The attempt developed the fact that the river is only navigable for fish. The boat, which was of their own construction, capsized in the river and several rifles and other bachelor treasures were given as peace offerings to the river god. Believed in Dreams.

A farmer near North Powder had a peculiar experience. During the summer his wife lost a fur collar and the most careful search failed to reveal its whereabouts. A short time ago he dreamed three nights in succession of seeing the collar under the northwest corner of the granary. It so impressed him that he finally went out and investigated, thrusting his arm under the foundation. Sure enough, he felt a hairy substance and pulled it out. The man buried his clothes but the skunk escaped.—Ex.
