Mrs. Mary Holson and her children drove up to La Fayette last Saturday afternoon to visit her brother Will Blair.

Lin Parker has been standing in B. C. Miles place in the store lately while the latter has been looking after outside work.

One of the seven wonders of Newberg is the novel rustic cottage that Prof. Hartley is building in his park. Go and see it.

Wm. Morris and Jonathan Maris with their wives went to Champag last Saturday to visit their old neighbor J. Q. Hoskins.

Mitchell & Clark are moving the Enterprise saw mill a little farther over the mountain where they find a body of nice timber.

Rev. Beaumont pastor of the Evangelical church gave a practical talk last Sunday afternoon to the young men of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Phelps of Illinois who has been here looking around for a week or two has bought ten acres of the Oliver & Colcord land.

We rendered N. G. Kirk very valuable assistance last Saturday night when he had more ice cream made than he knew what to do with.

Cyrus Hoskins was in town Saturday evening with a lot of very nice peaches of the Amelien June variety that went off like hot cakes.

One of our business men who was coming home from Portland one day this week, went to sleep on the train and was carried on to Dundee.

James Edwards and W. P. Heacock drove up to McMinnville Tuesday on business connected with the building of the new bank building.

Milton Hampton bought a new Deering binder last week of Christenson Bros. to cut the grain on the farm he bought out beyond Dundee.

John and George Larkin are spending odd moments lately taming a couple of bunch grass ponies they bought of Wm. Hoss of the Yakima country.

W. P. Heacock returned from Salem last Saturday where he had a job of carpentering. He is now engaged at work finishing the inside work of the school house.

Rob. Stratton who is cabin boy on one of the lower Columbia river steamers came home last week for a few days' visit to his parents while the steamer was undergoing repairs.

W. P. Heacock is drawing the plans and specifications for the bank building. He has not finished the plans yet and we are not able to give them complete this week.

Oran K. Edwards while passing this office Monday with a couple of buckets of peaches, was enticed within and the peaches properly sampled while we told him what a good boy he was.

A bundle of children's wearing apparel was picked up on First street last Wednesday and left at this office. The owner can have the same by calling and paying for this notice.

Cooper & Son are canvassing the country selling fruit trees from their nursery at this place and are meeting with very good success. Parties desiring fruit or ornamental trees will find them reliable men to deal with.

Cephas Maris went to Portland last Monday to lay in a stock of material for his harness shop. He says trade has been very good during the season. So good in fact that they have not been able to keep up with their orders.

Frank P. Baum has joined the regular army—that is the "standing army" of real estate men that are doing business throughout the Sound country. We wish Bro. Baum abundant success in his new sphere of labor.

Andy Winters has made a half mile track on his farm out east of town and is driving his colts in order to get them in shape to catch the eye of some of the wealthy fellows about Portland who want good steppers and are willing to pay a round price for them.

Elwood Weesner and his family will leave Saturday for Portland and will go from there to Tacoma where they will take the steamer G. W. Elder for Douglas Island, Alaska, to resume their labors as missionaries among the Indians.

Who says peaches won't grow in Oregon? All that is necessary is to plant the trees and take the proper care of them and the fruit will be there at the proper time. The young trees around through the valley prove the truthfulness of this, with their branches loaded with beautiful fruit.

Brick, Brick, Brick.

I have just finished burning three hundred thousand first class brick that are now ready for the market. Call at my yard in the west part of town near the railroad track and see what I have when you want brick.

JAMES HAMMETT.

A report of Mrs. Groff's school was received too late for this issue.

Prof. Will A. Hadley who we mentioned two weeks ago as being here from Minnesota joined a party at Portland last week who started for a trip to Mount Hood. It is early in the season for a trip of this kind as the snow is yet deep and low down the mountain side, but they will see enough to justify the trip.

N. C. Maris sent a sample of Royal Ann cherries to the editor of the Rockville Ind. Republican a short time ago. The editor who it is very evident has never been accustomed to Oregon fruit, in acknowledging the receipt of them through his paper calls them very nice red plums. If a few of our best plums were sent to the deluded editor he would probably call them Baldwin apples.

Newberg Lodge No. 132 A. O. U. W. was organized July 14th, 1890 by J. W. Wrage D. G. M. W., organizing and installing officer. The following named officers were elected and installed:

W. C. Kruger, P. M. W.; W. H. Caine, M. W.; J. D. Carter, Foreman; D. M. Ramsey, O.; F. M. Barr, Recorder; G. T. Burnett, Financier; E. C. Tarrant, Receiver; Geo. Halston, Guide; C. Isenhour, L. W.; J. Young, O. W.; F. W. Carman M. D. Med. Exam.; D. M. Ramsey, J. Young, and Geo. Halston Trustees.

The people of the sprightly village of McMinnville are all worked up over the coming of Robinson's circus that is to be there on the 29th, inst. Brother Barnhart of the Reporter can be depended on to see that the donkey races and the female jockey races are carried out according to the rules of the American Trotting Association, and while the people may expect that he will see that the clown and the trick mule are circumspect in all their stale jokes, a sharp eye must be kept on a certain class of fellows who are always offering to bet that they can reach clear around the waist of the fat woman in the side show without a chalk to mark with.

Reading of the fearful storms and cyclones they have been having lately on the other side of the Rocky mountains reminds us of a story told us the other day on a resident of our town. The aforesaid resident is subject to blue spells and at such times he is inclined to look back toward the "flesh pots of Egypt." While one of these spells was on a few days ago he was reminded by the person he was talking to of the fearful storms and hurricanes they were having in the east. Oh, says he they never have them in Illinois where I came from, such a thing was never known. The next day or two word came that his native town was almost destroyed by a fearful flood and storm and ever since that the subject is quite unpleasant to him.

The following is the report of the receipts and expenditures by the Treasurer of the Fourth of July organization.

Photographer at the Beach.

Samuel Hobson the picture man started for Big Nestucca with his family yesterday. He has his camera with him and anybody who wants to be "took" will find him located at Big Nestucca by the sounding sea with his instrument loaded ready for large or small game. They will be gone two weeks or more.

Take Notice.

I desire to inform the public that having sold a half interest in my stock of merchandise I desire to settle all old accounts on my books. All parties whose names are on my books will please call early and make a settlement either by paying cash or giving note.

J. T. SMITH.

A ranchman (we failed to learn the name) living on the Satsop, missed three head of cattle last week, and noticing a congregation of buzzards a short distance away, proceeded to make an investigation, and found all three of the animals lying dead, their bones all broken, horns knocked off, scarcely any hair left on them and the ground all torn up around them with elk tracks. Apparently a band of elk had come upon and attacked them in an opening and had horned and butted them down and pawed and stamped them to death.—Elva (Wash.) Chronicle.

A Big Tree for the World's Fair.

Neal Van Dorman and ten skilled workmen are now engaged in getting out the world's big tree—a section of a redwood tree. This will be the largest section removed from California. The tree is located at mammoth forest fifty-two miles east of Tulare, Cal., at an altitude of 6,325 feet above the sea level. The tree measures ninety-nine feet in circumference, making it thirty-three feet in diameter. It will require three flat cars for its transportation, as the total weight will not be less than 65,000 pounds. This is a private enterprise, and the world's big tree will be placed on exhibition in Cal. prior to its trip to Chicago, to which city it will be shipped direct. The tree will be exhibited throughout the United States after the fair is over.

The Proper Weight of Man.

Professor Huxley asserts that the proper weight of a man is 154 pounds, made up as follows: Muscles and their appendages, 64 pounds; skeleton, 24 pounds; skin, 10½ pounds; fat, 28 pounds; brain, 3 pounds; abdominal viscera, 11 pounds; blood, which would drain from the body, 7 pounds. The heart of such a man should beat 75 times a minute, and he should breathe 15 times a minute. In 24 hours he should urinate 1,750 cubic feet of pure air to the extent of 1 per cent. A man, therefore, of the weight mentioned should have 800 cubic feet of well ventilated space. He should throw off through the skin 18 ounces of water, 300 grains of solid matter and 400 grains of carbonic acid every 24 hours, and his total loss during that period should be 6 pounds of water and about 2 pounds of other matter.—St. Louis Republic.

LaFayette Items.

The Fourth with its joys and sorrows is over and the celebration at La Fayette was a success. Particularly the barbecue. The meat was pronounced by all to be very fine. According to the Oregonian there was 4,000 people here on the Fourth.

The oration by Prof. Kemmerer was splendid and listened to with interest by the 4,000 present.

The ball game between the La Fayette and Carlton boys was a very exciting one being a tie all the way through till the last inning which was in favor of La Fayette.

Quite a number of families including Hon. P. P. Gates, Esq. Sheriff Harris, James McCains and others have gone to the coast to remain several weeks.

The click of the reaper and mow is heard in all the land, and the town barns are being filled with hay but at a higher price than common at this time of the year.

A gentleman from Arizona has bought out Tom Nelson's livery stable and horses and the probabilities are there will be more opposition in the livery business. The same man has bought of Mr. Gates, the property occupied by Chas. Powell as a meat market.

Two of our citizens had a saloon room the other night, the result was, one got his head peeled with a beer glass and the other his ribs tickled with a jack knife and the loss of considerable bad blood, but of course the marshal knew nothing of it.

The St. Paul boys brought a keg of beer and came over and played our boys a game of ball last Sunday while the marshal was at church, or somewhere else.

Rev. D. V. Poling preached two sermons in the chapel and one on the camp ground last Sunday. A pretty good day's work for a boy on a hot day.

Cyrus Hoskins was on our streets the other day with a load of luscious peaches which he succeeded in selling out in a short time.

Mr. Fisk is going to lay out an addition north of the public school house on the Poppleton tract and build a number of houses to rent.

Mr. R. R. Daniel has sold his interest in the mill here to his father who will move here soon.

W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

"For God and Home and Native Land."

W. C. T. U. Notice.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. next Saturday will be postponed on account of the Salem excursion and will be held the following Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m. Mother's meeting following immediately after. Ladies young and old are cordially invited to all our meetings.

Miss Willard calls high license the "baggage train of conservatism."

The lord mayor of London recently entertained thirty-seven total abstinence mayors from as many different cities in England.

Anthony Constock is said to have a standing offer of $25,000 a year if he will simply keep still and allow the New York branch of the Louisiana lottery to re-open.

The Central W. C. T. U. of Chicago is opening a large first class restaurant on Washington street, between Dearborn and State. It will be the only place of the kind in the city where cigars are not sold.

Eighty new W. C. T. U. unions have been organized in Michigan within the last year. One hundred and four report an increase of membership. Mary T. Lathrop is president of the state union.

An innovation in France is the election of a woman, Mme. Wigglesworth, to the bureau of the school fund in Paris. This is an important honor as it has charge of forty-five schools, with about 15,000 pupils and a revenue of almost 200,000 francs a year.

Mlle. Bibesco, is a young Roumanian lady, is this month to deliver a thesis before the faculty of law in Paris, in order to obtain the diploma of doctor of law. The subject of her thesis will be "The Condition of the Married Woman and Widow, according to the Code Civil and the Code Napoleon."

Nebraska leads all other states in the W. C. T. U. Demorest medal work. About 250 medals a week are now being sent from the New York headquarters to fill orders from this state. More than 2,500 recitation books have been used since last October. The workers are now putting forth strong efforts to have a diamond medal contest before the vote on the amendment next autumn.

Dr. Thamsin Janney, the gentle and interesting little Quakeress who is at the head of the health department of the Virginia W. C. T. U., has practiced medicine for many years in Loudoun county, where there is a large Quaker settlement. Her first work was done among the Santee Sioux Indians and was remarkably successful. She has recently taken a promising nephew into partnership.

The Visa Nagar Banias, of India, have passed resolutions that a widow shall have her head shaved but once, after which she may allow her hair to grow and may also attend caste dinners. They have also resolved not to give their daughters in marriage before the age of ten, and twelve years has been fixed as the lowest limit for the consummation of a marriage. This is an improvement upon infant marriages to be consummated whenever the boy husband or his guardians chose as well as upon the barbarous cruelties formerly practiced on widows.

A slight idea of the amount of drink constantly being poured in upon the natives of Africa may be gathered from the following facts taken from an article by Mary C. Leavitt, who has just left that country: At Madeira, where many, but by no means all, of the ships going to Africa touch, the following amounts were declared in one week: 900,000 cases of gin, 24,000 bottles of rum, 30,000 cases of brandy, 29,000 cases of Irish whiskey, 800,000 demijohns of rum, 36,000 barrels of rum, 30,000 cases of "Old Tom," 15,000 cases of absinthe, 40,000 cases of vermouth, all costing $5,230,000.

Death in the Pipe.

Poor little Tom learned a trick which every one thought "so cunning." You could never guess what it was. He learned to smoke his papa's pipe. The baby, sitting on his little stool, with the nasty old pipe in his sweet little mouth, was the wonder of the neighborhood, and the foolish parents and the neighbors all laughed at the little owl. But Tommy was very sick. The doctor came, and said nicotine poison from the pipe was the cause, and the poor baby must die. When he lay cold and white in his little coffin, no one laughed; yet he found death in the pipe.

A white-ribbon enterprise often inquired about is the National Temperance hospital in Chicago, where patients are treated without the use of alcohol in any form. The last monthly meeting of the directors of this hospital brought favorable reports from various officers. Dr. Osawley, the house physician, reported twelve patients treated within the hospital during the month, eight of them surgical cases, besides a number of outside patients. Much incidental good is also done. For instance, two gentleman patients, who were deprived of tobacco in accordance with the invariable rule, at first objected very strongly, but found themselves so much better without it that on leaving the hospital they swore off altogether.

Siwash Canoes.

"While visiting one of the small towns along Puget Sound," said J. H. Mallet, of Helena, to a Spokane Falls Review reporter, "I was greatly interested in the way the Siwash Indians built their canoes. It is really wonderfully how these dirty aborigines, with the crudest means and with a few days' work, convert an unweildy log into a trim and pretty canoe. One Monday morning I saw a buck building a fire at the base of a large cedar tree, and he told me this was the first step in the construction of a canoe that he intended to use upon the following Saturday. He kept the fire burning merrily all that day and far into the night, when a wind came up and completed the downfall of the monarch of the forest. The next day the buck arose betimes and, borrowing a cross cut saw from a logger who was absent on a drunk, cut the trunk of the tree in two at a point some fifteen feet from where it had broken off, and then with a dull hatchet he hacked away until the log had assumed the shape of the desired canoe. In this work he was helped by his squaw. The old fellow then built a fire on the upper side of the log, guiding the course of the fire with dabs of clay, and in due course of time the interior of the canoe had been burned out. Half a day's work with the hot-rod rendered the inside smooth and shapely. The canoe was now, I thought, complete, though it appeared to be dangerously narrow of beam. This, the Indian soon remedied. He filled the shell two-thirds full of water, and into the fluid he dropped a half a dozen stones that had been heating in the fire for nearly a day. The water at once attained a boiling point and so softened the wood that the buck and the squaw were enabled to draw out the sides and thus supply the necessary breadth of beam. Thwarts and slats were then placed in the canoe and the water and stones thrown out. When the steamed wood began to cool and contract the thwarts held it back and the sides held the thwarts, and there the canoe was, complete without a nail, joint or crevice, for it was made of one piece of wood. The siwash did not complete it as soon as he had promised, but it only took him eight days."—Ex.

Ambiguous.—"I guess there is no hope for Mr. Jones." "Why not?" "Why, he had four doctors visit him yesterday."—Boston Courier.

A famous artist once painted an angel with six toes. "Who ever saw an angel with six toes?" people inquired. "Who ever saw one with less?" was the counter question.—New York Ledger.

An Inquiry.—"I will take those striped stockings." "Yes. Thank you, Miss. Shall we send them?" "Have you a hose cart?"—Puck.
