Pendleton East Oregonian: If there be war in China, it will be for dismemberment of the Celestial empire. But, if there be war in China, the pretended motive will be for the protection of the country to teach the tenets of the Christian faith. The pretended motive will enlist the support of all the better classes, and of all the church memberships in this country as well as of all the civilized perions. Thus while and the civilized nations. Thus, while pull-dispatched that an attempt to relieve ing the wool over the eyes of the pious, dispatched that an attempt to relieve the men of affairs who control the Tien-tsin on June 28 was repulsed with the men of affairs who control the march of events will proceed to divide the Chinese Empire in liberal slices among the great powers, and it will be done in the name of Christianity. No one will admit it, but nevertheless, the use of guns to compel the Chinese to accept the missionaries is fully as flagrant a violation of the rights of man as is the act of the tyrant who oppresses the weaker by his superior forces. Of course, this is an age of advancement, yet it appears to be just now the recognition. Tien-tsin on June 23 was repulsed with some loss."
