The Oregon Mining Stock Exchange opened at Portland Monday is the first kind in that city. Among the stock on the market was the Gold Hill High Line stock. It was bid at 20 1/2, 20 3/4, 21 and 21 1/2, and asked and 1000 was sold at 20 1/2. The following is from the Oregonian: J. S. Howard, chief engineer of the High Line Ditch Company, is in Portland from Gold Hill, Jackson county. He has his estimates all complete for the 10-mile contract in 10-mile sections, as, according to the promoters of the enterprise, work of excavation is to begin in September.

The ditch, he says, is to top Rogue river at the upper rapids, and will be 94 miles long, terminating at Gold Hill. There will be 11,000 feet of flume, 11 feet wide and 10 feet deep, using 1,500,000 feet of lumber in its construction. It will be excavated, the canal will be 14 feet wide at top, eight feet at bottom, and six feet deep. A right of way 50 feet wide has been obtained through the railroad and desert lands along its route. The grade will be one inch in 1000, or 5.28 feet per mile, and the velocity of the current will be 3.96 feet per second, or 2.7 miles per hour. The capacity will be 15,681 cubic feet of water per second. A right of way 10,455 miners' inches, California measure. A miners' inch equals one cubic foot of water per second.

Two siphons are figured in the estimate. One of these is to be Trail creek canyon, 2870 feet long, 400 feet depression, with 40 feet head, consisting of three parallel lines of 24-inch diameter steel pipe. At Elk creek a similar siphon, 4740 feet long, will cross the canyon. These pipes will save the construction of over 20 miles of canal in a rugged country. The company hopes to start the work through within one year after the excavators have been put to work. Several hundred men will be given employment during its construction, which will be begun at the upper end, in order to float the lumber needed for flumes and culverts down from sawmills to be erected above.

The ditch will supply water for a number of promising placer mines in Jackson county, which it will enable to run the year around. A large amount of farming land will also be irrigated along its route, and the town of Gold Hill will be supplied with pure water from Upper Rogue river. Portland capital is backing the enterprise.

Strayed away from Phoenix, a bay mare, stripe in face and branded with 'L' on her shoulder. Undergird will pay $2 reward for information leading to her recovery. HOMER R. CHAPMAN, Ashland, Ore. McKinley and Rosevelt.

At Philadelphia convention McKinley was re-nominated for president by acclamation. Gov. Roosevelt will be nominated for vice-president receiving all but one vote.

Attend at the White secretary or president for details.

"My attack of miller's asthma was very bad. I was afraid to lie down at night for fear of smothering. I couldn't get my breath. My doors and windows were open, but it didn't seem to help. When it seemed as if I was surely smothering to death, my wife, Mrs. W. B. Long, called my attention to G. A. R. Man's medicine. I had never heard of it, but I bought a bottle and tried it. It cured me completely. My recovery is permanent, but for ever since I have not had the slightest return of my old enemy. I consider G. A. R. Man's medicine the best in the world for hacking coughs, asthma and bronchitis. It cures the cause, and it cures the disease that many people wrongly suppose to be incurable. If sufferers will just try a single bottle, they will prove every word I have said, and more too." (Signed) JOHN D. ELLIOTT, Portland, Ore.

Commander John Megarath, Post No. 132, Portland, Ore., died at his home, 1814 Commercial street, at 11:20 a. m., June 14th, 1900. He was 64 years of age. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a well-known citizen of the city. He was buried in the city cemetery on Monday morning.

VALLEY RECORD.

ASHLAND, Or., Thursday, June 21, 1900

Klamath Falls will celebrate on the 14th of July.

Dr. F. D. Reames of Portland, arrived here Thursday and expects to locate permanently, having bought out the business of Dr. H. A. Wright.

Bert Withrow, who has been attending Bishop Scott's Academy in Portland, returned home Sunday.

L. A. Nell and J. E. Felton of Ashland, arrived here Monday evening, the latter will look after his cattle business in this county.

W. M. Ladd and Eddie Cross of Portland started for Spring creek last week on their annual camping trip. Theirs is the first week up the creek this season.

A camping party consisting of C. L. Parish, Ray Neil, Guy Hammaker and Herbert Baldwin left for the Spring creek summer resort Wednesday morning.

A wagon load of ice amounting to 6000 lbs was shipped over from Medford for two saloons of this place. About 20 lbs melted on the trip, nevertheless the article will be more expensive than the same quantity of beer.

A. A. Roberts, U. S. Deputy Marshal, arrived Friday to appear at examination of Victor Bliby, who was charged with selling whiskey to Indians. The evidence was insufficient and the prisoner turned loose.

It is very probable that A. Kershner, the republican candidate for sheriff, will contest the election of Sam Summers, who went in by two majorities. The grounds for contest will be the illegal voting of some Chinamen in the Wood River precinct and questions in the registration law will be tested.

Circuit court closed Saturday eve the 9th. The docket was unusually light this term. The only case that excited any interest was the divorce case of Etta Childers vs W. A. Childers, which was highly featured throughout the session.

Mr. James Wells was out from town Thursday evening to the springs.

Mrs. Gavan of Klamath passed here Thursday going to Jacksonville.

Sam Bailey of Shake and John Moore came in Thursday.

Bruce Greave was in from his home the other day.

Geo. Devere arrived here from Gold Hill Friday where he has been on mining business.

Some of the boys from this section are going east in search of work.

Unless food is digested quickly it will ferment and irritate the stomach. A good laxative is a teaspoonful of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It is pleasant to take.

ANEBSTOS. Farmers have commenced haying in this section.

Fred Williams was in Gold Hill Tuesday.

Fred Bailey of Medford made a business trip here last week.

Geo. Reynolds took a load of hogs to Medford the first of this week.

A. L. Woolley was in Gold Hill last week.

Mate Edens of Medford has been spending a few days here for the benefit of his health.

Miss Edna Williams, who has been staying in Gold Hill, has returned home.

Mrs. D. Dagan and daughter of Sams Valley were visiting friends here last week.

Miss Della and Ophelia Mitchell have returned home from Ashland where they have been attending school.

The recent heavy rains has done considerable damage to the hay crop.

The home of Wm. Mitchell has been made happy by the advent of a ten-pound boy.

Mr. Frank Hubbs and family of Antelope have moved to the Johnson place.

Miss Osk Micker, our teacher, spent the latter part of last week at her home in Medford.

Miss Carrie Sackett, who is teaching on Butte creek, is home for a few days.

An entertainment was given at the Meadows school house Sunday. We hope the rain did not dampen the pleasure of the participants.

Mr. Clark Williams is erecting a handsome and commodious dwelling house on his place.

Supervisor Welch has just completed a much needed bridge across the upper part of Evans creek.

The people of the Meadows and vicinity have arranged to celebrate the Fourth of July at their school house. An appropriate program has been arranged.

LEVI STRAUSS & CO'S

OVERALLS

San Francisco, Cal.

CENTRAL POINT.

J. Lindquist, father of Mrs. P. Olson, arrived here a few days ago from Nebraska to make this his future home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Walrad of Ashland were visiting in the Point last Sunday the guests of the late Mrs. Walrad.

Booth Lee who has been working in the mines at Harrison Gulch, Cal., returned home last Sunday.

Mrs. W. T. Leever who has been suffering with dropsy was tapped Monday by Dr. Pickle of Medford. She is resting easier at this time.

Ministers present at ministerial association held here last week were: Dr. T. Somerville and N. F. Jenkins, Grant Pass; F. A. Abbott, Ashland; J. W. Warfield, Lakeview; W. B. Moore, Medford; N. J. Harbit, Wilber; B. A. Bristol, Klamath county.

Mr. Messner, city blacksmith, hitched up his fine mare last Sunday for a drive and in backing her she crooked her neck then pitched forward fell and broke her neck.

The fine rains of last week were very beneficial to all kinds of grain and vegetables. The damage to hay that was in the shock is not
