The Canadian Department of Agriculture is collecting a list of the brands practiced upon farmers. It will include the lightning-rod, patent right, miraculous cures and all other swindles, and will be an instructive compilation.
 "A number of senators were playing a little game of poker in Washington when a church committee filed in and all agreed to play for a jack-pot and donate it. The gentleman who won gave the money and signed the list 'J. Pot. $100.' The next Sunday the good minister blessed all who had contributed to the church fund, adding 'And O Lord, bless J. Pot, where ever his lines may be cast.'"
 That ubiquitous chap who thinks it is so easy to write an awful of racy locals dropped into the Olympian office to day, just to try his hand. Paper, pen and ink were given to him and after scribbling over and tearing up enough to fill the waste basket, he triumphantly laid the following on the table: "If it's as pleasant yesterday as it was to-morrow, we shall have a very fine day to-night.—Ez.

Yesterday morning some small boys discovered an immense beetle under an electric lamp and while holding an inquest on him a Portland drummer stopped to gaze at the remains. One of the urbins looked up and inquired, "Do you know him Mr.?" The drummer gazed long and sorrowfully at the deceased and replied, "Yes I met him three weeks ago in Arlington. He was a bed bug, and no doubt bound for Ilwaco or Seaview."—Wasco Sun.

A man may use the wart on the back of his neck for a collar button, ride on the back coach of a train to save the interest of his money till the conductor comes around, step his watch at night to save the wear and tear, leave the i and t without a dot and cross to save the ink, pasture his mule on his mother's grave to save corn—but a man of this sort is a gentleman and a scholar compared with the fellow who takes a paper two or three years and when the editor asks him to pay for it, puts it back in the postoffice and has it marked 'refused.' When a man wants his paper stopped he ought to have manhood enough to pay up and inform the editor that his paper is no longer wanted.—Ez.

Chance has led to the discovery of a cure for hydrophobia. In Ayacucho, Peru, a man was bitten by a mad dog and shortly after the disease developed. In his madness the man rushed from the house and falling among a lot of "yuca" plants, some of the juice of these plants entered his mouth and he swallowed it. A moment of reason seemed to have followed, during which he seized some of the leaves, broke them and drank of the milky and glutinous sap with which they are saturated. When his friends found him he was senseless, with the pouca and magney leaves in his hands. He was carried to his house and soon regained his health. Experience has long since taught the Indians that yuca sap invariably acts as a cure upon dogs suffering from hydrophobia.

Don't forget the editor when you have a news item. If your wife whips you, let us know of it and we will set you right before the public. If you have company tell us—if you are not ashamed of your visitors. If a youngster arrives at your house and demands food and raiment, buy a quarters worth of cigars and come around, and if you are a cash subscriber we will furnish a name for him or her, as circumstances warrant. If you bring a social gathering of a few friends bring around a big cake, six or seven pies and a big ham—not necessarily to eat, but as a guarantee of good faith. You needn't bother to invite us as it may be a little to cool for our wardrobe. We mention these little things because we want the news, and we will have it.—Ez.

We apologize for all errors made in former issues, and say they were inexcusable; all the editor has to do is to set type, hunt the news, clean the rollers, sweep the room, pen short items, fold the papers, write the wrappers, mail the papers, talk to visitors, distribute type, carry water, saw wood, read the proof, correct the mistakes, hunt the shears, write editorials, take the earnings from the whole town and tell the subscribers we need money—we say we have no business to make mistakes while attending to these little matters, and getting a living on gopher soup, flavored with immigration, and wearing no shoes and no collar, and patches on our pants, obliged to turn a smiling countenance to the man who tells us our paper is not worth a dollar anyhow and that he could make a better one with his eyes shut and his hand tied.—Ez.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.
"For God and Home and Native Land."
 Mrs. F. A. MORRIS, County Superintendent of Press Work.

The mother's meeting to-day will be held at Mrs. Olive Bolton's. Subject for discussion, "Aids to purity of life." All are invited.
 Memorial services in honor of the late Mrs. Lucy Webb Hayes will be held at the gymnasium next Sabbath afternoon at 4 o'clock.
 In announcing the death of Mrs. Young of McMinnville, the W. C. T. U. feels that it has lost a devoted worker. This sister had served the county as secretary for some time past, and was always found ready to do what her hands would do for God, home and humanity.

The W. C. T. U. met for devotional exercises last Saturday at 3 o'clock P. M. Business meeting opened at 3:30 with Mrs. A. M. Woodward president in chair. A circular letter from the state president in which she urged local unions to be diligent in securing new members. She also advised the appointment of a committee to look after any disreputable characters who may be in our midst, and if possible send them to the Refuge Home in Portland. A committee of two was accordingly appointed. A letter from a Pomeroey clergyman was also read, in which he commends the ladies of this community for the course pursued in eradicating the drugstore from our midst. This letter was replete with scripture quotations and full of encouragement to us at this time. Three new members added to the list. Mrs. Martin was appointed superintendent of Parlor Work. Mrs. Britt, superintendent of Juvenile work having resigned it was left with the nominating committee to get a new superintendent. Adjourned.

The rural press of Nebraska is said to be solidly in favor of the prohibitory amendment.
 Every Methodist minister in Chicago preached on the subject of Sunday closing, July 7.
 Forty churches are represented in the W. C. T. U. of Montreal, Canada. This union has a membership of 1348.

There is nothing that will lay out prohibition quite as easily and thoroughly as the good cudgel of high license.
 The twilight hour has been appointed as one of prayer by the white ribboners of Illinois, for the success of the new state scientific temperance instruction law.

Miss Ida Clothier, of Boston, national organizer for the W. C. T. U., is doing good work at the various Chautauqua assemblies in the west.
 High license is the sharp father of promising twins—increased revenue and increased consumption, but the latter is fast outstripping his brother in growth.

The district and county conventions of the W. C. T. U. now being extensively held throughout the country show uniform prosperity and steady progress in the work.
 In response to the earnest request of the Washington W. C. T. U., President Harrison has issued an order prohibiting the sale of liquors at the national encampment of the district national guards at Fort Washington.

Legislatures, local governments and insurance companies make regulations and exercise the greatest care to prevent fires. And yet the loss they occasion is $60,000,000 per annum less than the amount paid by the consumers for cigars, and $86,500,000 less than the total cost of tobacco consumed in smoke.

Memorial services for Mrs. Lucy Webb Hayes will be held by the local unions of the World's W. C. T. U. on the 28th of July. This late date was chosen so that distant unions in Canada and other countries might have time for preparation.
 Miss Mary Allen West, editor-in-chief of the Union Signal is about to take a year's vacation. During her absence Miss Julia Ames will be editor-in-chief, while Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler Andrew will take Miss Ames' position as associate editor.

Four special schools are being conducted in connection with the temperance convention now in session at Lake Bluff, Ill. These are the school of political science, of scientific temperance instruction, of economic temperance and the W. C. T. U. school of methods.
 The saloon and the brothel are the evils of the base ball world at the present day. We see this practically exemplified in the failure of noted players to play up to the standard they are capable of, were they to avoid these gross evils.
 At the Missouri W. C. T. U. Convention a salary of $1250 a year was offered to Mrs. Clara Hoffman, president of the state union. In appreciation of her most efficient service. This offer Mrs. Hoffman most emphatically declined, saying that her services as president would be free as in the past.
