The Oregonian takes exception to an Echo article concerning Roosevelt's attitude toward Oregon. The Oregonian admits that Hitchcock regards every man who exercises his statutory right to take up public land as a thief, but says that Hitchcock will not hold his position should Roosevelt be elected for another term. No official announcement of this intention has ever been made by the president and whenever an appeal has been made from Hitchcock to the president it has been sustained. A president has much influence over his cabinet, and the secretary of the interior is undoubtedly acting upon the president's instructions in many of his acts. The growth of Oregon must be through the taking up of government land, and if this is hindered the growth of the state is jeopardized. There is no department of the government that can do this state so much injury as the interior department and it is a fact that it is being done.

The Bend, Kutchner and Hay Creek precincts have shown the greatest increase in registration of any parts of Crook county. Kutchner has increased 110 registered voters while Bend has increased 100. Haystack has increased 31. A decrease in registration is shown in several precincts where the sheep and cattle industries are the principal ones. Prineville also showed a decrease of six voters. These figures show that farming is increasing rapidly in various parts of the county as the agricultural districts make the best showing of gain in registration.

Conferences of the Baptist and Presbyterian churches have taken up the matter of divorces and will attempt to discourage them. In one conference statistics were given from several states showing that there was one divorce for about every ten marriages, and that conditions were growing worse.

The Lakeview land office has lately issued a number of final receipts upon proofs taken during the winter and spring and held up until the enactment of the Marshall law owing to the defect of filing outside of the district wherein the land was located. The new officers have certainly transacted an immense amount of business since they have been in office.

The question of whether Roosevelt is entitled to an endorsement at the coming Oregon election is largely dependent on the question of whether a voter believes that the president deserves it. An endorsement of the president means an endorsement of Hitchcock's policy in land matters and would tend to encourage the annoyances which he has given persons who are desirous of taking up government land in order to make a home. Even in republican meetings Hitchcock has been denounced by such men as Brownell, and in each case has been cheered by earnest republicans. If Oregon showed a disposition to stand up for itself, it might force the objectionable official out. An endorsement of Roosevelt is a two-edged sword and cuts both ways.

Russia is already beginning to suffer from the effects of war. The Siberian railroad is used exclusively for purposes and trade is nearly cut off. The timber industry is stopped in one section and thousands of people are out of work in various parts of the country. The railroads have laid off many men and the government has dropped a number of improvements it was making. If this war continues Russia is likely to experience a financial panic that will entail great suffering. The Muscovite has some of the characteristics of the Turk, being a free borrower and giving little worry to where the money to pay was to come from.

There are two republican gubernatorial tickets in Wisconsin. Both are for the president but strife within a party is likely to produce very strange results when the campaign gets warm. Lafolette, the present governor, has been elected twice on platforms pledged to a primary election law, but the opposing wing of the party always killed the law in the legislature. If Lafolette elected this fall he is likely to succeed Senator Quarles in the U. S. senate. While both parties favor Roosevelt, the president has always favored the Spooner-Quarles wing and a democrat had as good a chance to get a federal appointment in that state as a Lafolette republican.

At an Oregon City democratic meeting which was being addressed by Veatch, the candidate for congress, Meldrum, ex surveyor, arose and said that Inspector Greene was present and demanded to know about the charges being directed against Hermann and Meldrum. Greene was reluctant about speaking, saying that he was present in search of a friend but being urged to speak he corroborated everything that Veatch had said. The incident created quite a diversion.

June 6th will be election day for Oregon. There are few states in the union which do not elect all their officers on the day of the federal election in November. Oregon's plan is a superior one as voters are more inclined to vote a straight ticket at presidential elections than at an earlier date.

W. A. Booth, candidate for state senator from this district, is making a very thorough campaign. His opponent, Laycock, is said to be opposed to Senator Mitchell and in that respect is weak with republicans who regard Mitchell as the ablest republican in the state.

T. H. McGreer, of Antelope, who was recommended to the president for the appointment as supervisor of the Cascade forest reserve, did not get the appointment. McGreer is as well suited to the work as any man that could possibly be selected. He is a successful business man, and would have brought to the office a degree of common sense that doesn't seem to occur very often in the forestry department as at present constituted. But then, isn't it the same old story! The Oregon delegation may worship Roosevelt but there is nothing certain about it.

Governor Chamberlain has expressed the opinion that neither Hearst nor Parker will be nominated. Well they are not the only strong men in the party. Folk of Missouri or Francis of the same state are high class men, and each would make as worthy a candidate as could be desired.

Panama Purchase Money Will Remain.

It is semi-officially stated that $5,000,000 of Republic of Panama money will be invested in New York City real estate mortgages. The investment will be negotiated on the arrival of the Panama commissioners. William Nelson Cromwell is their counsel, and it is likely that the money will be placed through J. P. Morgan & Co.

The Republic of Panama received $10,000,000 from this government on account of the canal. Of this amount, $1,000,000 was turned over to the agent of the new republic some weeks ago and a warrant for the remaining $9,000,000 was received by J. P. Morgan & Co. from the treasury authorities at Washington. The money is in bank awaiting the disposal of the commissioners.

It was originally intended that the Panama money should be invested in the United States government bonds, as the representatives of the government wished to locate it in this country. Government bonds, however, return a very small income. Railroad bonds were also suggested, but finally it was decided to purchase real estate mortgages as the best secured investment available.

A. M. Drake and wife went to the county seat Friday.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

The largest sum ever paid for a prescription, changed hands in San Francisco, Aug. 30, 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500.00 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Diabetes, hitherto incurable diseases. They commenced the serious investigation of the specific Nov. 15, 1900. They interviewed scores of the cured it on its merits by putting over three dozen cases on the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable cases, and administered it with the physicians for judges up to Aug. 25, eighty seven per cent of the test were either well or progressing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent of failures, the parties were satisfied and closed the transaction, the proceedings of the investigating committee and the clinical reports of the test cases were published and will be mailed free upon application. Address John J. Fulton Company, 420 Montgomery St. San Francisco, Cal.
