BRUTAL LYNCHING.

Gov. Gage issues Proclamation Offering $5000 Reward for the Modoe

Cowardly Affair.

Alturas, June 1.—Except in the vicinity of Lookout the action of the mob that lynched the Halls and Yantis is condemned throughout this section. Even at the scene slowly strangled to death, in the sight of of the tragedy, where for months the populace has been highly wrought up by the incessant activity of the five sneak thieves, there are many who would openly denounced the lynching did they but dare.

Having seen the life of Frank Hall choked out, the mob hurried the four remaining prisoners on toward the Pitt river bridge. Though he was a "squaw-man" Calvin Hall was a person of some prominence in the community. In times past he has been a factor in politics, and he was once considered well-to-do. He was a man of considerable education. His half-breed sons had a comon school education, and one of them had a wife and family.

Yantis married Calvin Hall's daughter, who, together with several children, survive him.

The three Lookout citizens then went to District Attorney Bonner and asked him to go down attend to the affair and he replied that he was too busy. They then went to Judge G F. to the affair and he replied that he was too busy. They then went to Judge G F. Harris of this place and employed him to round up the thieves. He agreed to do so if he could get the District Attorney to authorize him to act. He was not able to get the appointment and instead the District Cure advertised and took one bottle which Attorney appointed C. Following a brief inquiry, Calvin Hall his three sons and Daniel Yantis, his son-in-law, were arrested on Saturday on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace J. R. Myers of Lookout, The elder Hall's examination was set for today, he being charged with petty larceny, while the others, accused of burglary, were to have been arraigned next Monday. The old man was released on his own recognizance, but the Jas. Sayles and wife and Jim Asher others were held under $300 bail each, and his mother were at Tolman springs which they were unable to supply.

Justice Myers is proprietor of the Lookout Hotel and his courtroom is the hotel office. That is why the culprits were confined in the hotel building. Taken so completely by surprise, the dep-uty con-tables—there were but two on the after midnight watch-could offer no resistance. One of them, when the vigilantes first entered the door, realizing their mis-
