CATARRH.

Symptoms, Effects, Treatments and Cure, by Dr. Darrin, the Electromagnetic Physician.

Among the chief chronic diseases, which affects the human frame, catarrh is the most prevalent, most offensive, most productive of discomfort, and a variety of distressing and dangerous complications. Its earliest and most prominent symptoms is a discharge from the head, varying in its nature in different eases, and his treatment of them given cases, and even in the same individual at different times. It may be a thin,

In the most advanced stages, the dis-charges are generally of an offensive odor, causing great annoyance to one's friends and to the patient himself, while his sense of smell remains. This anless cases and relieves pains that every novance from the odor becomes almost beyond endurance, more especially when the disease assumes the form of ozaena.

In cases where the bones of the nose become diseased, not only is the offen-Mr. Editor:-For years I have heard siveness of the breath greatly increased, of Dr. Darrin's "Ten Minute Cures," but there is a liability to serious personbut I confess I had little faith in him or al deformities, among which are flattenthe reported cures until lately, when I | ing of the nose.

FATAL EFFECTS OF CATARRH.

The swallowing of catarrhal secretions deranges the functions of the stomach, causing indigestion and loss of appetite

Catarrhal affections, unchecked by treatment, are prone to extend by continuity of surface along the natural air passages to the substance of the lungs, thus causing consumption and death. In this connection it should also be remembered that the air which enters the lungs of a catarrhal patient is, every breath of it, poisoned by exhalations from the foul secretions of the diseased surface. By such air the blood can not be properly purified and made fit to im-part healthy vigor it, its unending circuit to all and every part of the anima mechanism.
