Buy your working clothes at the New York Cash Store.

Prince Staats is visiting friends at Prineville this week.

Leo Pelarske, of Silver Lake, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Fry are staying at Prineville this week.

Willie Vandeventer was down from the Meadows the first of the week.

W. H. Staats was a business visitor at the county seat this week.

Mrs. Jackie Brock, of Prineville, is visiting her parents at this place.

C. E. Dawson and E. L. Keeney were business visitors in town today.

J. N. Hunter transacted business at Prineville Thursday. He returned home yesterday.

J. E. Ryan left yesterday for The Dalles where he will remain several days on business.

Work will soon begin on a large hotel building at Lytle. The building of a large store is also in contemplation.

H. W. Reed returned Wednesday from Portland where he had been on business for the past several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rumery, of Sumpter, passed through town Wednesday on their way home from Silver Lake.

Mrs. Harshman and son, Paul, returned Wednesday from Portland where they have been visiting for several weeks.

The shingle mill is now in continuous operation and the demand for shingles so great that the proprietors have a month's product sold in advance.

Special Agent Horace F. Jones stopped at Hotel Staats last Saturday while on his way to Prineville. From the latter place Mr. Jones goes to Portland.

Jack Wimer came in from Grant's Pass this week to settle down on his homestead on Bull creek. The Wimers are doing good work in that district.

P. B. Poindexter, Ed Crabtree and Byron Cady, of Prineville, passed through town Monday on their way up the river where they will spend several weeks hunting.

Construction work on the Columbia Southern railroad towards this town will begin in two weeks. Grading implements are on the ground and very little preparation is necessary to start the work.

George H. Long and Thos. P. McAllister, of Spokane, and Henry Long, of Austin, Minn., were in town yesterday. They were returning from Silver Lake where they had made proof on timber claims.

Oiver Johnson and family moved down from the homestead last Sunday and are now settled down in the Aubrey building which underwent numerous changes at the carpenter's hands in fitting it for their reception.

The Oregonian says Malcolm A. Moody is an aspirant for congressional honors, expecting to succeed Mr. Williamson in the Second district. It also asserts, with apparently some degree of authority, that Mr. Moody is likely to carry off the prize. Of course, no one can tell accurately what the Multnomah delegates will do, but if it be left to the people of Eastern Oregon, as it should be, no very clear foresight is necessary in order to see Moody's finish. The Inland Empire has about as much use for him as a country print shop has for a cash register.—Prineville Review.

A number of timber claims on the Matoles river and elsewhere in Crook county have been sold during the past week. The purchasers were lumber companies. The prices paid ran from $600 to $1500 per quarter section. Many of the transactions were at the $1500 price.

Hanna is Dead at Washington.

Senator Marcus Alonzo Hanna died at 6:40 o'clock Monday night at the family apartments in the Arlington Hotel, after an illness extending over nearly two months, filled with apparent recoveries followed by relapses, and finally drifting into typhoid fever, which, in his weakened condition, he was unable to withstand. When the end came all the members of the senator's family were in the room except Mrs. Hanna, the senator's wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna. Mrs. Hanna had left the room only a few minutes before.

The last sinking spell began at exactly 6:30 o'clock. Doctors Carter and Osler were then in attendance. They did not conceal the fact that life was about to end, and all the members of the family were sent for. Mrs. McCormick, one of the senator's daughters, and Miss Phelps were present when the end came. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna were the first to arrive, and they withdrew immediately to the chamber of the senator's wife to summon her to the bedside. It was while they were absent that the senator breathed his last.

There were no distressing incidents attending the last moments. It was a sinking spell, which terminated in 10 minutes. Just after his eyes closed in death Mrs. Hanna was able to come into the room.

For the last two days Senator Hanna had not been conscious except at intervals, and then only to obey mechanically some instructions given him by the physicians. Fourteen hours before the end was announced life had practically suspended, the flickering spark being kept aglow by the most powerful scientific agencies. Shortly before 4 o'clock, Senator Scott, of West Virginia, an associate of the stricken statesman on the national Republican committee, was closeted with Dr. Carter, the family physician, who told him the senator was then sinking gradually; that the end might come at any moment, but life might be prolonged for two or three hours.

The senator passed the day practically without nourishment of any kind, being too weak to retain it. The household had become resigned to the inevitable outcome, and sadly waited the final summons. Shortly after 6 o'clock, word came from the sick-room that the sick man was simply wasting away. At 6:30 o'clock, there was a severe sinking spell. Dr. Osler realized that dissolution was at hand, and he hurriedly summoned the family.

"The end is very near," he said to them. Sorrowfully they passed into the chamber just before life flickered out. For ten minutes life ebbed slowly and finally, at precisely 6:40 o'clock the senator breathed his last. Those in the death chamber wept, and Mr. Dover quietly passed out and down along the long corridor of the hotel to the waiting crowd of newspaper men. "The senator died at 6:40," he announced, and in a moment the news was flashed throughout the world. President Roosevelt was at once notified by Postmaster-General Payne.
