That Strange Girl.
 She doesn't care for music and she never tries to play.
 She doesn't cherish pillow shams forever and a day.
 She has no use for novels with their world of silly trash.
 Nor foolish, giddy persons who are ever on the march.
 She's a wonderful, for frequently she's busy darned socks.
 Or doing other duties while her mother sits and rocks.
 With just such strange, unusual ways her heart and hands are rife.
 I hope to some time make this odd, old fashioned girl my wife.
 —Citizen Herald.

THE FOUNDATION has been laid at Wood barn for a new brick bank building which when completed will contain 110,000 blocks.
FRUIT SOUND has long been noted as a splendid field for the fisherman. A great deal of fishing has been done throughout that country in the last year or two but the most of it has been for suckers, and the ever present real estate men bait the hooks.

GOVERNOR WATERMAN of California has asked the state Legislature to appropriate a million dollars for the purpose of making an exhibit at the World's Fair in 18 2 If Oregon is properly represented at the World's Fair it is about time steps were being taken in that direction.

Tomorrow's Excursion.
 This excursion for Salem will leave here at six o'clock tomorrow morning and a gala day is expected. Ice cream and other refreshments will be furnished aboard the boat at reasonable rates. A match game of base ball between the McMinnville club and the Salem boys will take place in the afternoon. Only two hundred tickets will be sold and as a large number are already taken those who desire to make the trip to the Capital had better get their tickets today.

Leg Broken.
 Last Sunday while Reeve Craven and family were visiting A. S. Craven at Middleton their little boy who is about four years old met with a painful accident. A chicken came in the house and the little fellow ran after it to run it out and while running across the floor he slipped and fell breaking the bone of one leg between the knee and hip. There being no physician nearer than Newberg, he was immediately brought home and Dr. Carman called who set the limb. The little sufferer is getting along as well as could be expected.

Fair Meeting.
 A meeting was held at the fair grounds last Wednesday evening to begin the arrangements for the fair this fall. On motion Hinchman Cooper was elected Pres. Cephas Maris vice Pres. N. C. Maris Sec'y and N. L. Wiley Treasurer. On motion the officers were elected as an executive committee to appoint superintendents of the different departments, to select the time for holding the fair and to look after other matters of interest to the association. The prospect was never better for a successful fair and if all will take the interest that such an undertaking justifies we will have an exhibition that will be a credit to the country. The superintendents will be announced as soon as appointed.

In 1888 Henry Lomb of Rochester, New York offered through the American Public Health Association, a prize of $500 for the best essay on the subject of "Practical Sanitary and Economic Cooking Adapted to persons of Moderate and Small Means." Seventy essays were sent in to the committee but the one awarded the prize was written by Mrs. Mary Hinman Abel and this one has been published in book form by the Health Association and through the kindness of Irving A. Watson the Secretary, a copy was this week laid on our table.

This book is certainly well written and well adapted to the use of families of small or moderate means where the wife is often at her wits ends to know how to prepare a wholesome meal from a scanty supply of provisions. Every thing is written in a plain common sense style, nothing "Frenchy" about it and the ingredients are measured by the spoonful, tea-cup, pint, etc. The book can be had at the book stores for thirty-five cents and is certainly worth the money.

State Teacher's Association.
 The meeting of the State Teacher's Association at Salem June 30 to July 2, was an affair in which all friends of education should take more interest, and at which all energetic teachers should be. The State Superintendent, Mr. McElroy, knows well how to prepare a program for such a meeting, and also how to provide the best of entertainment. The program presented this year was full of interest. Such subjects were presented and discussed as the following: How to increase the professional interest of teachers. How to secure and use school libraries. Physical training in the schools. Music in the public schools. The teacher's reading circle. School legislation.

In the State Association an opportunity is given for the country teacher, the city superintendent and college professor to meet on common ground, and exchange their views. The sessions are a real source of instruction to the earnest teacher, and the fact that all are working in different parts of the same field, and for the same ultimate object makes a strong fellow feeling.

Upon some of the topics, the discussion resulted in a resolution recommending legislation, or the appointment of a committee to plan and carry out some course of action. The discussion of the one and a half hour session, resulted in a proposal of a plan, by which each teacher and school district in the state may be reached, and an excellent school library secured at a very reasonable price.
 During the evening session the Representative Chamber of the Capitol, was crowded to overflowing. The program consisted of a concert given by some band, vocal solos, readings and speeches and an address or lecture. On one evening the main feature was a lecture on "The Land of the Midnight Sun," by C. E. Bolton, of Cleveland, Ohio. The lecture was devoted entirely to the consideration of Russian life and history and was beautifully illustrated by stereopticon views. A discourse upon "Famous Libraries" and "Library Relics," by Rev. Bateman of Mt. Tabor, was full of historic interest and suggestive thoughts.
 The county superintendents were in separate session during the greater part of the association, and devoted their time to the discussion of methods which will raise the standard of the country schools, and increase their efficiency. For teachers, the state association is a meeting which he can not well afford to miss, aside from the purely professional and technical work, the coming in contact socially with fellow workers, has a beneficial effect in broadening one's ideas, and keeping him from falling very deep into the "ruts," which are too apt to be a characteristic of the professional teacher.

Crop-Weather Bulletin No. 18
 For week ending Saturday July 12th, 1890.
 Weather.
 The temperature has been cooler than average for the week; partly cloudy to cloudy weather, with local rains have prevailed.
 The temperature has ranged from 50 to 80 degrees. The amount of rain fall has varied from .10 of an inch to over one inch.
 Crops.
 The weather has been unfavorable to the haying operations, considerable was cut and down when the rains came on and some of it was injured, in addition the rains have delayed the hay harvest causing it to come too close to the wheat fall harvest, which in sections has begun; and in most sections will be in full sway next week. The hay crop is far better than expected. The weather was very beneficial to the fall and spring wheat crops, also to the corn. The fall wheat has generally filled very well, the berry large and plump. The spring wheat, which on June 1st, was thought to be worthless is growing nicely and will yield an average crop in most sections. Root crops are all in a most promising condition. Hops continue to thrive and their yield will be about the average. The apples are being injured by the cold in north. Their non-appearance at an earlier date may be due to the backward spring. They are evidently now appearing in full force and are proving to be quite injurious. Oregon peaches are coming into the market. The peach crop of southern Oregon will not be over 50 per cent of the average. Through the Willamette Valley the crop will be slightly better. In Wasco the peach crop appears to be the best. Cherries are becoming scarcer. Berries continue to be plentiful; water and musk melons promise a very large crop. They are especially prolific in Jackson and Josephine counties. The grass on the ranges of Eastern Oregon is very good, for the latter part of the season and cattle are in prime condition. The wheat crop in the Willamette Valley will be almost an average in Southern Oregon about an average; in Wasco Sherman, Gilliam and Morrow counties better than for years; in Umatilla and Union counties the largest ever produced, in Wallowa, Baker, Grant, Crook and interior counties fully an average crop.

Reports from all sections indicate that a beautiful harvest is assured.

KILLED BY A LION.
 A Boy Killed and Carried into a Jungle.
 The eight-year-old son of Joseph Dangle, a farmer living in a thickly populated district of Scott valley, ten miles from Ft. Jones, failed to put in his appearance for supper on Monday night. Search was commenced by the family, and in a short time the little fellow was found about 120 yards distant from home in some brush, having been killed and partly eaten by a California lion. When the body was found the animal was still feeding on it and on the approach of some men showed fight, but soon escaped in the woods. A calf was killed and placed as a decoy near where the body of the boy was found, and watched by a party of men who succeeded in killing two of the animals during the night.—Ashland Record.

The Biggest Mill on Earth.
 Charles Hanson, of the big Tacoma mill, has traveled extensively and tells some interesting things to Wealth of the West about what he saw abroad.
 The biggest saw mill on earth he says is in Christiania, Norway, and owned by one man. It has a capacity of 1,000,000 feet in a day (eighteen hours). It runs 31 gang saws, though they are much smaller than the ones used in this section; it is fitted up with circular saws and their mill machinery similar to ours. It has six planing mills. From 4 to 50 ships load at one time at its docks. In connection with this mill, and owned by the same man, are two large flour mills. The London yard of this mill extends more than one mile in length. The lumber shipped is all seasoned, some of it in kilns and the rest by piling. The rest of the mill is expended in keeping the floor clean and white. In some parts of the world the men who unload it are not allowed to wear boots but must go in their bare feet. The lumber is manufactured much smoother than in this country as the saws are crowded as much as here.
 It is cut to exact gauge and so evenly cut to length that when piled the ends are almost as even as the face of a brick wall. The extent of the traffic in lumber on the Baltic ocean can be comprehended when 500 vessels laden with lumber were seen by Mr. Hanson on one day on that body of water. England, Ireland and Scotland absorb annually 3,700,000,000 feet of lumber. The English people have a fancy for white floors, hence the Norway pine is the popular lumber in that country. The forests of Norway are good for 500 years, in fact under the present system one might say forever. When a piece of timber land has been cut over it is at once thickly replanted; at the end of a few years it is gone over again and the poor trees cut out to give room for the good ones. The lumber of Norway is the great barrier against which the Pacific Coast lumberman must always contend.
 All lumbermen know Mr. Hanson's big mill at Tacoma, that can cut a half million in twenty-four hours, but when a captain of a vessel from Norway, that was loading at his docks intimated that "it was a good little mill," but that there was one in Norway two or three times as large, he decided to see the biggest mill on earth. He was not disappointed, for the Norwegian captain has spoken truly.—Es.
