J. I. West, made a business trip to Prineville, this week.

There is absolutely no truth in the report that this place has a case of smallpox.

Sunday school, at the school-house, every Sunday, 2 P. M. every one is cordially invited.

Dr. J. W. Vogel, the Oculist, from Prineville, spent a day in our town, this week.

We need a telephone line from here to Prineville, we shall continue to talk until we get one.

M. C. Aubrey, of this city is transacting business and enjoying life at the County-seat this week.

W. H. Staats and Fred Staats are both down with the grippe, and now looks like a hospital in Mr. Staats' home.

The old postoffice building was moved across the street, this week to a lot near the new store, and is now occupied by White & Hill's Meat Market.

Sylvester Staats, son of W. H. Staats, has been suffering from a very severe attack of the grippe, he is still confined to his bed but is improving slowly.

The residents of our little town seem to have caught the spring fever and have improved the appearance of the place very much by cleaning their yards and removing unsightly fences, let the good work go on.

Owing to the loss of the Crooked River bridge, no paper mail arrives at this place last Monday, the mail carrier was obliged to travel on horseback as far as Powell Buttes, where he procured a team and made his trip on schedule time.

Reed & Steidl, have received a load of machinery for their sawmill and expect more in a few days, they will then begin placing the machinery in position, and expect to be sawing lumber for the market by the 15th of the month.

Mr. C. O. Brownell, a Contractor and Builder of Hibbing, Minn., passed through town on Tuesday on the return trip from the timber near Silver Lake, there were 16 other timber seekers in the party but only six of them succeeded in securing claims.

We acknowledge a pleasant call from Messrs. C. D. Wise, J. Ryan and W. G. Close, as they passed through town on their way to Lava. Mr. Close is a Hardware dealer of Hibbing, Minn. and is taking his initial trip and investigating the future prospects of Deschutes valley.

George Estes fished here with a load of timber people, on Wednesday, two days out from Prineville via Trail crossing in order to cross the river, after a hard drive the first day they were only twelve miles from Prineville, but on the opposite side of the river, and still twenty miles from here.

Miss Maud Vanderpool and Miss Ethel Philliber, of Prineville, but who, are now farming Miss Vanderpool's homestead, were in town last Wednesday. The young ladies expected to return to Prineville on their friends could not cross Crooked river to come after them, herefore the young ladies returned to their farm, after a pleasant call at the Echo office.

Hello! Is this Frank Forest's farm on Crooked river? Yes! This is Prineville, Your petition for a bridge has been allowed, the bridge here Sunday morning by water please be prepared to catch it.

Messrs. John Steidl, Dick Vanlevert, Frank Hodson, Avery Scoggin and Henry Tweet, tried water navigation with disastrous results last Monday they built a flat-boat in which they might cross Crooked river where the bridge had gone out. They placed their buggy, a trunk and various other parcel on the boat, then Steidl and Scoggins got on board and pushed out into the stream where the current caught the boat and stood it on end in a moment, spilling men, buggy and into the river, after quite an effort the men got ashore. The next day they fished out the buggy and trunk, but a number of things were lost among which, was an overcoat and a new suit of clothing belonging to Mr. Hodson, and Mr. Steidl's overcoat, the contents of the trunk, which belonged to Mr. Tweet, was almost ruined by the muddy water.
