson done him up with neatness and dispatch and a club.

M. F. Wight, of Kodiak, representing the Alaska Commercial Co.'s interests in the land of the midnight sun, arrived Tuesday via San Francisco on a three weeks' visit when he will return with his wife, formerly Miss Dora Anderson, who preceded him a month to visit her folks.

The declaring of the strike off has started all the railroad boys for the Mt. Shasta division headquarters at Dunsmuir "to see the old man." Supt. Agler always did stand well with his men and the boys believe they will receive humane treatment as far as Agler is personally concerned.

The strike being declared off Monday on the Mt. Shasta division, James Barry, Billy Morgan and the balance of the deputy U. S marshals went to Portland the same evening. None of the 25 warrants they brought out with them were served and no arrests were made concerning this strike.

A number of prominent people are expected at the Tolman mineral springs summer resort this month and in August, among them Col. and Mrs. Edw. Hill of Pennsylvania, Congressman Hopkins and Senators Mitchell and Dolph and some of their families, if congress adjourns soon.

Chas. H. Pierce, J. R. McDonald and Chas. Angel, the timber land men, left Monday on a trip of several weeks duration visiting all the timber land belts between here and Feather river, Cal. As these parties are heavily interested in the timber interests of the coast their trip has in view a business interest as well as summer outing.

Mrs. James Brown Potter and Kyrle Billew and their troupe were on Sunday's train for the Marquiam. Mrs. Potter is the society woman who read "Ostler Joe" to a Washington audience of fashionable low-necked dresses at Mrs. Secretary Whitney's home and created such a sensation that she left a magnificent home and went on the stage against the protest of her husband, whom she deserted and took up with Billew.

Burglars in a Schoolhouse.

EDITOR VALLEY RECORD:—

Last Wednesday night the Soda Springs schoolhouse was broken into by a highwayman, presumably a gipsy. Fortunately two young ladies who had been visiting came along in time to see the light of the robber as it shone out at the windows. It is unnecessary to say that they beat a hasty retreat, and spread the alarm at the first house. An investigating committee was at once dispatched to the scene of action with powder and lead to enforce their claims, but the man, already becoming alarmed, had jumped out at the window and was making his escape in a way that would have done honor to a siwash Indian, strewing the few things he had stolen along the route. The house was searched and it was found that nothing of value was taken, yet two of the pursuing party followed the burglars for some distance, but seeing nothing more of them, returned. It is reported that they have crossed the state line. If so, we would respectfully warn the good people of northern California to securely lock their schoolhouses, smokehouses, etc., and not to be wholly unmindful of the henhouse for the unmitigating sneak-thieves with their outfit are not above the lowest of tricks. They travel in two covered-top wagons, attached to which are four bony Indian ponies. They are a suspicious looking outfit and don't in the least deceive their looks. DICK W. DOBY.

Who is He?

Portland Sunday Welcome.]

He was a juryman from somewhere up in southern Oregon. He was old enough to wear a long grey beard, and slim enough to make a skeleton freak in a third-rate nickel museum. He had never been in a city larger than Roseburg or Jacksonville before, and the "sights" of Portland fascinated him. He would watch the cars and carriages for hours, wondering what so much noise and bustle were all about. He would stand upon the wharves and gaze upon the moored ships and moving boats with astonishment and awe.

But it was the free shows and the "ladies" who graced them with their presence that most captivated him. Night after night he would sit in one of these resorts, which charges no admission fee, and inspect with admiring curiosity the scene around him; but he was most interested in the "ladies" whom he saw come to the boxes and display themselves through parted curtains.

"Why," he said to a new acquaintance the other evening, "I never saw such handsome women in my life." He also inquired about their character, and was much astonished to learn that females so angelic in appearance, in his eyes, could be very, very wicked.

Our friend will go home, however, with more money than he came. He saves something on mileage, and gets two dollars a day and spends just forty cents.

Broadhead all wool dress goods at Vaupai, Norris & Drake's.

A most disastrous fire visited Birmingham, Ala., a few days ago. Whole blocks were burned. The losses will run into millions.

Mrs. Mary E. Morris of Fresno [illegible] deavored to have her [illegible] year-old daughter committed to the Whittier Reform School so she would not have to support her. The girl is a cripple. Judge Harris lectured the woman severely.

Estimate's of this year's raisin crop put the probable yield almost as heavy as last season.

Mildred Williamson, aged 3, at Tacoma, set fire to her clothing with matches and was burned to death.

W. H. Horr, the largest wholesale opium smuggler in the Northwest, has been indicted by the grand jury at Tacoma.

Paso Robles will expend $12,000 in the construction of a new water reservoir.

At San Jose Mrs. Bertha C. Smith had her young husband, Henry C. Smith, arrested and put under $500 for failure to provide for their infant child. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of a wealthy farmer of Rio Vista, where the couple were married by contract in 1893.

Fruit growers of Fresno are greatly relieved by a dispatch addressed to Superintendent Frazier of the San Joaquin division of the Southern Pacific, notifying him to receive shipments of green fruit for points north of Portland east of Sacramento. The news came in the nick of time, as many buyers were about to void their contracts on the ground that fruit could not be shipped.

The California Raisin Grower's Association met at Fresno last week and elected permanent officers.

The preliminary examination of the men accused of wrecking the train on trestle two near Sacramento during the railroad strike was held at Woodland. Worden, Knox, Mullin, Compton and Hatch, all strikers, are the accused. Johnny Sherburne, aged 14, is the principal witness against them. He testified that he drove Worden and several others to the trestle, where they took the tools from the carriage and went to the bridge, and shortly after the train was wrecked. Knox, who was the leader of the strikers at Sacramento, is charged with complicity in the crime. It is alleged that the team was given to Worden on an order from Knox which had the seal of the union.

An attempt is being made to revive the California baseball league.

A law and order league has been formed at Oakland to protect property from destruction during the railroad strike.

The federal grand jury for the ninth district of California, sitting at San Francisco, is making a thorough investigation of violations of the interstate and conspiracy laws by the men who went out on the railroad strike. It is expected that many indictments will be found against the members of the American Railway Union.

Strikes make hard times, and money scarce, but goods are still sold at half their value at The Fair. White India linen 10 cts. per yard.

Death of Jacob Evans.

Jacob Evans, an old resident and miner on Pleasant creek, died there Monday, aged 64 years. The funeral took place at Woodville Tuesday in charge of Rev. Mr. Milton. The deceased leaves a wife and adopted son.

Grain Sacks.

Farmers wanting grain sacks should remember that Jacobs & Virgin of the Ashland Roller mills have just received 10,000 Calcutta sacks.

They Came Back.

Roseburg Review.]

The men who went from Albany to Ashland to take the place of the S. P. strikers on the Shasta division, came back on Friday's overland. Their reception was so inhospitable there that they concluded to let some one else try it. According to the story they tell the people are in hearty sympathy with the strikers, and all the hotels and restaurants were closed against them so that they were forced to eat hardtack with the soldiers. This was at Dunsmuir.

A Proposed Brewery for Ashland.

Chas. Kepler, the enterprising and successful manufacturer of a superior quality of beer for years at Etna, Siskiyou county, Cal., made Ashland a second trip Monday accompanied by his wife. Mr. Kepler contemplates starting an extensive brewery plant here; the splendid water and site of Ashland creek canyon affording abundant natural resources for such an enterprise and being a first-class brewer and a good business man he would establish a trade in Ashland that would be a great advantage to the commercial interests of the town. Besides the local market for barley it would bring to Ashland lots of money and business from the outside.

The Klamath Treasury Case.

The insurance adjusters on the losses by the recent Klamath Falls fire have finished their work and reported against the payment of the insurance carried by Howe's firm at least. Kelly and Butcher, experts, are at work on the county books for 10 years back, and expect to remain at work for a month or more. The ex-treasurer is still in jail, and the habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf will be presented to the supreme court at Salem this week.

Judge C. S. Moore, who is the main one of Howe's bondsmen, is leading the fight to save the bondsmen from making good Howe's deficiency of about $9000. The first play in their game is the one of keeping Howe in jail on five different counts for failing to cash warrants after having $1500 in the treasury. The presumption is strong that Howe has several thousands of dollars of that $9000, and the bondsmen are holding him over a barrel to squeeze this out of him and force Howe's rich relatives to make up the deficiency and set Billy at liberty before the November grand jury meets. If this bluff don't go they expect to fight the payment of the bond in the courts. The proceedings are all with one end in view, that of the keeping the bonds[illegible] from paying the shortage[illegible] women

Jacksonville Jottings.

The Indian Way of Celebrating a Verdict of Not Guilty In a Murder Trial.

A dozen Indians wrapped in blankets sat in silence in an office in the Hyde block Wednesday evening and smoked the pipe of peace. It followed the verdict in the Sischimoo murder case in the United States court. When it was announced to the Indians in waiting that the jury had returned a verdict, the prisoner's sad eyed father brought forth the famous pipe of peace and slowly filled it with tobacco. Then while the jury was being polled the Indians sat in silence and awaited the result. When Colonel Winston entered the little room a few minutes later with the prisoner, Simon Sischimoo, the boy's face was wreathed in smiles. He grasped his old father's hand and spoke in the Indian tongue.

The disconsolate expression left the old man's face; he smiled and shook his boy's hand warmly. Then, while Simon was shaking hands with others of the circle, the old father applied a match to the pipe. A few whiffs were taken, the smoke being exhaled through the nose; then it was passed around. Everything was excitement about them, but the circle was unmoved by emotion or interest until each had gone through the ceremony of peace; then they arose and rushed out to get their certificates for fees, which amounted to $15 for each witness.—Spokane Review.

Soda Springs Sparks.

Dr. Brower and wife, of Ashland, were up visiting friends in this locality recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinney, of Ashland, were up visiting the springs in this locality Sunday.

Rev. J. L. Jones preached an excellent sermon to a large and appreciative audience here last Sunday. He has kindly consented to be with us again this coming Sunday, and a good "turn out" is confidently expected.

The Sunday school of this place has not only proven itself very profitable, but exceedingly popular of late. Last Sabbath 34 scholars were present, and the increase in number was only exceeded by the increase in interest.

The soda springs of this section have proven quite an attraction of late; not only to people in all parts of the valley, but many from other sections of the state have shown their appreciation of health and pleasure, recently, by their presence.

The mediation committee of the A. R. U. for the Mt. Shasta division held a meeting of the union at Dunsmuir Monday at which it was voted to declare the strike off and acknowledge defeat. Turner and Hardy, of the committee, telegraphed the news to Ashland, but Seylor, who was in jail at Sacramento and is a member, protested unavailingly.

Wm. C. Patton met with a bad accident on the Wm. Taylor farm in Ashland precinct Saturday. He was running a number of horses in the back pasture to catch one of them, when the horse he was riding took under a tree, the limb hooked him under the neck, he lost the rein and the horse bucked him off, his foot caught in the stirrup and he was dragged a considerable distance. Young McAllister found him and brought him home in an unconscious condition. Dr. Songer was summoned and though no bones were broken the young man was badly wrenched. He is recovering.

Jack O'Neil, foreman of the worktrain, returned Monday from his trip to Dunsmuir with the checks for the entire crew, who were also discharged at the same time. The worktrain had 55 men on who went out on the strike. O'Neil will be put in charge of his old section at Delta and the worktrain abandoned for the present. It is also announced that the S. P. will get rid of all of its white section hands and substitute Chinamen and Japs for all of their jobs.

Franklin Lane, editor of the Tacoma Daily News, was on last evening's train. He says that none of the California papers have done the military situation at Sacramento justice, that it is far more warlike and carried on with a more relentless discipline and surveilance than anyone imagines. The soldiers sleep on the depot pavement with one blanket amid constant din of engine bells and roar of moving trains. Gatling guns are turned on the streets and the sidewalks are loaded with ammunition, arms, and accoutrements.

Fears are entertained that Miss Daisy Stanfield is down with a serious attack of fever, but we hope for the best.

Grandma Allen, who has been spending several weeks in this part of the valley, has returned to her home on Big Butte.

Mrs. Howlett took a trip to the mountains recently, staying with Wm. F. Wilkerson's family. She reports considerable sickness in a mild form in that locality.

Rev. E. E. Thomas, of Medford, is expected to be here next Sunday to assist Rev. Fysh with his basket meeting in the groze at the old picnic ground.

Mr. Moore, living on the edge of the desert, reports having a cow that brought five calves. Not a bad cow to have when calves are commanding a premium.

Mrs. Fielder, of Central Point, accompanied by her daughters, Missis Julia and Rosa, spent last Wednesday visiting Rev. Richard Fysh and family. The event will long be remembered as a bright spot in their lives, for both families enjoyed the event very much.

There is a company of men at work repairing our bridge at Eagle Point, and are combining business with pleasure, as the "boss," Mr. Clemens, has his family along and are camped on the bank of our beautiful Butte creek, thereby saving the expense of boarding the hands at either of the hotels. The timbers used are some of the first production of A. J. Daley's new saw mill on Roundtop.

I am sorry to say that Miss Nellie Roberts, one of our most estimable and accomplished young ladies, is reported on the sick list. Her sister, Miss Lulu, reported her so unwell that she was not able to be out to hear Mr. Fysh preach at the Antelope church, thereby missing a literary as well as a social and religious treat. Mr. F. also preached at the Mound school house yesterday to a full house.

While Greece and Rome may boast of possessing a goodly share of the seven wonders of the world, we, of Eagle Point, claim to have the eighth wonder, and that is a METHODIST MINISTER THAT DOES NOT EAT CHICKEN—or anything that is cooked with them. As far as I know he eats all other kind of meats with the exception of chicken, and the fact is so remarkable that he is classed as the eighth wonder of the world by our caterers.

Harvest is upon us in dead earnest. I overheard a farmer remark yesterday that oats, which a week ago would have made good hay, was now dead ripe; and with two severe hail-storms, several cloudbursts or down pours of—say from four to six inches an hour; a visitation of grasshoppers; the rust on the wheat; excessive hot weather, and the green aphis, with the prospect of wheat starting off at 45 cents per bushel, the average farmer doesn't feel as jubilant as a person would suppose. There has been a vast acreage of grain cut for hay, and in some instances the yield has been very light, one man cutting over 40 acres and only realizing 15 tons of hay from the same; while in some instances the hail and wind literally destroyed the grain entirely, but that is in accordance with the teachings of scripture, for "When the wicked ruleth, the people mourn."

David Cincaide reports that his son Thomas came near having a serious accident a few days ago. Mr. S. was mowing and his son asked his father to let him run the machine for a time. He consented and with Mr Pew went a short distance to get a piece of wood with which to fix a header box. When Tommy had finished cutting the piece he turned the sycle up in a perpendicular position but forgot to throw the machine out of gear. The mower is so constructed that the cycle will run in that position as well as horizontal and as he started the horses the click frightened them and at the same time cut one of the lines into and the boy could do nothing more than hold to the one line, thereby keeping them in a circle, until finally the constant turning of the machine caused a ratchet in one of the wheels to give way, thereby stopping the movement of the cycle. He finally succeeded in stopping the team without any serious injury, but it was a narrow escape. DICK.

Eagle Point, July 23, 1894.

Trouble.

Quick is the succession of human events. The cares of today are seldom the cares of tomorrow, and when we lie down at night we may safely say to most of our troubles, "Ye have done your worst, and we shall meet no more."—Cowper.

W. I. Church, of Staunton Post G. A. R., says: "I have tried nearly every cough remedy but have found nothing to compare with Parks' Conch Syrup. There is nothing on earth like it for bronchitis. I have suffered ever since my discharge from the army and Parks' Cough Syrup is the only remedy that has ever helped me." Sold by E. A. Sherwin.

Joe Ryan, aged 18 years, met with probably a fatal accident at Sonoma, Cal. While racing down Napa street on horseback the animal ran into a wagon. Ryan was thrown high into the air and the horse turned a complete somersault, landing on the prostrate young man and rolling over him. The injured lad was picked up and taken to the residence of his employer. Remarkable to relate no bones were broken, but the weight of the horse resulted in internal injuries which may prove fatal.

Governor Tillman of South Carolina will reopen the state dispensaries August 1. He is determined to enforce the law and more vigorously than ever. The decision against the constitutionality of the law by the state supreme court, the governor says, does not affect the law passed in 1893.

China continues to make preparations to assert her claims of rights in Corea, and from present indications it is judged war will be inevitable, unless Japan recedes from the position she has hitherto maintained. Orders were recently issued for 12,000 Chinese troops to prepare for departure to Corea. The preparations were hurriedly completed, and the soldiers went on board the transports that will convey them to the peninsula. To guard against contingencies the transports were convoyed by eight gunboats, the commanders of which were instructed to fire upon the Japanese should the latter attempt to obstruct the landing of the Chinese.

The police of Lexington, Ky., broke the world's record in the way of arresting crap-shooters last Sunday. They were informed of a game in progress near the suburbs of the city on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, and chartering a train consisting of two box cars and an engine, they steamed up the tracks close to where the unsuspecting negroes were earnestly engaged in their game. After a half-hour's battle, during which some 100 shots were fired, they captured 27 of the 131 men and women, and loading them in the box cars, steamed back and landed their prisoners behind the bars.

Tolman Springs health and summer resort and mineral baths, Mrs. A. W. Angle, proprietor. Baths 50 cents each all round. Board and lodging $8 per week. Vapor baths free to guests of hotel.

The foundation for a new state depot at San Francisco will soon be completed.

California fruit growers are rejoicing at the resumption of traffic. Green fruits are now being shipped in large quantities.

The Standard mill, at Snohomish, Wash., employing 100 men, burned recently. Loss, $60,000; insurance, $4,000.

A carload of grapes was shipped to Chicago from Warm Spring, Cal., a few days ago. This is the first shipment of grapes from the state this season, and would have been sent two weeks ago but for the tieup.

Two strikers at Los Angeles have been sent to the penitentiary for eight months each for contempt of court. They violated injunctions issued by Judge Ross of the federal court.

The San Francisco mint has begun the coinage of silver seigniorage into standard dollars.

At North Yakima, Wash., David Seamans was killed during a struggle with George Bodsit for the possession of a pistol. Seaman's wife left him because of his brutality. He went to her room, and drawing a pistol, told her he would kill her. The woman screamed and grabbed hold of the pistol. Bodsit who was in an adjoining room went to the woman's assistance and Seaman attacked him. While the men were struggling the pistol was discharged twice. Both bullets hit Seaman and he died shortly after. Bodist was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

A. E. Redstone, of California, who has been representing the Coxeyites at Washington, is in trouble with the interior department. About a year ago Redstone claimed $1,800 damages from the government on the representation that his homestead had been taken from him in the setting aside of the Sequoia reservation. A bill for Redstone's relief passed the house and senate and went to the president. The president referred the matter to the interior department, and it is stated by the department that Redstone's homestead is not within 35 miles of the national park.

Sensations are numerous in the Martin will contest now being tried at San Francisco. Two documents are offered as the last will and testament of Henry Martin, who was interested in mines at Weaverville. One will bequeaths all the estate to Mrs. Henry Martin, widow of testator. The second will gives the widow only one-third of the estate, the remainder being left to the posthumous son of John Martin, brother of Henry. Mrs. Henry Martin's attorneys claim the second will is a forgery. The second will is dated at a time when Mrs. Henry Martin was very ill and not expected to survive. Mrs. John Martin has a number of letters signed by Henry Martin which indicate that more than usual affection existed between Henry Martin and his brother's widow.

Mrs. N. Meyette, the Genessee county treasurer of the W. C. T. U. and a very influential worker in the cause of women, says: "I have used Parks' Tea and find it is the best remedy I have ever tried for constipation. It requires smaller doses and is more thorough. I shall use nothing else in future." Sold by E. A. Sherwin.
