Harry Broker, who for more than six months past has been a resident of this place, left last Tuesday for Prineville and will shortly go to St. Louis, Mo., to make his future home. His many friends here will be sorry to learn of his departure, and will wish him god-speed on his journey. Harry says that the pressure was to great for him between the accusation of having fallen in love and the reign of terror by a petticoat board of directors in his now famous brass band organization and he thought it high time to be hiking to a place of safety. Mr. Broker has accepted an engagement to play with a large concert band at St. Louis during the World's Fair. He says that if ever we abolish woman's suffrage on the Deschutes river he will return and once more camp under the junipers.
