W. H. Staats went to Prineville Monday for a load of goods.

Henry Bergman, of Albany, passed through here on his return to his home Wednesday.

Perry Poindexter returned to Prineville last Saturday after a successful fishing trip up the river.

L. G. Barron and John Sizemore left for Squaw creek yesterday and will return tonight.

Miss Laura Bandle and Miss Martha B. Roberts have been visiting at H. J. Palmer's ranch during the week.

Wallace Hunter arrived from Ashland, Wis., last week and will spend the winter with John Bloss at his Matoles ranch.

Miss Elizabeth Matlock, of Heppner, and J. M. Keeney, of Shaniko, left for their homes Sunday after having spent several days in the vicinity of Bend.

H. H. Fink, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, is in the city this week. Mr. Fink is interested in irrigated lands and came here to examine some with a view of purchasing.

D. F. Stewart, J. H. Templeton and W. A. Booth, of Prineville, passed through Bend Wednesday on their way to Crane Prairie. From there they will cross the mountains with pack horses and hunt for bear.

Arut Aune returned from Clarkston, Wash. last Saturday accompanied by his wife and daughter. Oliver Johnson's family arrived with them. The Aune and Johnson families will make this place their home.

Max Wurzweiler, who has held a position at the Bend Mercantile Company's store for the past two months, left for Prineville Monday morning. He will remain there for a week and then go to Portland where he will spend the winter at a business college.

Fred T. Griffith came in from Prineville Thursday on a wheel and continued his journey southward yesterday. His destination is Yosemite Falls, Calif., a distance of eight hundred miles all of which he intends to cover on his wheel.

Miss Laura Bandle went to Prineville Thursday morning.

C. Carlson, of Shaniko, brought in a load of passengers this week.

C. A. Lytle and Dr. Harold Clark and family passed through town this week on their way up the river for an outing.

D. L. McKay, who looks after the timber interests of the Mueller Lumber Company, passed through here Thursday on his way to his home in Duluth, Minn.

James Keenan, of the Willow creek ranch, passed through Bend this week on his way home from Klamath county where he had been looking after a band of sheep.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mueller, who have spent the past week at Wm. Vandervert's place, returned to this place Thursday. They left the same day for their home in Davenport, Iowa.

J. H. Jorgens, of Spokane, passed through Deschutes Thursday on his way home from Silver Lake where he has been looking over the country with a view of investing in timber and desert lands.

D. L. McKay and Alfred Mueller, representatives of the Mueller Lumber Company of Davenport, Iowa, spent the past week in the vicinity of Lava where they examined the timber holdings of their company. Mr. McKay who made the purchase of a large tract for the company some three years ago when he spent an entire season on the Deschutes river evidently had his eyes open to the possibilities that the lumbering industry would some day attain in this region. Mr. Mueller, to whom the country is new as this was his first visit, seems well pleased with his company's investment and speaks very encouragingly of rapid development along timber lines in the Deschutes valley within a few years. With the advent of large sawmills on the river his company will certainly realize handsomely off the investments made when the thought of buying Deschutes river timber had entered but few minds.
