

S. S. S. GOES TO THE BOTTOM.

Promptly Reaches the Seat of all Blood Diseases and Cures the Worst Cases.

In every test made S. S. S. easily reaches the seat of all blood diseases. It matters not how obstinate the case, nor what other treatment or remedies have failed, S. S. S. always promptly reaches and cures any disease where the blood is in any way involved. Everyone who has had experience with blood diseases knows that there are no all-around blood purifiers. Very few remedies claim to cure such rare, deep-seated blood diseases as S. S. S. does, and none can offer such incontrovertible evidence of merit. S. S. S. is not merely a tonic—it is a cure! It goes down to the very seat of all blood diseases, and gets at the foundation of the very worst cases, and routes the poison from the system. It does not, like other remedies, dry up the poison and hide it from view temporarily, only to break forth again more violently than ever; S. S. S. forces out every trace of taint, and aids the system of it forever.

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD
—is the only remedy that is guaranteed purely vegetable, and contains no mercury, potash, arsenic, or any other mineral or chemical. It never fails to cure Cancer, Eczema, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Tetter, Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, etc.

Heavy north winds did a great deal of damage to oranges in San Bernardino county last week.

The entire valley of the San Jacinto river is flooded and thousands of acres of the most productive land is being destroyed. Many fine dwellings are threatened.

Nathan Keith, 75 years old, living in Columbia county, Wash., has just been reunited with his wife and daughter after a separation of 30 years. Keith went to search for gold in California in 1849, and was lost track of until a few days ago, when his daughter saw his name in a paper. His wife and daughter lived in Washington also.

The prospect of creating a new industry in California by making sacks at San Quentin out of California flax and hemp, promises to be a reality. Should this idea succeed, it will result in great benefit to the state, will necessitate the remodeling of all the machinery in the state prison mill and will keep at home $100,000 annually expended by importing jute from Calcutta. Besides the benefit to the state, the sacks will be of vast superior quality, and can be sold at the same, or possibly lower rates than the Calcutta sacks. These facts were brought out recently at a meeting of the directors of the prison. The time ago W. J. Cunningham of Salem, Or., an expert upon flax and hemp weaving, was employed to investigate the feasibility of making sacks, rope and twine out of native flax and hemp. The result of his experiments were presented to the board, and demonstrated to the members that it is not necessary to purchase jute from a foreign country when fiber of superior quality can be raised here almost at nothing. The sacks, which are not exactly fitted for work on other materials, was pronounced to be vastly superior to the jute bags, and the experiment was declared a success.

Seventy-five thousand workers in the New England cotton mills have had their wages advanced.

Felix Candan, a San Francisco liquor dealer, was run over and killed by a train near Oakland a few days ago.

An electric car going at a rapid rate down a steep hill in San Francisco ran into a truck, causing a bad wreck. Four people were injured, one so seriously that the amputation of a leg was necessary.

It is represented on good authority that Boston capitalists have invested over $10,000,000 up to date in California mining properties, and they are still picking up promising mines wherever offered. Their agents have been quietly inspecting mines in the northern counties for months past. One mine in Siskiyou county was recently bought for $125,000.

J. D. Bridges, Editor "Democrat," Lancaster, N. H., says: "One Minute Cough Cure is the best remedy for cough I ever used." Immediately relieves and cures coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. It prevents consumption.—EUGENE A. SHERRIN.

It is Done by the Aid of Great Fires in the Classic Island of Naxos.

Emery comes from the island of Naxos, in the eastern Mediterranean, whence it has been exported for the last two centuries or more. The beds are in the northeast of the island, the deposits descending into some of the neighboring islands, the emery being found in lenticular masses, resting on layers of schist in limestone, almost identical with Parian marble, the finest marble known, which comes from the island of Paros, close by, says Ironmongery.

There are about 300 men engaged in the trade, all of whom have to be married, before they are admitted to the fraternity. The material is much too hard to be dug out or even blasted. Great fires are lighted around the blocks till the natural cracks expand with the heat, and levers are then inserted to pry them apart. This system is continued until the blocks are reduced in size to masses of a cubic foot or less, and they are then shipped as they were coal. There are said to be 20,000,000 tons available at Naxos, and the last reported year's export was 3,500 tons.

ACETYLENE GAS.

How a Canadian Metallurgist Accidentally Stranded On To a Good Thing.

The facts relating to the discovery of acetylene gas are interesting. It appears that some years ago Thomas L. Wilson, of St. Catharines, Ont., was smelting for metallurgical purposes, says the Western Electrician. From time to time he used a good deal of rock salt in his furnace stock, and also limestone as a flux. Whenever these two materials were fused together the slag produced a dirty grayish substance wholly unlike anything else he had ever seen. For weeks he noticed this substance without giving more than passing attention to it, dumping it into the stream upon the bank of which he had built his furnace. One day a curious thing occurred and at a time when the pile of slag had become so large that its top rose above the surface of the water. A minute or two after dumping the slag as usual into the stream, some of it going under and part remaining above the water in a red-hot state, the sizzling and steaming was followed by a bright burst of flame. The next time Mr. Wilson used rock salt and limestone the blaze again appeared over the slag after it had been cast into the river, and it being at night, he was much struck by the brilliant white light produced. The next time that he had a batch of the queer grayish residue to dispose of he did not waste it, but saved it and poured over it some water for experiment. He held a lighted match over the pile, when instantly there was a white, glowing flame.

HAVE LITTLE IN COMMON.

How the Rive Droite and the Rive Gauche, Paris, Differ in Characteristics.

Boxes of books line either side of the Seine and stooping figures hover about them; but the Rive Droite and the Rive Gauche have little in common, says the Saturday Review. The first is blase, or it is bourgeois. It does nothing, or it brags at the bourse. It is prematurely old, or it totters on a stick. It is pale, and must use rouge. It has tasted every joy, strained every nerve; and youth possesses the other side. Blithe figures caper about. Upon this jennette, Notre Dame casts her shadows; the dome of the pantheon rises proudly above it. Faces are fresh, voices gay, no one mumbles about his liver or is conscious of having one. Dispositions, too, are different. Theaters stop glittering before you have crossed the bridge; the Noces and the Muses are frequent. No one pulls on white gloves. No one sits in a stall before a ballet. Toasts and blessings are delivered in the Cafe Harcourt, and measures performed at Bullier's; Paul and Pierre, with their hats, go to the quarter, rejoice. Both love to clothe themselves in corduroys and wear ties and capes that fly. Both are given to dancing down the street, arm in arm, linked to Gaston and Georges, an amazement to the police.
