Sub-Treasurer Ellis H. Roberts made an innovation recently that occasioned much interest in the building when considered together with his determination to put the employes under bonds. From time immemorial the combinanations of the locks to the big vaults, where $183,000,000 in cash is stored, have been known to one employe and the Sub-Treasurer. Mr. Roberts changed this. Two men will own the secret -one to know one-half of the combination and the other the oth .. half. He himself will know nothing. These men will be known to their associates, but to avoid complications in case of sickness or death Mr. Roberts has given another two the combinations. These men are not known to their associates, and are not even known to each other. Further, to guard against mishaps, the two men known to have the combinations have written, in separate sealed envelopes, each his half of the secret, and Roberts put these envelopes in a big from end to end, and locked it in the safe. This is for his own benefit, in case the holders of one undivided half of the secret should be sick or die. Mr.
