

LOCAL NOTES.

A. W. Pope was a visitor at the Meadows last Sunday.

Rev. O. W. Triplett returned to his home in Prineville last Monday.

W. E. Helfrich, of Lamonta, was a business visitor in Bend last Tuesday.

Miss Marion Wiest was a visitor at the Riley ranch Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dr. McKinnie and wife, of Sisters, were visitors in Bend the first of the week.

Ralph Caldwell has entered into a partnership with J. I. West in the meat business.

Remember that W. H. Staats will soon have a complete assortment of Fry's famous remedies.

W. F. Stewart, Maxim LePage and Theophile St. Michel came in from their homesteads Monday.

Mrs. T. O. Harshman and son, Paul, and H. W. Reed were visitors in Prineville the first of the week.

Attorney G. W. Barnes, of Prineville, spent Wednesday in town, leaving next day for points up the river.

A. E. MacAllister left last Saturday for his home in Grand Rapids, where he will spend the winter.

C. D. Weisz is at his homestead this week finishing his house and making preparations to move his family out for the winter.

Knox and Wade Huston, of Prineville, passed through town Monday on their way to Crescent lake where they will hunt.

W. H. Birdsong returned Monday to his sawmill on Mill creek after building a comfortable residence on his farm under the Swalley ditch.

Low's Cash Grocery will occupy its new quarters next week. An addition to the present stock will arrive shortly which will give the store a complete line.

W. H. Staats will soon have a complete stock of Fry's household remedies. These medicines have a great reputation and you should not fail to try them when sick.

Truthful James made Prineville the intellectual center of the county for a few hours last Sunday. We regret that our Prineville neighbors had to endure the presence of that vacant stare.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Morrison left Tuesday for their homestead after a visit of several weeks at this place and The Dalles. Mr. Morrison will make extensive improvements on his place this winter.

John Sizemore left Thursday morning for the Willamette valley by way of the Santiam route. Mr. Sizemore was accompanied by Wm. Stephens and together they will spend several weeks in Web-foot on business and pleasure.

R. E. Warner and son Ross, of Brownsville, were visitors in Bend the first of the week. While here they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas at the Pilot Butte Inn. The Warner and Lucas families were formerly neighbors in Nebraska.

Mrs. C. D. Weisz, Miss Nellie Rogers and J. F. Booge left Tuesday for Miss Rogers' homestead where they will remain for some time.

Ora Poindexter moved his household effects to the L. C. Perry place Wednesday. The Poindexters expect to spend the winter there.

J. E. Ryan left last Saturday for his homestead, taking a load of lumber with which he will complete a large barn that he recently started to build. Mr. Ryan will make various improvements on his place during the winter.

James Hunter accompanied by his daughter, Miss Etta, and son, Harry, and nephew, Ora Hunter, arrived from Albany last Monday and will spend the winter on his homestead near Rosland. Miss Hunter also has a claim in this vicinity.

M. F. Hodson, formerly of this place and P. W. Hubbard of Cottage Grove, were visitors in Deschutes the first of the week. Mr. Hodson recently took to ranching in the Willamette valley and his trip to the Deschutes was for the purpose of moving his household effects to his new home.

H. H. Irvine and G. S. Johnson, of St. Paul, Minn., Dennis McCarthy, of Stillwater, Minn., and O. J. Gray of this place were at the Pilot Butte Inn last Saturday night. They left the next day for up-river points to look over some timber lands that the St. Paul gentlemen recently became interested in.

Messrs. Steidl & Reed are erecting a 16x24 stable under the rimrock near their sawmill. The second floor will have a seven-foot wall and above this will be a sloping roof extending to the top of the rimrock from which hay and fodder can be unloaded with very little effort. Dan Heising and Peter Reisdorfer are doing the work.

G. R. Roberts and daughter, Miss Martha B., left Monday morning for their home at Louisa, Ky. Mr. Roberts and daughter have been residents of Deschutes for the past six months and have during that time made many warm friends who regret to see them leave. Mr. Roberts may return to Deschutes next spring to remain permanently.
