Candidates hunting for a fat office should not forget the position of county judge. That position draws down $100 per month and there is only a few days of real work in it every month. While the other offices draw large salaries the amount of work in them is very large and they must pay out considerable from their pockets for assistants. The sheriff's office in former years was considered a big thing, but under the salary law the Sheriff is compelled to work hard to keep from $70 to $80 per month the year round for himself.

The Klamath Falls Express reports that Austin Bish of Ashland has been sublet the Ashland-Klamath Falls mail route by the contractor for $2,200 per year. Postmaster Brunk knows nothing of it and he asked Mr. Bish this week about the report. Bish replied that it was the first he had heard of it. The mail will leave Ashland beginning May 1st and must be carried in some sort of vehicle, as it amounts to too much to be carried on the back of an animal. The contractor will have to put stages on and do an express and passenger business in order to help meet his expenses.

Central Point's Stabbing Affair.

Central Point comes to the front with an ugly assault that came near proving a murder. Saturday night, as the dance in the hall of the Central Point Hotel had about closed, Thos. Elliott went down stairs and as he reached the foot of the stairway John Peninger appeared at his side and laid his left hand on Elliott's right shoulder and unawares to Elliott drew a dirk-knife with a 3½ inch blade, stabbed at Elliott's heart. The knife entered the breast at the junction of the sixth rib, on the left side, the wound ranging upwards toward the heart. Dr. Patterson probed the wound which was about four inches deep and reached very near the heart. The victim bled internally very severely and it was feared he would die. City Marshal L. C. Rodenberger was at hand and in attempting to arrest Peninger he resisted. The two Patrick boys also tried to get the prisoner away from the marshal. Peninger kicked the marshal in the face; a few raps on his shins from the marshal quieted his legs. The marshal struck one of the Patrick boys over the head and knocked him off the side walk, which settled the disturbances and Peninger was put in the city jail and a warrant sworn out charging him with assault with intent to kill. Sheriff Patterson was immediately sent for and arrived a few hours later. A warrant was sworn out against Bart Patrick as an accessory and the sheriff arrested him Sunday. He plead not guilty and was given until Monday to secure an attorney. He appeared before Justice of the Peace A. S. Jacobs with Wm. M. Colvig for the defense and Deputy District Attorney A. N. Soliss for the prosecution. After hearing evidence of four witnesses Soliss moved for a dismissal of the charge against Patrick, and the motion was granted.

At the preliminary examination on Monday Peninger plead guilty and waved examination. He was committed to the county jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury and Sheriff Patterson took him to Jacksonville.

Peninger is 26 years old, a single man, son of David Peninger, the well-known pioneer and farmer of Willow Springs precinct. Elliott is about 22 years old and his folks live in Canada. He is of sober and industrious habits. Last summer he worked on the Peninger farm and John Peninger, in a fit of anger, stabbed him in the abdomen, cutting a gash 6 inches long. Elliott recovered and nothing was done to John. Elliott left the Peninger ranch and of late has been working on the railroad section.

Soon after the marshal subdued young Peninger, the latter took a severe fit. Though stout and healthy looking he is subject to fits and has a fearfully violent and ungovernable temper that has been a source of alarm to his friends and family.

DIED.

NEIL.—In Jacksonville, March 7, 1896, Geo. R. Neil, aged 27 years, 10 months and 16 days.

The community was shocked with the news of the sudden death of Mr. Neil, as he was about the street the day before, though in poor health. The cause of his death was an abscess on the brain, undoubtedly caused by la grippe which had attacked him severely several years ago. The funeral took place at Jacksonville Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Jacksonville fire department. Rev. Robt. Ennis conducting the religious rites, and was an evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his hosts of friends, it being one of the largest funeral processions ever witnessed in that place.

Deceased was the youngest son of County Judge and Mrs. J. R. Neil and was an exemplary young man of sterling qualities of moral worth and character. After studying law in Jacksonville, he took a course at Ann Arbor College, Mich., from which he graduated with high honors. Since then he has been working into a good practice at Jacksonville. On the 7th of February, 1893, he was married to Miss Susie Turner, daughter of the pioneer Journalist, the late Wm. M. Turner, who with an infant child are thus suddenly bereft of husband and father. The family have the friendly sympathy of all in their irreparable loss.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

To Collect Taxes in Ashland.

Sheriff Patterson was up from Jacksonville yesterday and brought with him a copy of the tax roll for this end of the county. He has again made arrangements with Frank Williams for the latter to receive the taxes for this section from now until April 1st, the time taxes become delinquent. Sheriff Patterson pays for this out of his own pocket, as the law only requires him to collect at the county seat. This will be quite an accommodation to the many taxpayers of this section. Mr. Williams now has the amount of your taxes in his office and is ready to receive the money.

Lord and Devil at Grants Pass.

Last week Baron A. Lempke, before whose saloon in Grants Pass God's Regular Army makes its nightly noise, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by "Gen." Purdy, for keeping a disorderly house. He plead guilty and was fined $35. One of Purdy's lieutenants was also arrested for disturbing the peace and was fined.

The council passed an ordinance prohibiting the army from parading the streets and beating its untuneful drum with a view of squelching the army. "Gen." Purdy paid no attention to the edict of the city daddies of Grants Pass and on Saturday night they plucked the doughty warrior from the parade and escorted him to the city lockup. He secured bail and returned to the meeting with a war whoop before the services closed.

Medford's Public School Opening.

Medford, March 7.—This was opening day at the new public-school building. Although the day was quite damp, fully 1200 persons were present to witness the exercises that took place in front of the new building.

A flagstaff, nearly 100 feet high, had been planted, and a large flag had been procured and was today presented to the public school. Attorney L. A. Esteb, of this city, delivered a very able address upon the flag, explaining, quite at length, why it was so cherished in the hearts of all American citizens. After the flag presentation exercises, those present were invited to go through the new building, and many were the expressions of surprise at its completeness and stability.

This was also book day, and all were invited to bring a book to be presented to the public-school library. As the result a large number of books were contributed. The day's exercises closed at the opera house tonight, where a literary and musical programme was carried out, and Hon. W. I. Vawter delivered an address upon the progress of Medford's public schools. He told, in a pleasing manner, how the demands of the schools had increased from a small building, with a seating capacity of 30 in 1884 to the large 10-room brick structure, with a seating capacity of over 600, which was opened today.

Dr. Brown's Story.

Rev. Dr. Brown told his story to the church council at San Francisco last week. His narration required two days' time. He related in detail how he met Mattie Overman and Mrs. Davidson and spoke highly of Miss Overman's intelligence. He denied that their relations were ever immoral and he emphatically denounced Mrs. Davidson as a blackmailer and schemer. He frequently lent Mrs. Davidson money and expected it to be paid back. Mrs. Davidson says this money was paid to her for Mattie Overman.

Taken in Time

Hood's Sarsaparilla has achieved great success in warding off sickness which, if allowed to progress, would have undermined the whole system and given disease a strong foothold to cause much suffering and even greater death. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done all this and even more. It has been taken in thousands of cases which were thought to be incurable, and after a fair trial has effected wonderful cures, bringing health, strength and joy to the afflicted. Another important point about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that its cures are permanent, because they start from the solid foundation of purified, vitalized and enriched blood. But it is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

Indian Boundary Line Commission.

A memorial [illegible] senate of the United States [illegible] Mitchell on behalf of the Klamath, Modoc tribes and the Yahooskin band Snake river Indians, occupying the Klamath reservation in the State of Oregon in the matter of their claim for land excluded from the reservation by erroneous survey of the out-boundaries thereof, the boundaries not having been run and marked as prescribed by the treaty of October 14, 1864.

The memorial makes a pamphlet of some 30 printed pages, and sets forth that, by this treaty, the Indians surrendered their right title and interest in and to about 20,000,000 acres of land in Oregon and Northern California, a reservation for them being reserved within the ceded territory. It is now claimed that the boundaries of this reservation were not properly surveyed, and the Indians claim that 100,000 acres of land were thrown out on the east side, and as much more on the west side, which they should have had.

The name of Agent Roork appears in the document, and also that of George Mercer, who surveyed the alleged boundary lines; also that of D. P. Thompson, who made surveys on the lands adjoining the boundaries erroneously surveyed.

The treaty describes the out-boundaries of the reservation almost entirely by reference to permanent and prominent natural objects, and the two principal points in dispute seem to be "the mountains west of the lake" and "Ish-lish-ea-wax creek." This creek is named from the little suckers caught there by the Indians, who call them "ish lish." The gist of the matter is that the Indians have been swindled out of from 700,000 to 910,000 acres of land by erroneous boundary surveys, and this means something when the government is about to treat for a cession of the lands, and "the money value of the land appropriated to them or expended for their benefit will do them far more good than the restoration of the land." In a letter to the secretary of the interior, Joseph K. McCammon, attorney for the Indians says:

"Whatever may be the quantity of land erroneously excluded from the reservation provided for in the treaty—and the quantity so excluded cannot be less than 682,240 acres, and may be more—claim for compensation therefor at $1.25 per acre is made by and on behalf of the Indians interested therein, and Congress is hereby petitioned to make suitable legislation and appropriation for the adjustment of the claim."
