

Don't You Know

that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the inaction of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness, also Constipation, and those Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simmons Liver Regulator—a medicine unailing and purely vegetable.

From Rev. M. B. Wharton, Baltimore, Md. "It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to the great virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. I have had experience with it, as occasioned, for many years, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation."

To Refund Salaries.

The county court has an order this week for ex-Judge Colvig, Commissioner Seyferth and Bielew to refund a part of the salary they drew after the passage of the new salary law in 1893. It seems Representative Day, the author of the bill, told the officers that the bill would not affect the salaries for the term they were elected for. The money will be refunded—Grants Pass Observer.

Cramps in the Stomach and Weakness.

Echo City, Ore., Jan. 24, 1895.—I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for several years. I have taken it for weakness and cramps in the stomach and I am now in better health than I have been for several years. Whenever I had a headache or a sore throat, I took a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and feel all right again.

About 45,000 bales of hops were shipped from the Willamette valley this past season, although this does not represent the total crop of the portion of Oregon.

It has been a long time since salmon brought so high a price in the Astoria markets as at the present time, owing probably to the scarcity of fish.

The cost of running the government of the United States under Jefferson was only 90 cents per acre. It is now $1.75 with a fair prospect of increasing to $77, rather than becoming less.

Walter Landers, aged 16, and his brother, James, were riding on the Gervais, when the elder boy put his hand on the stump to push when the younger let her go, with the result that the older boy had two fingers cut off.

Some "cribs," as these aids are called, are by no means so simple. One that has been used several times in New Haven, by the writer's knowledge, was made of a long strip of paper, about the width of the fingers of one hand and fastened to two match sticks, and deftly fastened to a papyrus roll. This action was performed by each stool.

One advantage of thicker seeding is that if the season is unfavorable and part of the wheat is destroyed there is greater probability enough will remain.

An interesting fact is that different varieties of wheat differ greatly in size and weight of kernels, making a vast difference in number sown even when a like quantity is sown by weight or measure.

EXAMINATION AT YALE.

Washington's Recent Smallpox Scare a Bonanza for the Apothecaries.

During the recent smallpox scare in Washington one apothecary sold 18,000 "vaccine points" within 24 hours.

On a Friday, when the general fright was greatest, the supply gave out. Physicians telegraphed in every direction for points. In the drug store referred to a big crowd was waiting. A small quantity arrived, and the people scrambled for them. The scene was a most extraordinary one. Holding their money in their hands, ever their heads, men, women and children struggled like anxious bettors at a race track.

One would have supposed that their lives depended on procuring the points, of which there were not nearly enough to go round.

"Here's my money!" yelled one man. "You promised me four points yesterday!" cried a woman.

"I'll pay you a dollar apiece for six points!" shouted another man, evidently by the anxious father of a family.

In one day of the scare the apothecary said that he had made more money than he had ever made in two days out of his business. Somebody came to him and offered to buy out his entire stock of points at the figure he charged for them retail. The druggist refused because there was reason to believe that an attempt was being made to corner the supply.

A well known physician in town ascertained that a patient of his possessed an extra vaccine point. He went and begged it of him. One little colored boy called at the Emergency hospital and asked, with tears in his eyes, to be vaccinated.

"You go and get one of those things," said the surgeon in charge, "and I'll vaccinate you."

The boy went to the apothecary and begged a vaccine point. Then he returned to the hospital and was operated upon.—Washington Star.

LONDON'S REIGN OF TERROR.

A Mysterious Veiled Woman in Black and Her Thirst For Blood.

Two ladies of the writer's family were making calls just after dark yesterday in Kensington. They had some difficulty in finding the new address of a friend, and not seeing a policeman stopped to inquire the way to Queen's Gate Terrace of a group of four women who happened to be approaching. Before they had time to speak two words of their question the four women turned and fled, with every evidence of sudden terror. The ladies walked on a few steps, met two more women and attempted to make the same inquiry. The second couple seemed seized with even greater alarm than the first group. They gathered up their skirts, ran across the street and away without waiting to hear the question.

This extraordinary power to put British maidens and matrons to flight by a crowd so unnumbered, that of two American women that they tested it once or twice more, with the same result, except that one woman retained sufficient self-possession to call back, "Don't know," or to her shoulder as she ran away.

The incident furnishes striking proof of the literal reign of terror now prevailing in one of the most fashionable quarters in London by reason of the series of strange crimes about which the cable has already told you something.

A mysterious veiled woman in black, whose mania is to stab others of her sex, has appeared no less than five times within a week in a district less than a half mile square, and although scores of detectives are lying in wait for her she is still at large. In each case she has approached her victim with an inquiry about a certain street. Her first victim lost an eye, and the second was stabbed in the neck, narrowly escaping a fatal wound. The fear of her was now widespread, so that the others she accosted fled before she could strike them. There is some suspicion that she is a small man in disguise, as all describe the person as having a gruff voice, but the police believe it is a woman, and that she is undoubtedly insane.—London Letter.
