

Two New Clodhoppers.

If the following from the Oregonian be true, Crook county can credit itself with two more devoted agriculturalists in the persons of Don P. Rea and Martin Pratt, both former residents of this place.

Many members of Company H, Second Oregon, will be surprised to learn that their comrades, Martin Pratt and Don Rae, who went all through the Philippine War with them, have turned farmers. They have taken up homesteads in Crook County, about 30 miles from Prineville, not far from the center of the state, and are located there and preparing to sit under their own vines and fig trees.

They have had a blacksmith turn the Spanish bayonets they brought home from the Philippines into pruning hooks, and will buy plows with plowshares on them, and somewhere in the world there is a maiden thinking of each of them and singing: "I'll be mistress of my dairy and a milking of my cow, while my jolly, brisk young farmer boy goes whistling to his plow." This programme is subject to change, as it is not quite certain whether they will engage in wheat-growing or stockraising or timber culture. In any event all their old comrades will wish them success.

A party of tourists from Salem, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fry and children, Mr. J. Frizzell and daughter and Miss Emily Jeffries, stopped at Sizemore's Sunday night on their return from Crater Lake. A large bear tooth which Mr. Fry exhibited is said to be one of the trophies of the trip, but just how he succeeded in extracting it was not explained to us. While here Mr. Fry, who runs one of the largest wholesale drug houses in Oregon, took an order of W. H. Staats for a stock of Fry's famous remedies, which will shortly be on sale at Staats' store.

J. E. Roberts, a sheepman from Prineville, passed through Deschutes Thursday on his return from a trip to the mountains where he spent some time looking after his sheep.

Messrs. G. Springer, J. W. Elliott and C. A. Graves will return next week to complete their work in connection with the changing of the county road.

The Review office carries all kinds of legal blanks, and is the only place in Prineville that carries a complete and up-to-date stock.
