State Treasurer C. S. Moore, E. P. McCormack, Alex Martin, Jr., and Dr. Aikin went to Sprague creek the 17th for a few days outing.

Dick Smith returned the 17th from the state university at Eugene where he graduated lately with high honors. He has been one of the bright stars in athletic sports, also for the last three or four years at Eugene.

There was a fire alarm this Monday afternoon which brought out the fire boys in a hurry and created some excitement for a little while, but the fire was put out without any serious damage. It proved to have been started by "Drugs" who was sleeping off a jag in a room over Geo. W. Bradley's harness shop and accidentally set the bed on fire.

We had a lively runaway one day last week. Richard Britzstein's team took a runaway in a hurry and left the stand in front of Reames & Jennings' store. They started on a walk but soon got to running. Richard succeeded in getting into the wagon but could not reach the lines and was thrown out. The team ran about half a mile and up the wagon when they were stopped. The wagon was broken up some but no serious damage done.

SAMS VALLEY.

We are having very hot weather at present and the poor harvest hands are receiving the full benefit of it. Well, they can't complain as long as they get some pay for their work. Just station it, boys, until Mack's time expires and then we will elect Grover Cleveland and live things up a little.

Wm. Stacey and family left Tuesday of last week for Humboldt county, Cal., where Mr. S. will locate if he finds a suitable location.

C. B. Rowe and wife left this (Tuesday) morning for Wood river valley, Klamath county. Mr. Rowe intends working through hay harvest in Klamath county, after which he will return to Sams valley and visit his parents for a short time, then he will move his family to Redding, Cal.

Charles Boardman and wife and Miss Marie Smith, of Medford, visited with the families of T. Pankey and J. R. Morrison Sunday. Mr. B. has resided in Ashland, after which he will return to Sams valley and visit his parents for a short time, then he will move his family to Redding, Cal.

Well, Tom Pankey and wife and Mart Perry got back from Fort Klamath all right, after so long a time. They were as the Indian and "Boston" celebration and they had a good time, you bet. They guessed the right place to celebrate, they guessed the right horses to bet their money on, they guessed everything right except—well, Tom wasn't to blame, for Tom's wife wore a belt just like the one that Tom was getting his arm around. But the belt Tom was getting his arm around was around a half-breed Indian woman. Tom hadn't noticed that, he only noticed the belt, and he didn't notice his mistake, but the other fellow did and it is a pity he was taking his foot away from Tom's pants Tom noticed that he noticed it, but the time Tom gathered himself up he was across the river and met his wife coming to sympathize with him, and by the time she got through sympathizing with him he was in the middle of the river. Well, Tom crawled out and went home after some dry clothes, but he didn't go back any more. He says the next time he celebrates he will celebrate alone.

Sams Valley, July 23, 1901.
