The citizens reform non-partisan mass county convention at Medford Saturday was attended by a large crowd. J. W. Marksbury and W. E. Phipps acted as chairman and secretary and stated the conditions of membership and asked all conditions of membership and asked all those wishing to partake to step out from the crowd. Seven men stepped out and constituted the convention. A resolution was adopted calling upon each man to vote as his conscience dictated. With out further business the convention adjourned sine die. This is merely the last flickering gasp of the fusion populist party of Jackson county and it is not even given the distinction of being the tail of the democratic organization.

All the candidates are getting ready to seek cover as it is an unknown quantity just what effect his public support will have upon the candidates' prospects of electrical.

This is an unusually quiet campaign.
There is nothing of moment going on except "bush whacking" and the candidates are out doing their own soliciting.
They will become expert body snatchers before the election takes place. The only place where there is much life is at Medford. The principal "push" of all three parties is located there this year and all political wisdom is booked from that point. There are misgivings in some quarters that there are "common points" upon which the "push" may not points" upon which the "push" may not differ very materially.

S. H. Holt is expected home next Sunday from the Cincinnati convention.

Mr. Holt was placed at the head of the county ticket of the regular people's convention some two months ago much against his wish. There was no expectation of election, simply the maintaining of an organization until the social democracy or some other new reform party comes along to take hold of radical reforms.

But since the other county conventions

Burnside W. R. C. will give a dinner n Ashland election day.

But since the other county conventions have finished their business, purely local politics have knocked the political aspects of the county judgeship and in every precinct there is a demand for Holt outside of his little party. Mr. Holt will not only be surprised at this but when he hears the names of his vilest slanderers for many years being the principal pushers for his election he will be compelled to smile at the fickelness of shifty peanut politicians.

A Large Registration.

For Assessor The registration for Jackson county proved greater than expected at the out-set. There were 3779 voters registered, set. There were 37/9 voters registered, a material increase over vote of two years ago. The principal increase is in the Ashland precincts which show a gain of 300 votes and a total of about 1000, making over one fourth of the legal voters of the county.
