The Soldiers and Sailors' Reunion.

Beautiful weather though a trifle too warm has thus far favored the gathering of the old soldiers and sailors for their annual reunion in Ashland. Practically all the business houses have been tastefully decorated and there is a patriotic display of the national colors and banners in profusion. Across main street two arches span the stream of people and traffic both night and day, over one of which the national colors are fixed as a monument to the dead who have been sacrificed to maintain the integrity of the national emblem festooned beneath, and on the other, female figures dressed in the purest white emblematic of that blissful and permanent peace which the courage of a soldier spent in a glorious cause, can alone afford to bring about. There have been clothed in prettily mountain greenery and the electric light company have decorated with beautiful and artistic and effective design, so that the evening illumination is most pleasing and altogether novel for Ashland.

The camp of the veterans is pitched in the Chautauqua grove close by the running water of the Clatsop river. Here also are the headquarters of the Women's Relief Corps whose presence at the camp fires, with the big ones and the little ones which have been the order of the day, stands them as a kind of happy family reunion of yearly interest and pleasant expectation which it is hoped may come as regards the future, in the near future.

The ladies have fixed up their building for the occasion of the reunion. The headquarters of Commander Damon and staff are also well arranged. D. High is the quartermaster, S. H. Dunlap the adjutant, J. W. Rogers, the acting quartermaster and Milton Gregory the acting adjutant. A good drum corps that is not chary of making music enlivens the camp with the best of martial airs. E. Fitzwater is the fife, Clint Austin beats the big bass drum and Charley Harris is the artist with the sticks that rattle off the marches on the snare drum. Most of Tuesday was spent in getting things up for camp life, registry of arrivals, etc. Yesterday Hon. Thos. H. Tongue of the United States army, accompanied by his wife and daughter, delivered an address in the Chautauqua grove to a good crowd in the afternoon. His speech was carefully prepared and met with an appreciative reception. It was rich in sentiment inspired by patriotic occasions of this kind and was nicely dressed with historical illustrations of the battles which the speaker wished to impress upon his auditors called forth by the war experience.

The money question debate began today by E. Hester who, in 40 minutes, T. T. Geer will then go one hour and J. A. Jeffrey closes in 40 minutes. Tomorrow it will be reversed.

Chinese Laborers Attacked.

Sisson, Cal., Aug. 10.—A demonstration was held in Sisson yesterday against the Chinese laborers employed in the new McCloud river railroad to the Fall river timber belt. A crowd of white men, consisting of laborers, tramps and men out of work, gathered and incited each other to riot. After dark Sunday evening, a large crowd left for the railroad camp, four miles from here. They drove the Chinese, about 40 in number, with their equipment, from camp to McCloud river, five miles away. Several Chinese were bruised with stones and clubs, but none were seriously hurt. Manager Van Arsdale, of the Siskiyou Lumber Company, which is building the road, says the Chinese were employed because it was necessary to finish the road this season. He prefers white labor if they will work steadily. The Chinese get the same wages as the white men, except board. Sheriff Hobbs, of Yreka, will be asked for deputies to protect the road, and the Chinese will return to work. No further trouble is anticipated.

Mazamas Leave for Crater Lake.

Yesterday was uncomfortably warm, but for all that, there was a momentary boreal breeze experienced by some thirty people at the departure of the Mazamas from the depot in the south-bound overland rolled in from Portland. A delegation of Mazamas, including the principal officers of the club, were aboard, and they were on their way to Crater Lake. They were properly trimmed out with the red, white and blue ribbons of the Mazamas, and were carrying a delegation of the Ashland Crater Lake Club, who appeared to be represented by Dr. U. B. Watson and Prof. W. H. Miller. The Mazamas certainly believed the idea of brotherly affiliation, and their use was not apparent because of any big crowd, for that was decidedly the case. R. Mills, a prominent official of the local Crater Lake Club, serving as vice-president, along with Dr. U. B. Watson and Prof. W. H. Miller, were on the Mazamas. The Mazamas were on their way to Crater Lake, and they were on their way to Crater Lake. The Mazamas were on their way to Crater Lake, and they were on their way to Crater Lake.

Bryan Club Meeting.

In obedience to the call made about fifty citizens assembled in the city hall Saturday night and perfected the organization of the Bryan Club of Ashland. The committee on permanent organization reported a constitution and by laws which were adopted and the following officers were elected unanimously: President, A. D. Lusk; vice president, Frank Williams, T. J. Howell and E. J. Farlow; secretary, M. F. Ziegler; treasurer, Robert Taylor. These officers constitute the executive committee of the club. Mr. Lusk on taking the chair made some appropriate remarks. He said that up to this year he had always voted the Republican ticket, but regarding its policy now as entirely foreign to the original doctrine which brought the party into being, and expressed purpose of the party to vote the gold standard on the country as a crime against humanity, he would not vote the ticket again. Short speeches were made by Judge Williams, E. J. Kaiser, Judge Batschelor, Capt. Eggleston, Judge Howell, Judge Luckey, Mr. Hockersmith and general Applegate. Eighty-four members marched to the club building to have weekly Saturday night meetings, but in view of the army reunion during this week, the next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening the 22nd inst. in the city hall.
