John Sizemore was surprised Tuesday night by a large party of his young friends who dropped in to help celebrate his sixty-seventh birthday. The evening proved to be a very pleasant one and was greatly enlivened by the presence of the band boys. The secret of Uncle John's natal day was discovered by the young people through Mrs. C. D. Weisz who had baked a cake for the occasion. After a pleasant evening spent in conversation, telling stories and partaking of light refreshments, the young folks departed for their homes wishing Mr. Sizemore many more happy birthdays. The band boys stopped at intervals along the road and treated the people to some very good music.
