CONSTRUCTION WORK

Begins Nov. 14 on the Railroad up the Klamath River—Work to be Pushed Right Along Until Completed—A New Townsite, New Saw-mill Plant, Etc.

The most important railroad enterprise since the building of the S. P. railroad through this country will begin two weeks from today, on Nov. 14, being the commencement of work on the Sugar Pine Lumber Company's railroad from a point two miles south of Klamath station to the timber land holdings of the same company at Pokoquam, Or., a distance of 30 miles by the route.

All the preliminaries are now complete and the work of construction under the company's own management to be superintended by competent railroad builders will begin Nov. 14 and will be prosecuted vigorously and by next July or sooner the cars will be running and carrying logs, passengers and freight.

It will be a standard gauge road with 60-lb rails. The cost of construction will be $20,000 per mile. There will be only one bridge which will span the Klamath river about two miles from Jenny creek. The grade will be 6.5 as we understand it. The end of the present construction is in the heart of the company's 70,000 acres of timber land holdings and will also bring the road over the high grades into the Klamath basin land and will allow them to make Pokoquam the freight shipping point for Klamath county and a wide range of eastern Oregon. As a starter and for the principal motive the road is built to haul logs from their timber district to the connection with the S. P. line and 100 logging cars have been arranged for as well as other rolling stock.

The Sugar Pine Lumber Company's lease on the sawmill, river franchise, etc., at Klamath expires in two years and before that time the old property will likely have lost considerable of its present value. The Sugar Pine Co. have secured 1500 acres of land two miles south of Klamath and will erect there on an immense two set sawmill and will manufacture lumber of all kinds, sash, doors, boxing, etc., making one of the most up-to-date outfits on the coast. They will lay out a town site and establish a small city at that place.

THE OIL DRILLING.

The string of tools which were last in the Southern Oregon Oil Company's well at a depth of 932 feet last week were fished out and the work of drilling began again Monday. Yesterday morning they were down 1091 feet. Everything is very favorable.

Lu. Guggenheim and J. B. Treadwell, of the Ashland Oil Co., who are prospecting south of town on the Barron land, were here this week and a new movement on their part is looked forward to soon.

The Duchess of Manchester (who was Miss Helen Zimmerman of Cincinnati) was accouched of a daughter. Both the mother and child are doing well. The infant will receive the names Mary Alva Montag.

Ex-Secretary of State Caleb Bowers was again convicted at Georgetown, Ky., as accessory before the fact to the murder of Governor William E. Goebel in January, 1900, and the second time sentenced to imprisonment for life.

The London Daily Chronicle learns that a syndicate of traders and others who will lose heavily in the event of the coronation not occurring, have effected insurance on the life of King Edward for a very large sum at Lloyd's at the high rate of 10 guineas per cent.

The supreme court at Lansing, Mich., handed down a decision affirming a judgment for $100 secured by Anna Lee, a licensed bicycle rider, against the city of Port Huron, for injuries in a fall caused by the defective condition of the sidewalks. The court was of opinion that "to ride a bicycle upon the sidewalk may not be a nuisance, where to drive a horse and wagon upon it would," and held that the municipality must keep the sidewalks in reasonable repair for all ordinary use.

According to the London correspondent of the New York Tribune, the South African Cold Storage company has been making immense profits out of the supplying of meat to the British soldiers. The amount now available for distribution, as the result of a year's trading, is about $5,500,000. The preponderating interest in the company is, curiously enough, Dutch and Boer.

Philippine Worthless as Workmen.

George H. Allen, general manager of the Hongkong and New York Furniture company, recently went to Manila to establish a large furniture and mill making factory, to employ 800 or 400 people. The intention was to employ cheap Oriental labor for the conversion of mahogany and other Philippine woods into furniture, from which large profits were expected. A site was secured in Manila and arrangements made for starting the factory. Allen's investigations into the Philippine labor supply were so discouraging, however, that he has since left for Hongkong, and intends now to erect the factory there. He came to the conclusion that the Filipinos could not be reckoned on in any industrial proposition because of their worthlessness as laborers and especially as skilled mechanics. Allen says: "In all my experience, the Filipino is the poorest specimen as a laborer proposition I have ever seen. Between laziness and general listlessness, he may be regarded as a degenerate. All he seems to care for is to exist, to have his little plot of ground, his fighting cock and his family around him. That is why we are going to locate in Hongkong instead of Manila."

The Survival of the Fittest.

Professor H. H. Powers, formerly of Stanford university, now professor of sociology at Cornell, strongly reiterates his position announced some time ago that feeble-minded persons should be killed for the benefit of mankind. "I am strongly in favor of killing off the weak in society for the benefit of the strong," said Professor Powers. "I would kill off the feeble-minded and all others who may be a burden to society. I would see to it that no rattlebrains, Nature formerly weeded out the unfit, but now life is made so much easier that a large percentage of those who are a burden to the better elements are helped to live."

SAYS KYLE DID IT

A Great Falls Husband wants $5000 From a Former Well-Known Citizen of Ashland for Alleging the Affections of a Wife.

Great Falls, Mont., dispatch in Anaconda Standard.] A sensation was sprung in the city today when a writ was filed in the district court in which A. T. Kyle, a well-known real estate man of this city, was charged by H. C. Fallang with alleging the affections of the wife. The court is asked to render a judgment against Kyle and in favor of Fallang for the sum of $5000. This suit is another chapter of the story which was made public Saturday when Mathilda M. Fallang filed a suit for divorce in the district court, asking to be released from the bonds of matrimony into which she had entered with Herbert C. Fallang at St. Paul on Dec. 17, 1908. She charged her husband with adultery, with being a profligate and given to dissipation to such an extent that he had refused to provide for the wants of his family.

Yesterday morning the police were called in to suppress Mr. Fallang, who had been making such outcries at his home on the south side as to make the people in the vicinity believe he was crazy. It was found, however, that he was only lamenting the loss of his wife, and after telling him to keep quiet and make as little noise as possible the police departed.

The next development in the trial troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Fallang appeared today when Herbert C. Fallang, through his attorney, W. C. Drake, brought suit against A. T. Kyle. The complaint, which is a short one, reads as follows: "That Mathilda M. Fallang is at present, and at the time of the filing hereof, the wife of Herbert C. Fallang. That by reason of the promises, August, 1901, while the plaintiff was living and cohabiting with and supporting his wife, the defendant, who is at present, and at the time of the filing hereof, the husband of the plaintiff, and while they were living together happily as man and wife, the defendant wrongfully and maliciously endeavored to injure the plaintiff, and to deprive him of the comfort, society and assistance of his wife and maliciously endeavored to injure her, and to deprive her of the residence in Great Falls to which she and her said wife, and which she had lawfully acquired by her said husband, and to deprive her of the benefit of the same, and to cause her to make application for divorce in the court, all of which have been done to the injury of the plaintiff and without his consent. That by reason of the promises of the defendant, the plaintiff has been and is being wrongfully deprived of the benefit of the same, and the defendant has been and is being greatly humiliated by the publicity given to the same, and the plaintiff has been and is being damaged to the amount of $5000."

Tom Fanky and wife were called to the Elk creek hatchery by the illness of Tom's cousin Ruben who was taken sick last week. They stayed for a few days in caring for the sick boy until Thursday last when Ruben's mother arrived from Park Place near Oregon City. She arrived at 11 a. m. and her beloved boy in his last hours. He passed away Saturday at about 6 p. m. and was buried in Sams Valley cemetery the following day.

Mrs. Nellie Hardier, wife of Philip C. Hardier, a contractor, of Denver, is dead from morphine poisoning, and William T. Flanders, a Lyons (Colo.) hotel owner, is in a hospital and may die from the same cause. "We fixed up to die together, for we loved each other and could not live apart," said Flanders, who is a married man, after the woman was found dead in his room in the Midland hotel at Denver. Should Flanders recover he will be charged with murder.

Admiral George Dovey resigned the presidency of the Metropolitan club, one of the most exclusive organizations of the city of Washington, because of the savage criticism made by members of the club of the rulings of the court of inquiry in the Schley case. The criticism was leveled at Admiral Dewey alone, but at Rear Admiral Benham and Ramsay as well, some of the members charging that the rulings of the court were too favorable to Schley. Dewey, feeling that he should not act only on his own behalf, but also on behalf of his distinguished colleagues, Benham and Ramsay, resigned.

DEATH OF J. B. R.

John B. R. Ashland for many years past, died yesterday morning at his home in Ashland. The funeral takes place this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock at the residence of his wife, Mrs. H. C. Fallang.

Mr. Hutchings was born in Madison county, Missouri, in 1840, and came to Oregon in 1877, coming to Jackson county one year later, since which time he has been a resident of this city continuously. He was married to Mrs. H. C. Fallang and leaves a widow but no children.

Mr. Hutchings followed the occupation of general contractor for many years, everybody in southern Oregon. He came from sturdy Missouri stock and was a very firm man in his convictions. Having decided views on the question of a concern man's existence and destiny. He always retained the respect of his friends and neighbors and was a good citizen and upright man.

John Miller, who has been herding sheep for J. H. Herrin, was brought to bed this morning with his right arm and both lower extremities helpless from paralysis.

The homicide at McCleod last Thursday, was investigated by Coroner John A. Fairchild and a verdict of justifiable self-defense was rendered, in the killing of C. W. Newby, by W. E. Page, a railroad conductor. Newby was addicted to drinking and neglected his work, as shown by a logging train, when Conductor Page discharged him, employed another man in his place. This caused Newby to become angry at the conductor, besides securing a pistol for the purpose, as proved by several witnesses. He told the waitress at the hotel to get his dinner as he wanted to kill the conductor before he pulled out the train, so to start. As Newby boarded the train in a threatening manner, the conductor shot at him twice, both bullets taking effect and killing him instantly.

As soon as the coroner's jury exonerated Conductor Page he skipped out of town and has not been seen since. This morning the coroner's jury has heard that he did not have much faith in his own motives and there are many people in that neighborhood who believe that he took advantage of the fact that the weak and rattle headed brakeman to take his life. A warrant was immediately issued for his arrest.

COZLOWSKI ELECTROCUT.

Leon Cozowski, who assassinated President McKinley at the Buffalo Pan-Am exposition, was electrocuted in the penitentiary at Auburn, N. Y., at 7:15 a. m. Tuesday. He was firm to the last, and slept sound the night before. While he was being carried to the gallows the president because he was an enemy of the poor people—the good working people I am not sorry for my crime." About thirty minutes before he was executed he said: "I am sorry I could not see my father." The physicians hiding the autopsy decided that his brain was normal, if not above normal. The remains were buried in the prison burying ground.

The Illinois supreme court awarded a writ of mandamus against the state board of equalization to compel it to assess the capital stock, including franchises, of 23 Chicago corporations, totaling $1,000,000, all of which had escaped taxation previously, and was likely to be omitted again by the board. The board was ordered to do so without assessing this vast amount of property.

CRIMES AND ACCIDENTS.

As the result of a wreck on the Burlington near Exton, La., four have died and two others are not expected to live.

A cry of fire at the Temple theater Louisville, created a panic, and in the rush to escape many were knocked down, and about a score were badly hurt, two or three so seriously that it is feared they will not survive their injuries. A little flash of flame from a polypose caused the panic.

Half a million dollars' worth of buildings and slaughtered cattle were destroyed by fire which broke out in the town of Hammond, Ind. More than 2,000 persons were employed in the departments destroyed. The plans will be rebuilt at once.

Twenty-one persons were killed and many injured in a fire that started in the eight-story building occupied by Hunt, Wilkinson & Co., upholsters and furniture dealers, Market street, Philadelphia. More than half of the firm's employees were on the upper five floors, and it was among these that the greatest number were killed and injured. The property loss is estimated at about $500,000.

Andrew Israelson, a homesteader near Beechwood, a small settlement eight miles west of Iron river, Mich., killed his wife and her father, and then shot himself through the body and is believed to be fatally wounded. The mania next shot his sister-in-law through the heart, and then turned to the house in which, lying in bed, was the aged mother of his wife, who, however, was rescued from the flames by some passers-by. Israelson then put the gun to his head and blew out his brains.

Eugene Wall was shot to death by unknown persons seven miles from San Augustine, Tex. Wall is the sixth man to die in the Wall-Brooks feud, and his faction has contributed five victims, two of them sheriffs of the county. Rangers have been ordered to stop any further trouble. Wall was shot from ambush and fell within a few yards of where his brother was assassinated recently.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Secretary Long announced that Rear Admiral S. A. Crowninshield, chief of the navigation bureau, would be detached from that position and take command of the European squadron next March, being relieved of his present duties by Rear Admiral Henry C. Taylor.

The war department, it is said, is preparing to submit to congress a mass of evidence in favor of the restoration of the cañon system. The department will insist on the abolition of the cañon, which has been productive of much evil. General Miles has come into great favor with the anti-cañon forces because of his recent announcement of his opposition to the restoration of the cañon.

Colonel A. L. Mills, superintendent of the military academy, in his annual report, says the cadets are loyally obeying the new regulations against hazing. The discipline of the corps of cadets, says Colonel Mills, has greatly improved during the year, and is now in an excellent condition. It is believed that a military body exists which excels it in soldierly appearance and in the perfection of drill and military exercises, as well as in the higher requirements of devotion to duty.

Yale Honors President Roosevelt.

During the celebration of the bicentennial of Yale university the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon President Roosevelt. In the presence of many distinguished people who had come to New Haven to attend the celebration, President Hadley, addressing President Roosevelt, spoke as follows:

"Theodore Roosevelt, while you were yet a private citizen, you had the most worthy of the degree of LL.D. Since in his providence it has pleased God to give Theodore Roosevelt another title, we give him on that account a double portion of welcome. He is a Harvard man by nature, but we are proud to think that in his democratic spirit, his broad national sympathies, and above all his clearness and purity and truth, he will be glad to be an adopted son of Yale."

President Roosevelt, in reply, said: "President Hadley: I have never yet worked at a desk worth doing that I did not find myself working shoulder to shoulder with some son of Yale. I have never yet been in a struggle for righteousness and decency that there were not men of Yale to aid me and give me strength and courage. As we walked hither and thither we passed by a gateway which was raised to the memory of a young Yale lad who was hurt to death by a bullet, and a great many others like us marched against the gunfire of the heights, and with those memories kind in my mind I thank you from my heart for the honor you have done me, and I thank you doubly, for you planned to do me that honor while I was yet a private citizen."

At a reception afterward, at which President Roosevelt was present, it was noticeable that there was no handshaking.

The British admiralty has ordered the construction of a battleship larger than any now existing. Her displacement will be 16,500 tons, and her length 425 feet. She will be the first vessel of the King Edward class.

John Alwin, master of the steamship Carondelet, has had his license suspended for 90 days and Duncan Crow, her chief engineer, has had his papers revoked, for bringing the vessel, which sailed on Sept. 29 for Nome, back to Seattle, on the ground that it was unsafe, owing to "leaky boilers and poor coal." The California Miners' association, which has 9,700 members, held its tenth annual convention at San Francisco, and at its close re-elected all its officers. A new office was created, that of third vice-president, which fell to M. E. Dittmar, editor of The Mineral Wealth, San Francisco. Among several important resolutions passed was one urging a cabinet department of mines and mining.

Delegates from all parts of Arizona attended the convention at Phoenix for the purpose of putting forward the claims of the territory for admission into the union as a state. Resolutions to that effect were passed unanimously, and a committee of six was chosen to go to Washington to lay the claims of the territory before congress.

President Roosevelt will come to the Pacific coast next summer if public business permits. He made this statement to Federal Marshal Ide of the state of Washington, who returned from the east recently. The president spoke freely regarding his love for hunting, and said that nothing would give him greater pleasure than to engage in an elk hunt in the Olympic mountains. At least three days will be necessary for a hunt of this kind.

The Calaveras river at Jenny Lind, six miles from Milton, Cal., will in the near future be dredged for the purpose of securing rich hidden riches. The banks of the Calaveras, in the vicinity of Jenny Lind, furnished very rich placer grounds in early days, and rich returns are expected in the dredging of the river at this point.

A skip loaded with two tons of rock at the Lighter mine, Angels Camp, Cal., shot down 700 feet to the bottom of the shaft, where Martin Eglon and John Martinich were at work mauling. Eglon was instantly killed, while Martinich had his right leg broken and was severely injured otherwise. Failure of the brakes to hold the loaded skip was the cause of its rushing back down the shaft.
