Bug Man.

Jas. A. Varney of The Dalles who is commissioner and inspector of fruit pests of the State Board of Horticulture as well as Commissioner and President of the Second Eastern Oregon Dist. Agricultural Society was in town last Thursday and Friday and called at this office. He has been making a tour of the valley inspecting orchards with a view of arousing fruit growers and gettting them to see the necessity for making a war on the codling moth, wooly aphis and all other pests. He is a regular "bug" man and is at home whenever the subject of fruit pests are mentioned. It is very evident that unless a vigilant war is made on the codling moth the reputation that Oregon has had in the past as an apple country will be lost. Mr. Varney says that in their neighborhood near The Dalles they have been spraying their trees for two or three years and that they find the cost is very small and they save 95 per cent of the apples clear of worms. One spraying outfit will cost from thirty to fifty dollars and may be owned and used by two or three fruit growers. This is fast growing into a fruit country around Newberg and this is a subject that may well claim our attention.

The New Bank Building.

W. P. Heacock, the architect has completed the plans and specifications for the new brick for the Bank of Newberg which according to the plans will be a handsome structure 48 x 52 feet, two stories high. It is to be built on the northwest corner of First and Meridian streets. The banking room will have a corner front and will be 17-6 x 13-6 and a vault 6 x 7 feet. Back of the banking rooms will be a store room fronting on Meridian street which will be 23-6 x 18 feet. Fronting on First street will be a large store room 22 x 50 feet. A stairway five feet in width will enter from First street and lead to the upper story. On the second floor will be a lodge room 22 - 9 x 38 - 3 with two ante rooms 7 - 9 x 11 feet, and separated from this room by a hall 4 feet 6 x 23 feet in length will be two nice rooms suitable for offices each 11 x 22 feet and another larger room 27 - 6 by 18 feet. The roof will be made of Gareys Patent Malleable steel roofing and the cornice will be of galvanized iron. The front doors and windows are all to be of polished French Plateglass. The finish through out will be first class and when the building is up Newberg may well be proud of the structure. The plans and specifications may be seen at any time by those who desire to bid on the contract. Good substantial buildings give the appearance of permanence to any town and we rejoice to see the good work commence and hope that others will follow as there is demand for them.

THE EXCURSION.

A Jolly Crowd and a Fine Trip.

The Academy excursion to the Capital of Oregon on last Saturday came off according to the program with the exception of the time given in the city which was limited, owing to the low stage of water in the upper Willamette which prevented the steamer making the time that was expected. At a very early hour in the morning people began to roll in at the steamboat landing from the town and surrounding country and when all were on board the number was about 160. At five minutes past six the signal for starting was given and the steamer "Orient" with her cargo of happy excursionists was soon steaming up the beautiful Willamette. Mr. Gilbert, the Purser, told the crowd to take possession of the boat and use anything there was on board that was wanted. The Mate ran up three flags that fluttered in the breeze and informed the people along the river that excursionists were on board. Everybody was in good humor and seemed bent on having a good time and started in early in the morning for that purpose. "Deacon" Austin with his high topped hat purchased for the occasion seemed the center of attraction for a time and a large number of the crowd had to try the hat before they could be satisfied. Several gallons of first class ice cream put up for the occasion by Chas. Moore, the ice cream man, was dished out along with other good things from a stand on the lower deck by the Edwards boys.

The water had fallen very rapidly since the boat had been chartered and only slow time could be made going up the river. When just below Salem the boat stuck on a bar and it seemed for a while like we might have to camp, but the choir gave a word of encouragement by singing the old familiar hymn, "Pull for the shore, sailor, Pull for the shore," and after a bucket of water that had been dipped up below had been thrown into the river we pulled off and were soon landed safely at the docks.

A large number of the party took the motor line and visited the Insane Asylum while others visited the Penitentiary, the State House and other places of interest. Several former Newberg people who now live in Salem including Dr. and Mrs. Minthorn met the company at the docks and were present in the evening to see the steamer off. At half past four the boat pulled out for home and the city of Salem was soon left in the distance. The day was all that could have been asked, just warm enough to be pleasant and as clear and bright as the most exacting could ask for.

On the way home after supper was over everybody gathered on deck and spent the evening pleasantly listening to singing, instrumental music, declamations, &c., all of which was attentively listened too by the officers of the steamer, who seemed to enjoy the performances as much as any on board. It is due to Captain Bell and the other officers to say that they did their best to make everything pleasant for the party and just before our landing was reached three rousing cheers were given for Captain Bell, who had made the round trip which was a very difficult one, safely and without an accident of any kind to mar the pleasure of the company. The Captain said that he had been on excursions where the crowd was slovenly and hard to please and cursing about everything until he had become tired of excursions and had dreaded this trip, but he had been agreeably surprised at our crowd. Said everybody was orderly and no one complaining and he wanted everybody on board to know that he appreciated such an excursion of people and he thought no man could spend a day with such a company without being benefited unless he was past redemption.

The boat landed at the dock just at dusk and the jolly crowd of well pleased excursionists stepped on shore voting the day pleasantly spent and all ready for a good nights rest.

A nice little sum was netted for the Academy and the school was advertised in a way that will benefit any institution of the kind. Below we give a list of the names of the party. If any one has been left out, it has been by mistake.

Ho, for the Fair!

Everybody listen, everybody get ready, everybody come, everybody bring a whole lot of everything nice.

Of course Newberg is going to have a fair and its going to be a rouser too. The apples will be red—the plums golden—the pears fine—the prunes big—the pumpkins immense—the potatoes whoppers—and the babies equal to the occasion—so roll them all into the wagon and come, and lets beat them all. The time is September 24-25 and 26 and don't you forget it.

Newberg Fair has the reputation of being a success and there is no reason why it shall not be much better this year than ever before. The stuff is in the country and all it wants is everybody—young and old, man, woman and child to take an interest and fix it up and bring it and we will have a display that will astonish ourselves and show the Tenderfoot what Old Yamhill can do.

We often hear remarks like these at our fair: "I have got a great deal better calf than that at home," "I've got a finer colt than this and it has'nt been kept in a sandbox either," "Our potatoes are bigger than I see here, but we just thought there would be finer ones here and did not bring any, I wish we had now," "I could'nt make better bread than that I'd quit," "I could have brought some butter that would have beat that but I thought it was too much trouble." Don't anybody talk that way this year, but bring what you have got and let the judges decide which is best. We can't all have the best and get the 1st. premium and if there was nothing bought except what took the 1st. premium in each department the exhibit would be very small. A little ribbon don't amount to much, but a good display and a general good time does and is a splendid advertisement for our country as well as instructive and beneficial to all by comparing with our neighbor who has something better than we have and learning how he raised or made the article.

The following superintendents of departments have been appointed. Horses, Dr. Young; Cattle, J. L. Hoskins; Sheep, Goats and Swine, I. K. Vantress; Farm and Garden, N. L. Wiley; Poultry, C. F. Butler; Fruit, Dr. A. Mills; Canned and Dried Fruit, Mollie Hoskins; Art and Design, L. Ella Hartley; Culinary, Emma Moore; Needle Work, Louisa Maris; Children's Dep't., Jennie Groff; Floral, Miss Maggie Inglis; Apairy, G. N. Hartley; Machinery, N. C. Christenson; Mechanical Dep., Wm. E. Davis.

There will be a meeting of the officers and superintendents of departments at Hobson hall next Monday evening, July 28th at 8 o'clock. All superintendents earnestly requested to be there as business of importance will be considered.

N. C. MARIS,
Sec'y.

Crop-Weather Bulletin No. 19 For week ending Saturday July 19th, 1890.

Weather.

In the western portion of the state the temperature was below the normal, in the central portion about normal in eastern portion above the normal. Temperatures of 90 or more occured in Umatilla, Baker, and Malheur counties. In western Oregon the temperature was below 83 and above 46.

Generally partly cloudy weather prevailed; no rain is reported to have fallen.

Crops.

The weather condition have been extremely favorable to growing crops and to harvesting operations. The hay crop has about all been housed and it has been more than was anticipated; both quantity and quality are about an average. Late wheat is filling well, the meshes are quite large, the berry large and plump. The spring wheat will make much better crop than was expected. Early wheat harvest is in full blast and the yield is fully an average or more so. The entire wheat crop of Oregon this year bids fair to be larger than ever before. Thousands of acres in Umatilla and Union counties will average from 32 to 40 bushels per acre. The average number of bushels of wheat per acre will generally be secured, this together with the increased acreage will produce the increased yield. Barley rye and oats are promising good yields. The weather has been cool for corn though in Wasco county it is doing very well. In Benton county some varieties of early peaches are ripe. In Jackson county the 2nd crop of alfalfa is being cut and the yield is unusally heavy. About Hardman, Morrow county, grass-hoppers are doing considerable damage. Sweet corn, peaches and melons are now being shipped from The Dalles.

The plum and prune crop is large. The codlin moth is doing damage, especially in the Willamette valley, spraying the trees is proving beneficial.

From every section of the state come reports of good crop.
