Now that A. M. Drake is in Portland the Oregonian will not suffer for news about Bend. The news will now take the form of townsite boom talk. It is a fact that things have looked up since Drake quit his system of aerial irrigation, and the D. I. & P. Company started work. Of course Drake is willing to take any profits that may result from the new company's efforts. It may be that the Lord inspired the organization of the new company for the celestial purpose of helping Drake out. Anyway Drake will let it be understood up in Portland that he is the whole show out this way, and that he has set the new company to work and will see that it does business right. In the last interview Drake gave the Oregonian, he claimed that he was interested in the present company when he certainly was not. Maybe the Oregonian readers are so well trained in distinguishing between real news and news column advertising that they will size up the matter correctly. It's too bad that Drake cannot get a new Carey act grant to sell out. His experience in this line ought to be worth something to him.

The activity of the Hearst supporters has at last urged the conservative element of the democratic party to concentrate on a candidate, and it now appears as if Parker of New York would gain strength. The democrats of the South are talking strongly for Cleveland, but their talk will end up in support of any safe man that New York can agree upon. Hill of New York is a strong advocate of Parker, and it is supposed that Hill will be in line for a place in the cabinet, should Parker be elected. The democratic platform for this election will undoubtedly be less radical than for years past. If Hill makes concessions to Tammany Parker is likely to be the party nominee. He is the only democrat who has carried the state since Cleveland's time.

At the risk of being considered impertinent we suggest that a three-color halftone portrait of Register Nolan of The Dalles land office would make an excellent label for a certain brand of canned lobster now on the market.—Review. Is this an intimation that Nolan would be a cannibal if he ate a lobster salad?

The most sanguine friends of ex-Congressman Moody have given up hoping for his renomination. The joker who sent the special to the Oregonian stating that Crook county leans toward Moody is following the example of Brer Fox in Uncle Remus, and is "lyin low."

The Japs have become more cautious, and are making careful preparation before hazarding a battle. The first land battle will have a great moral effect upon the adherents of the combatants, and hence the great caution used.

Political "slates" are the means by which weak men and grafters are enabled to secure places on a ticket without popular consent. The evil is the result of the caucus system and lives and dies with it. The proposed primary law deserves the support of every good citizen.

People who have had business before The Dalles land office have been complaining of the methods used in that institution. The scripper seems to be the whole thing with the register. Nolan has held the office a long time, considering his inefficiency. He is one of the most incompetent officials in the federal land service and we hazard the statement that four months will find him minus an office. He has written enough of foolish letters to demonstrate that he cannot understand land law or decisions when he reads them. He also suffers from a case of "big head."

Union miners have been driven out of Telluride, Colorado, by citizens. In several other cities in the United States, employers have made a stand against the overbearing attitude of unions and are preparing to fight the unions to the end. Labor organizations are useful for working men so long as they are not dominated by demagogues and grafters who never worked in their lives. While the union keeps within its rights, and does not infringe the rights of others its power for good is great, but within the last year it has lost popular sympathy in many parts of the country.

A Manila paper will be published at the St. Louis fair showing the business opportunities in the Philippines. It is said that since the American occupation of the Islands the natives have refused to work. Formerly, servants and laborers were obtainable for very low wages, but times have changed and some sort of police regulation will have to be made so that the Filipinos will not become a race of vagrants.

If Portland newspapers correctly describe the wrathful doings of Sheriff Storey after his defeat for renomination, the surprise is not that the man got out of office, but that he ever managed to get in. The chances for the republican party to succeed in any part of the United States this year seem very doubtful to Storey now.

The house of representatives is not anxious to take up the repeal of the timber and stone act and the other recommendations of the department of the interior. The readiness of the senate to take the matter up made it seem as though the changes would soon be made, but the house listens a little closer to public sentiment.

The correspondent of the Oregonian who said that Crook county was for Moody can learn something to his advantage by sending his name to the Crook County Journal, the Prineville Review, or to this paper.

The decision which the U. S. supreme court rendered against combination in the Merger case, shows that trusts can be controlled if the matter is properly brought before the courts.

The Oregon Sunday Journal made its initial appearance and created a very favorable impression.

The people of Corvallis should have set the brakes on the Holy Roller Creffield long before they did.

The special dispatches to the newspapers telling of the fall of Port Arthur serve one good purpose.

They permit another item next day denying the report.

The Wasco county republican convention sent an un instructed delegation to the congressional convention. The delegates are Moody men but Moody's name will not be presented.

The house of representatives reported a bill giving the Lewis and Clark fair $475,000. When the bill passes a conference will probably be had with the senate and a larger amount agreed on.

The new "Fairy" calendar issued this year by the N. K. Fairbank Company, of Chicago, contains one of the finest collections of color plates that has ever been offered to the public. The six bust studies of young women are marvelously beautiful. The calendar can be had by sending ten oval fronts from Fairy Soap boxes or 25c in stamps to the N. K. Fairbanks Company.

Since taking charge of the O'Neil Oyster house at Prineville, Dave Rogers has improved the service wonderfully at that popular establishment. The public will always find this place supplied with all the delicacies obtainable served up in first-class shape. The only place in Prineville where fresh oysters are served.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases. They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured it on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to Aug. 25, eighty seven per cent of the test were either well or progressing favorably. There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction, the proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free upon application.
