Your last issue of the newsy little GRAPHIC greeted us like a pleasant sunbeam this morning, and found Tualitin all busy.

Harvesting is the principal feature among the farmers and the yield is very good, I think.

Milton N. Smith and Aleck Sweak, of Portland, spent the Sabbath at the residence of John Sweak and returned to the city this morning.

Savage Bro's. steam saw mill is turning out an enormous lot of first class lumber thus giving employment to quite a force of men.

Mr. B. Cummins, our enterprising merchant, has on hand a very good stock of goods and seems to be doing a prosperous business.

We have for our station agent Miss Graham recently filling same position in your town. She thoroughly understands her business and is well liked here.

There will be a picnic at Camp Washington, given under the auspices of the Oregon National Guards, of Portland, on Sunday, Aug. 25th.

Miss Gertie Brandt of Smocks gave this place a flying call Sunday after-noon.

Mrs. Milton N. Smith and children, of Portland, are sojourning at her father's (Mr. John Sweak) Mrs. Smith's health is very poor she having recently recovered from a severe spell of sickness.

Miss Lula Tinkham died near this city after a short illness of Typhoid fever.

Mrs. Mary Merwin of Dallas has been spending a few days in this vicinity.

Born to the wife of Ansel Savage, a ten pound boy.

Mrs. Rider of Portland returned home this morning after a very pleasant visit with her sister Mrs. Herron.

Two young sportsmen from the metropolis gave this vicinity a tramp in quest of game last evening and returned home this morning, having succeeded in capturing one poor little innocent rabbit.

We expect to see the gentlemen here again soon as they seemed to have fun enough even if game was scarce.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

"For God and Home and Native Land."

Mrs. F. A. MORRIS, County Superintendent of Press Work.

It is claimed that an anti-prohibition club, composed of two hundred business men, has been formed in Kansas City.

The membership of the West Washington Territory W. C. T. U. has increased more than 40 per cent during the last year.

A leading worker has said, "Great issues make great men; but when the age of political issues gets shallow, little fishes only can swim."

Dr. V. D. Wallace, one of the most active W. C. T. U. workers in Massachusetts, shares with her husband a large medical practise in Needham and Boston.

What you want is not to shut your ports but to shut the doors of the saloon; and then you may open your ports as wide as you please.

It is better to walk through mud to church than that our pavements, every brick of which represents some loyal wife or orphan's tears, sacrifices and agonies, be made by saloon money.

The Chicago News estimates that more than 4000 saloons were open in that city last Sunday and that $75,000 must have been spent in wine, spirits and beer during this one day.

The Fair department of the W. C. T. U. has prepared for sale at fairs some very pretty flint glass tumblers, with a dainty design representing the old oaken bucket, the antique will sweep, and at the cross roads, a guide board bearing the letters W. C. T. U.

It is claimed that on a vote taken today, Cincinnati would give 20,000 majority in favor of enforcing the Sunday closing law. The Sunday arrests for disorderly conduct and misdemeanors growing out of intemperance have already diminished more than 50 per cent.

"What you tell me, missus, som's mon'sous luminous, but when the politician splandifies it to me it appears spoutaneous in the other direction," said an honest hearted colored brother to Mrs. Sallie Chapin, who was trying to convince him that if prohibition did not prohibit, the saloon men would not fight it so furiously.

The members of the Michigan Press association in recent annual session gave thoughtful attention to a letter read before them from Mrs. G. W. Scripps, state superintendent of press work, urging their earnest cooperation in publishing truth that shall be for the healing and help and not for the hurt of the home and nation.

I gave alcohol in my practice for twenty years, and have now practiced without it for thirty years or more. I have not found a single patient injured by its disuse, or a constitution requiring it; indeed, to find either, although I am in my seventy-seventh year, I would walk fifty miles to see such an unnatural phenomenon.—John Higginbottom.

The Japanese Temperance society of Hawaii, fifteen months old, numbers 1700 out of 8000 Japanese residents. As president of the society, Consul-General Ando of Honolulu, recently sent to the W. C. T. U. headquarters a gift of money for the Temperance Temple of America, that in his estimation will soon be the centre of the world's reformation.

The work among foreigners carried on by the W. C. T. U. is one of its most important enterprises. About five millions of people in the United States are beyond the reach of English leaflets and tracts because they do not know our language. To reach these great and growing classes the workers in this department are sending out translations of English leaflets in as many as fourteen different languages notably, German, Scandinavian, Swedish, Bohemian, Polish and Italian. These leaflets set forth every phase of the temperance question and have already told for the cause.

Beer loving Chicago is being effectually lectured on temperance by the Temperance Education society, a new society with a novel mode of proceeding. Striking but accurate statements and statistics concerning the liquor traffic are printed on large cards and posted up in the street cars. Every car in the city is to have a placard and the saloonkeepers' rides shall become a burden. The following is a sample of these announcements: "Chicago's annual beer bill, $26,000,000. This would build the great water-way and six hundred miles of sewer." These placards will be frequently changed for others of a similar character.

The Chicago News of Monday July 22, was a remarkable issue. The first page was devoted to a vivid description of Sunday in Chicago with saloons and concert halls all open, and Sunday in Cincinnati, where all the saloons were closed, and quiet reigned supreme. The comparison continues on the second page, and the leading editorial calls upon Mayor Creiger, in view of these relations, to enforce in Chicago the Sunday closing law. Even Sunday base ball playing and concert hall performances are strongly condemned. When papers like the News, of wide circulation among the masses, speak out on the right side, the bright star of hope takes a leap in the sky.

THE GRAPHIC $1.50 PER YEAR. It is a little singular, to say the least, that after a man has been painting the town red during the night, the next morning he feels blue.
